JONES TO FACE HOMANS TODAY IN GOLF FINAL

Routs Sweetser, 9 Up and 8, to Advance to Last Round.

PRINCETON ALUMNUS ELIMINATES SEAVER

Stages Fighting Finish to Win by One Up From Coast Boy.

OVERCOMES 5-HOLE LEAD IN AFTERNOON

Atlantan Gains Revenge on 1922 Conqueror by Par-Shattering Play.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

Merion Cricket Club, Ardmore, Pa., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Twenty-two-year-old Eugene Vanderpool Homans, the fighting son of a father who fought many an old gridiron war for Princeton, staged one of the most sensational comebacks of golf tournament history today to win and earn the distinction of playing the great Bobby Jones tomorrow for the amateur championship of the United States.

Five down after the first eighteen holes, 3 down at the twenty-seventh, and still 2 down with 4 to go, Homans, with a display of sheer grit belied by his frail, studious appearance, won 3 of the last 4 holes to beat 19-year-old Charley Seaver, of Los Angeles, 1 up, on the thirty-sixth and last green.

Homans' dramatic victory in the semifinals followed the triumphant onward sweep of Jones, who crushed an old rival, Jess W. Sweetser, of New York, by the lopsided margin of 9 up and 8 to go, in the Georgian's most convincing victory of the tournament.

Jones Seeks Clean Sweep.

As a result of two matches that sparkled with great golf and thrilled galleries of upward of 5,000 spectators, Homans is the only barrier between Jones and a fourth national championship triumph for the year—a clean sweep that would leave "King Bobby" with no more worlds to conquer and a record that modern generations may never see equaled.

If there was any one tonight who did not anticipate that Jones would complete his marvelous march of conquest, perhaps including Homans himself, he could not be located, for the Georgian uncorked a brand of golf today that was as nearly unbeatable as anything can be in this sport.

Jones, despite a bad streak of golf midway in his morning round, had Old Man Par at his mercy as well as the blonde, good-natured but also outclassed Sweetser, nowhere near the golfer who overwhelmed Jones eight years ago by 8 and 7 at Brookline. The great Georgian was up 4 on Sweetser at the end of the morning round and he shot dazzling golf in the afternoon to end the match on the twenty-eighth green.

Almost Holes 90-Yard Pitch.

There, as a climax, he almost holed out his pitch from 90 yards, the ball stopping 10 inches from the cup for the third Jones birdie in four straight holes.

Brilliant as was the golf Homans displayed in fighting uphill to overcome Seaver—and the Jersey youth went the last eighteen holes in even par 70—nevertheless he would have been six down to Jones at the twenty-eighth on the basis of their two performances today.

The finalists have met once before, in the second round at Minikahda in 1927, when Jones was the victor over Homans by the count of 3 and 2.

Despite his 22 years, Homans has had plenty of golf tournament experience and he gets the fighting courage he manifested today from Shepard Homans, famous as a fullback with the Princeton football teams from 1889 to 1892.

Qualifies Five Times.

The younger Homans has outstripped his father at golf, however. This is his fifth amateur championship and the fourth in which he has qualified, but never before had he advanced beyond the second round. He lost to Jesse Guilford in 1926, to Fay Coleman last year at Pebble Beach in the first round after tying Jones for the medal with a score of 145. He has held the Metropolitan Junior as well as Senior Amateur titles and won the New Jersey crown five straight years.

Homans was the favorite over Seaver today, on the strength of his more seasoned tournament record, but his chances of winning did not seem worth a plugged nickel when he skidded through the morning round to become five down to his stocky, sandy-haired rival from California.

The first break of the match in Homans' favor came at the twenty-

Says: The Greek people are celebrating the completion of a century of independence. One hundred years ago they were relieved of Asiatic domination and enabled to resume their rightful place as a European nation. The interest of the United States in their struggle for freedom was manifested by a great speech in the House of Representatives by Daniel Webster.

The whole of western civilization will join in the spirit of this celebration because of the vast influence of Ancient Greece upon our modern life. From that source we drew our conception of liberty. In the arts the Greeks have never been surpassed. They remain supreme in architecture, sculpture and literature. After all the centuries, their names lead in poetry, oratory and philosophy. Even the science of today exists because their philosophers taught men how to use their minds.

Down through the ages liberal culture has had for its foundation a study of Greek thought. This little nation, nurtured by the mountains and the sea, revealed the proper relation of man to man. Because of the intellectual service they have rendered, the world will rejoice in the revival and prosperity of the Greeks.

CHINA INSURGENTS ROUTED IN BATTLE

End of Civil War Promised in Fortnight by Victory of Nationalists.

U. S. BOATS IN ACTION

Nanking, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Government dispatches tonight said Nationalist troops had smashingly defeated northern alliance rebels on a wide front in Honan Province, hurling them into their base at Chengchow. End of the civil war, which with banditry and famine has devastated China since May, was promised within a fortnight.

Headed by their president and generalissimo, Chiang Kai-Shek, the Nationalists plunged westward along the railroad from Kaifeng, captured Wednesday. The demoralized insurgents gave way rapidly, but fought a sharp engagement near Chengchow before taking refuge behind the city's high walls.

The Nationalists hammered at the gates, while their airplanes dropped bombs with intent to drive the rebels across the Yellow River, 10 miles northward.

Feng Yu-Hsiang, rebel leader, defeated and disheartened by armed intervention of Chang Hsueh-Liang, Manchurian dictator, was said to be planning retreat to mountains of Shansi Province.

Here, it was believed, he would be safe from pursuit and able during the winter to reinforce his weary army for another descent next spring upon the government.

But in North China, controlling nearly all territory beyond the Yellow River, was Chang Hsueh-Liang, whose Manchurians in a surprise descent from Mukden a few days ago ousted the Northern war lord's forces from Peiping and took possession of the ancient capital.

The object of the 30-year-old governor of Manchuria in intervening in the struggle between Northern rebels and National government was unknown.

Whether, like his father, Chang Tso-Lin, he hoped to extend his Manchurian rule southward over China was suspected but not proved.

BARGE SINKS; SEVEN BELIEVED DROWNED

Six of Lake Michigan Boat Crew Rescued; Waves Pound Wreck.

TWO WOMEN ARE SAVED

Muskegon, Mich., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Seven persons were believed drowned and six were saved as the barge Salvor went down in a gale on Lake Michigan off Muskegon this afternoon. Those believed drowned were six members of the crew and a nine-year-old son of a woman cook.

Tonight, two bodies had been washed ashore and six members of the crew were in a hospital here in exhausted condition. Just before darkness fell, two others could be seen lashed to a derrick on the barge. The gale was increasing in intensity and had foiled all efforts to get a line to the derrick. Waves were dashing over the wreck and little hope was held for recovery alive of the two men. Among those saved were two women.

The known dead: Lyman Nadeau, member of the crew, and Lornie Olmstead, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Ida Olmstead who was brought to a hospital here.

The missing: Clinton Lane, Harry Smith, Clarence Barnett, all of Muskegon; Clement Shurage, and Tony Winserowski, of Detour, Mich.

Those in the hospital here are Mrs. Olmstead and Alice La Plaunt, sisters, of Sault Ste. Marie; Lloyd O'Connor, Detour, who was found in a field with a broken leg; George Secord, Muskegon; Onnie La Plaunt, Sault Ste. Marie, and Edward Winserowski, of Detour, foreman of the barge crew.

The Salvor, in tow fo the tug Fitzgerald, was en route from Detour to this port with a cargo of stone. The two vessels were less than 2 miles off shore when the barge broke loose. The tug, after a hard battle, reached the harbor entrance and reported the barge's plight.

The heavy seas made it impossible for the Coast Guard to reach the barge but guardsmen put out for a point nroth of the harbor entrance in the belief the barge would drift ashore there. It had been blown inland to within a quarter mile of shore and 2 miles north of the harbor entrance when it sank. Only the derrick to which the two members of the crew were lashed remained above the surface.

The passenger ship Missouri arrived at Muskegon tonight several

CHICAGO BOARD HALTS FOREIGN SHORT SELLING

Business Conduct Group Told to End Bear Raids on Grain Mart.

UNDULY LARGE SALES TO BE HELD EVIDENCE

Futures in Wheat Remain With Little Appeal to Buyers.

DECLINE DURING DAY 2 CENTS PER BUSHEL

Winnipeg Exchange Offers Reward for Sender of Crash Message.

Chicago, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The board of trade determined today to bar foreign governments from selling grain futures on its exchange.

Aroused by the short selling of wheat on the Chicago market by Soviet Russia, directors of the board ordered its business conduct committee to put an end to bear raids and price manipulations. The committee was advised that unduly large short sales might be regarded as prima facie evidence of manipulation as distinguished from ordinary hedging sales.

Action of the board was announced in a telegram to Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, dispatched after the close of a dull market day in which wheat futures, still lacking any element of appeal to buyers, slid down to bottom prices unfamiliar in 24 years.

Small Deals Cause Fluctuations.

The day's loss was from 2 to 2¾ cents a bushel. December wheat reached 80¼ cents and recovered only to 80⅝ to 80⅝. So quiet was the pit that the smallest transaction caused price fluctuations, and buyers displayed meager interest in large Canadian export sales and drought reports from the Eastern hemisphere. The last-minute decline coincided with renewal of reports of Russian offerings at Liverpool.

Without summoning witnesses, the board of trade business conduct committee resumed its inquiry this afternoon into the Soviet Russian sales. It had the new mandate of the board directorate to employ vigorous measures to prevent bear raids, and it was expected the committee would formulate some plan to detect operations of foreign governments on the domestic market and perhaps draft a rule forbidding its members to handle such transactions.

In his message to Secretary Hyde, President John A. Bunnell, of the Board of Trade said:

"Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade, at a meeting held this morning expressing the desire to cooperate with the Government to the fullest extent in protecting the interests of the people of our country and in furthering maintenance of the principles of our Government unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Text of Resolution.

"'The board has considered the situation brought to their attention by the Secretary of Agriculture respecting the short selling of wheat on the Chicago Board of Trade by the Russian Soviet government. The board wishes to show every evidence of cooperation in the protection of the American farmer in the free grain markets. It is the conclusion of the board that the selling of futures upon our exchanges by any foreign government is a new development of commerce of seriously objectionable character and it must be brought to an end.

"'The board through its business conduct committee has always discountenanced bear raids and manipulation of prices and it again instructs that committee to take particularly vigorous measures necessary to prevent such activities. In formulating their judgment as to such

DRYS TO NAME THIRD PARTY IN EMPIRE STATE

New York Leaders Find They Can Not Back G. O. P. Choice.

TUTTLE AND REPEAL ISSUE CAUSE BREAK

Seven Organizations Say They Have Plenty of Funds.

FORMER PROSECUTOR HAS WET PLATFORM

National Republican Chiefs Silent at News From Albany on Rum.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Dry leaders decided here tonight to put a third party into the state campaign this fall. There was no decision as to the gubernatorial nominee.

The decision was announced in a statement which said that the action of the Republican convention in nominating an opponent of prohibition for governor and in adopting a plank asking the dry law's repeal had "made it impossible for the dry forces to support the ticket."

A series of conferences within the next few days is expected to decide on the nominee.

Seven Groups Represented.

Seven organizations were represented at the dry conference—the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the Antisaloon League, the New York State Civic League, the Prohibition Educational Committee, the Prohibition State Committee, the Women's Committee on Law Enforcement, and The Ntaional Temperance Society.

Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin, State President of the W. C. T. U., said that the drys were assured of plenty of money to finance their campaign.

Charles H. Tuttle, who came out of political obscurity three years ago and won wide attention in the Federal district attorneyship of New York City by his prosecution of Tammany office holders for violations of Federal laws, was nominated today by the Republican party for governor of New York.

Has Repeal Platform.

He was chosen on a platform to his exact liking, the principal plank of which, phrased in his own language, called for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and substitution of an amendment outlawing the saloon and extending Federal cooperation to dry States in enforcement of State prohibition laws.

He was nominated by acclamation, after the most tumultuous demonstration a Republican convention in New York has witnessed in ten years, and he accepted the call in an address in which he defined the issue thus: "Are we to have a governor who is bigger than Tammany Hall?"

Once the prohibition issue was hurdled, the convention moved quickly to a harmonious flood tide of enthusiasm for Mr. Tuttle's nomination. Fears that the party would come to a break on prohibition faded this morning when the delegates ratified the repeal plank by a vote of 733 to 258. Dry forces did not debate the issue from the floor, but were satisfied to go on record in a roll call as opposing the repealer.

Nomination Made Unanimous.

When Mr. Tuttle's name was offered to the convention Attorney General Hamilton Ward, only other candidate for the nomination, withdrew his name and asked his Erie County delegation to support Mr. Tuttle.

Referring, without naming him, to the refusal of John F. Curry, chieftain of Tammany Hall, to waive immunity and testify before a special grand jury investigating charges of judgeship purchase in New York City, Mr. Tuttle in his address of acceptance said:

"Clean government asks no immunity. The issue of this campaign has been made by Tammany Hall and

LEAGUE COMMITTEE REJECTS 1931 DATE FOR DISARM PARLEY

Bruening May Seize Reins to Block Hitler

Berlin Chancellor Seen Ready to Act Today If Plea Fails.

Berlin, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Chancellor Bruening carried forward vigorously today a program for Germany's economic and political salvation with which the cabinet has been wrestling almost continously for the last two days.

Undeterred by the revolutionary utterences of the Facist Adolf Hitler and their effect on the country, neither President Von Hindenburg nor his chancellor could be prevailed on today to break their silence regarding the potentialities of the Hitler program.

In Wilhelmstrasse circles it was deemed their silence meant they felt it inopportune to make a statement which might be considered as an attempt to influence a pending decision of the attorney-general whether to indict the Facist generalissamo for treason. Others said any form of government utterance would give Hitler's fiery oratory before the Leipzig court an importance it did not deserve.

If Bruening strikes at Hitler at all the blow may fall tomorrow when the chancellor intends to step before the people with a proclamation embodying the results of the cabinet's persistent efforts of the past 48 hours and asking the nation's support thereof.

Should Parliament refuse to indorse the government program, per-

Desire for Conference as Soon as Possible Is Expressed.

ACTION IS APPROVED BY ONE-VOTE MARGIN

Scathing Attack on Delay Launched by Count Von Bernstorff.

ITALY AND GERMANY SEEK FIXED DATES

Japanese Delegate Roundly Scored for Distributing Secret Memorandum.

Geneva, Sept. 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The disarmament committee of the assembly of the League of Nations declined today specifically to instruct the league council to call a general disarmament conference for 1931, at the same time cautiously expressing the desire that the long-heralded parley to reduce the land, sea and air forces of the world be held "as soon as possible."

Its action, leaving the date of the conference in abeyance and authorized by a one-vote margin, drew a scathing attack from Count Johan Von Bernstorff, German Ambassador to Washington in 1917 and now his country's spokesman on the disarmament committee. Bernstorff declared that the phrase "as soon as possible" is meaningless and has been vainly employed for four years. He sought to have it changed to read "as soon as possible in 1931," but his effort was unsuccessful.

The resolution, as finally adopted, specified no dates either for completion of the labors of the preparatory disarmament commission, which meets November 3, or for convening of the general conference. The committee's general report to the assembly, it is understood, will suggest that the preparatory commission wind up its work this year and the convening of the world conference in November, 1932.

Italy Votes With Germany.

For the first time on record in disarmament discussions Italy voted with Germany today when Bernstorff's resolution, seeking the fixing of specific dates, was submitted. Austria, Hungary, Sweden, China and Holland were among 11 countries supporting the Germans.

England, France, Japan, Belgium, Poland, Jugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria and a scattering of South American countries were among the assembly members whose votes defeated Bernstorff's motion.

Norway, Denmark and Switzerland were among the principal countries abstaining from voting.

During the debate today France publicly notified Italy and the League that she is fully prepared to continue the Franco-Italian naval negotiations in a spirit of conciliation. In giving the Quai d'Orsay's answer to the recent Italian announcement that agreement with France is at present impossible, Marcel Heraud, under secretary of state in the Tardieu government, agreed with the Germans that a general disarmament conference in 1931 would be desirable, but he also agreed with British spokesmen that undue haste should be avoided. He added that Franco-Italian negotiations should not be allowed to obstruct in any way the conclusion of the preparatory commission's work.

Tells of French Desires.

"If these negotiations (between France and Italy) should be delayed by any technical difficulties," Heraud said, "France is prepared to continue them in a spirit of conciliation and mutual confidence and is convinced that in a spirit of accommodation and mutual cooperation it will be possible to arrive at the desired results, and in that way we shall have achieved substantial progress in the

METHODISTS CITE PROHIBITION CRISIS

Conference Here Also Goes on Record Opposed to Preaching Politics.

CANNON-ACCUSER TALKS

Two significant dictums, one asserting that prohibition enforcement has reached a crisis, due in part to a waning dry strength in Congress, and another registering unequivocal opposition to the "preaching of politics" by any faith, were voiced by the Baltimore Conference of the Southern Methodist Church yesterday in the second day's session of its annual convention here.

Approximately 500 ministers, laymen and delegates from all parts of the conference, embracing the District, Virginia, Maryland, a part of West Virginia and several churches in Pennsylvania, issued these expressions in unanimously adopting a report of its temperance and social service committee.

"We are facing a critical situation regarding the enforcement of the prohibition laws," declared this body of the Methodist Episcopal Church South.

"Political expediency has prompted many office seekers to become turncoats in order to get elected. The strength of the dry vote has been much weakened in Congress by recent elections, and it looks as if there would be further weakening in this respect unless we can awaken interest in this great moral issue.

"We are convinced that no church should attempt to dominate a Government nor should her ministry

ST. LOUIS CLINCHES THIRD LEAGUE FLAG

Defeat Pirates, 10 to 5, to Gain Right to Meet Macks in Series.

STAGE SEVEN-RUN RALLY

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—It's the Cardinals versus the Athletics in the world series.

Gabby Street's Redbirds today qualified to uphold the honor of the National League against the Philadelphia Athletics, American League champions, in this year's baseball classic by slugging out a 10-5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates and clinching the 1930 league pennant, the St. Louis Club's third in the last five seasons.

Although Chicago defeated Cincinnati today, the Cubs are three full games behind St. Louis and, with only two more games to play, the Cardinals could lose both and still win the flag.

Despite chilly weather that smacked of football days, some 10,000 howling fans went wild as the Redbirds climaxed their sensational drive that lifted them from a poor fourth to first place in the closing weeks of the season.

To Jesse Haines, dean of the Cardinal hurling staff and a veteran of the Redbirds' two other world series campaigns, fell the honor of clinching this year's pennant. Haines outpitched Ervin Brame, of the Pirates, to chalk up the Cardinals' twenty-first victory in their last 24 games. Since August 1, the Cardinals have won 43 of 55 games, and have boosted their percentage mark more than 100 points.

Hunt for Spy Is Launched Among Chicago Policemen

Commissioner Alcock, Incensed At Finding Names of Eight Capone Gangsters Erased From Arrest List, Says He Will Find Leak.

Chicago, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Acting Commissioner John H. Alcock deviated temporarily today from his gangster offensive to ferret out spies in the Police Detective Bureau.

The interdepartment investigation was opened when it was revealed that the names of eight "Scarface Al" Capone gangsters had been deleted from an arrest memorandum in the interim between the theft of an original copy from the chief of detective's office and the preparation of the list.

"The department is infested with traitors who tip off the underworld," Commissioner Alcock said.

"This investigation will be the most thorough ever made in a police department. I'll find that leak. The Detective Bureau has been run in such a manner that it will take some time to weed out the racketeers and informers connected with it," Alcock said.

Tangible evidence of leaks was turned up last night by Federal agents when they raided the Carleon Hotel. Hidden in the room of Tony Tagenti, Capone bondsman, they found a secret police memorandum, listing 31 police characters slated for arrest.

Vagrancy warrants for each of those named in the original list were obtained before the theft, Chief of Detectives John Norton said he learned today, so the disappearance in no way obtained immunity from arrest for those who were "edited out" by an unseen hand.

Warrants charging vagrancy were reported issued today against twenty-five more hoodlums by Judge John H. Lyne.

Sam Gusik, arrested by federal officers yesterday with his brother, Harry, and charged with evasion of income tax, was held today in bonds of $25,000. Harry was released by the Federal Government and taken into

The Margin of Profit

The pioneer family ate the food raised on their own farm; used furniture from lumber cut on the farm, and they were little concerned with markets or market prices, since they needed to buy or sell but little . . . Today few people produce any of the things they need for their own use and the market and market prices become of paramount importance. The net profit from a wage or salary is dependent upon commodity prices, and it is therefore of greatest advantage to buy now—when market prices are at an exceptionally low price.

Saloonkeeper, Cemetery Overseer Linked in Census

Bar Supervisors Eliminated From Name Classifications and Lumped Under Subhead "Domestic and Personal Service" With Umbrella Mender.

(Associated Press.)

Though some still say they belong to it, the occupation saloonkeeper has slipped out of the named classifications in 1930 census reports.

They will be lumped under the subhead "other occupations" in "domestic and personal service," where are tallied the umbrella mender, the scissors grinder, the cemetery keeper, the disinfector, exterminator and fumigator.

Though taken after wartime prohibition went into effect, the 1920 census still listed as saloonkeepers 17,312 men and 523 women. Census officials explained that the designation went to proprietors of near-beer parlors, still serving near-beer with the buffet lunch over the same old bar of the saloon days. This, like other cafes, counted as "personal service."

But the 1930 bootlegger, a considerable scattering of whom have been Frank enough to state their business to the census taker, gets no such homey classification. He is regarded as being in a strictly barter business, and is listed with "other occupations" at the trailing end of "trade."

Census Bureau officials said that there were not enough old-style saloonkeepers left to justify a classification even if that designation remained a good description of their trade now that the liquors behind their buffet bars no longer contain alcohol. In 1910, the last census of the open saloon, there were 66,724 men and 1,491 women reported as saloonkeepers.

The bootleggers, it was explained, were not numerous enough to warrant a new classification since most of those who ply that trade reported to the census taker some other occupation in which he was ostensibly engaged. Such a classification was also regarded as valueless since it would not reflect the true situation of that occupation.

The Census Bureau gathers its information "for statistical purposes only"—hence the bravery of the few bootleggers who reported themselves as such.

path upon which we have entered voluntarily."

The French spokesman's declaration of his country's belief that Franco-Italian differences can be surmounted was in marked contrast to the attitude the Italians have adopted ever since the German elections.

Italy's reply today—if the declaration of Gen. Alberto de Marinis de Stendardo di Recigliano could be construed as such—was markedly cautious.

"Italy is ready to accept a level of naval and military and air armaments as low as possible," he said, "provided the same principles are applied to everyone and that the other powers act in the same manner. Any reduction of armaments, if it is to effect the desired object, must bring about the disappearance of all serious discrepancies which exist at the present moment and which are the cause of constant mistrust and provocation to a race in armaments."

Held Restatement of Demand

This declaration was regarded by the Italian spokesman's listeners as a restatement of the Italian demand, reiterated so many times at the London Naval Conference, for parity with any other continental power and of Italian willingness to disarm provided reduction of forces is general.

The judicial committee of the assembly today passed on to a subcommittee of fourteen members the task of formulating amendments to the league covenant designed to bring it into closer harmony with the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Having jockeyed Japan into the embarrassing position of being the only country openly opposing incorporation of the Kellogg pact into the covenant the assembly left it to this subcommittee to determine whether the proposed amendments should be placed before the present assembly at a later session or resubmitted to another committee of experts. This was characterized by Holger Andersen, Danish spokesman, as a backward step on the road to disarmament.

Japanese Delegate Flayed

Japan's foremost expert on league questions, Nobumi Ito, after frankly expressing doubts as to the value of the Kellogg pact as a preventative of war, had indiscreetly placed his viewpoint in a private memorandum circulated among certain delegations.

For his rashness he was today pilloried by Philip Noel Baker, British delegate, who, disclosing the existence of the memorandum, declared:

"The only voice raised against translating into the basic constitution of the league the obligation to renounce war as an instrument of national policy is Japan's. If the committee were to go into detail with regard to the reasons for which the Japanese delegation holds this view, I doubt whether they would have the support of a single member."

Referring to Ito's memorandum, Baker described its author as "doubting profoundly whether the pact of Paris has brought any substantive change whatever into the international law of the world." He declared, further, that none agreed with the Japanese thesis that "there is no ground upon which you can refuse the right of a state to go to war to seek justice for itself."

Dantes Bellegarde, of Haiti, while not opposing steps to harmonize the Kellogg pact and the covenant, informed the assembly that six Latin-American countries rejected the Kellogg pact because of the Monroe Doctrine reservations. The approval of five of these countries, which are members of the league, would be contingent upon acceptance of the theory that all reservations to the Kellogg pact be considered valueless and nonexitsent.

CAR RIDERS DECLINE UNDER HIGHER FARES

Decrease Suffered by Both Lines, but One Has Revenue Increase.

PRESENT LEVY UPHELD

The higher car fares obtained by the street car companies, despite the protests of car riders and the Public Utilities Commission, has cost the companies a material loss in the number of pay passengers carried in August as compared with August of last year, according to figures made public by the companies yesterday.

The Capital Traction Company suffered a loss of 641,835 pay passengers last month as compared with the number carried in the same month last year, while the Washington Railway and Electric Company has suffered an average daily loss of 21,164 in the number of pay passengers carried between July 23, the day the higher fare order of Justice Jennings Bailey of the District Supreme Court, became effective, and September 19, a period of 59 days.

But the company had been losing passengers before the higher fare was approved, the average daily loss for four months and 22 days prior to July 23, being 15,398. A decline in the number of passengers riding the street cars had been anticipated by the officers of the car companies, but they contended that they would get more money out of a fewer passengers under the higher fares than they would out of the number who would ride if the fare were not increased.

Exact Effect Not Determined.

Although the exact effect of the higher fare can not be definitely ascertained on the basis of figures for such a short period, a statement made public by the Washington Railway & Electric Company yesterday showed that in the month of August the company suffered a loss of $19,768.11 of which $11,078.59 represented a loss in passenger revenues which might be directly attributable to the higher fares, although weather conditions and other factors may have entered in the equation to a minor extent.

The company's statement attributed half of this loss to the fact that there was one more Sunday in August, 1929, than in the last month. Company officers sought to show how much better off their company was despite this loss under the higher fare than it would have been if the old fare had continued in effect by declaring that their loss under the old fare would have been approximately $40,000. But this estimate of probable loss does not take into consideration the drop in passengers because of the higher fares.

The Capital Traction Company also reported a loss in passengers, but an increase in revenue. This increase amounted to $412.25 for August as compared with the same month last year.

Operating Expense Higher.

The Traction Company explained that its operating expenses had increased in August by $11,702.77. "Almost the entire amount" went for expenditures for maintenance of ways and structures and equipment, the Company said and "notwithstanding the falling off in revenues during the present year, it has not been the policy of the company to curtail its expenditures for maintenance."

The Traction Company, of course, has a lucrative source of revenue in the Potomac Electric Power Company, dividends of which were entered on the railway books in August to the amount of $360,000, which was, incidentally, $30,000 more, than the electric company paid its street car company owner in August last year.

Curtis to Speak In Fall Campaign

Vice President Will Open Tour in Delaware on October 2.

(Associated Press.)

Vice President Curtis, veteran Republican warrior, is going to take the stump in the congressional campaigns.

He is responding to the party call, which brought him into action in one of the most vigorous campaigns of history two years ago when he was nominated as Vice President after he had fought it out against Herbert Hoover for the Republican presidential nomination.

Mr. Curtis will open his speaking tour at Wilmington, Del., on October 2. He will return to Washington for several days and then go to Clarksburg, W. Va., on October 7, stopping at Springfield, Ohio, the following day to dedicate a monument to John Rogers Clark, explorer of the Northwest Territory.

Mr. Curtis said that he was prepared to discuss the tariff, farm relief and "hard times," and he has a bundle of material on his desk to aid in working over the speeches.

Dry Law to Face Test in High Court

Buffalo Lawyer Asks for Constitutionality Ruling.

(Associated Press.)

Constitutionality of the national prohibition law was again assailed in the Supreme Court in a case filed yesterday by A. Stanley Copeland, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Appearing as his own counsel, Mr. Copeland pointed out that in 1926 he failed in his effort to have the highest court pass on the controversy. The present case was brought through the courts of New York State in the hope of obtaining a final ruling. The former case resulted when he invited an audience in front of the courthouse in Buffalo to join him in drinking wine which he offered.

Asserting property rights, liberty and the sovereign power of a citizen, he brought suit in the present case against James W. Higgins, police commissioner at Buffalo, seeking to restrain him from enforcing the Volstead act.

Cigarette Held Cause Of Clothing Store Fire

A carelessly tossed cigarette was declared to have been the cause of the fire which did approximately $12,000 damage to the Bond Clothing Co.'s store at 1335 F street Thursday night by Inspector M. W. Thayer, of the Fire Department.

The fire, which started just as the F street theaters were discharging their patrons after the last performance, was thought to have started in a rack of suits near the back of the store. The fire was quickly extinguished.

Hoover Is Told Soviet Will Buy Rail Material

(Associated Press.)

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, who has just returned from a survey of Russian railway problems, told President Hoover yesterday extensive development was likely soon and much of the equipment would be purchased in this country.

The survey was at the request of the Russian government. Budd submitted to the commissariat of ways of communication recommendations for expansion along American lines. Traffic requirements, the climate and the topography were found by him to be so similar that the same types of construction would be most feasible. The Russian railways now are operating about 50,000 miles of line, he said, and this is to be increased steadily with operations beginning soon.

RED INVESTIGATORS HEAR UNION EDITORR

Coal Industry Ought to Be Stabilized as Check to Communism, Claim.

FEDERAL AI DSUGGESTED

New York, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal, testified today that in his opinion the only way to prevent the spread of Communism among coal miners is for Congress to enact legislation regulating and stabilizing the coal industry, which he described as being in the throes of disruption, disorganization and disaster.

Mr. Searles was the first important witness before the congressional committee investigating Communism in the United States when it resumed its hearings here today.

Representative John E. Nelson, of Maine, presided in the absence of Representative Hamilton Fish, jr., of New York.

"There is no other industry, Mr. Searles said in a long statement he read to the committee, "in which conditions make the workers more susceptible to propaganda of this character than the coal indusrry.

"It is a straight industry. It is in the throes of disruption, disorganization and disaster Cutthroat business policies have practically ruined the coal business. The coal industry can not or will not pull itself out of this chaotic condition.

"Bankruptcy and ruin stare coal operators in the face, while mine workers suffer from widespread unemployment. When men are idle; when their wives and children are at home, hungry and half clad; when such conditions exist, it is not strange that such men become fertile soil for the reception of Communism or anything else."

New Heat Record For Sept. 26 Is Set

Mercury Reaches 95.5, With "Fair and Cooler" Seen for Today.

Another high temperature record was established here yesterday when the mercury climbed to 95.5 degrees at 3:15 p. m., the highest mark recorded for September 26 since 1881. At the same time the Pennsylvania avenue kiosk registered 101, and suffering was intensified by unusually high humidity.

The heat wave that descended on the Capital 13 days ago has been the longest recorded in any September since the Weather Bureau opened 60 years ago.

The Weather Bureau stated that Washington will have "fair and cooler" today, gradually cooling until tonight and tomorrow, when it is expected that most of the heat wave will have passed.

PANTAGES GRANTED NEW ASSAULT TRIAL

Appellate Court Cites Two Causes for Rehearing on Girl's Charge.

FIND PREJUDICE ERROR

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The Appellate Court granted the appeal of Alexander Pantages, theatrical magnate, from his conviction and prison sentence for assaulting Eunice Pringle, 17-year-old dancer, today, ordering a new trial. Pantages, who was sentenced to one to 50 years in prison, has been at liberty under $100,000 bail.

The Appellate Court's decision was made upon the elderly theater magnate's appeal from the Superior Court's refusal to grant a new trial. The higher court reversed the lower court's findings.

The first reason assigned for ordering a new trial was the Appellate Court's findings of prejudicial error on the part of District Attorney Buron Fitts and his deputy, Robert P. Stewart. A second cause was set forth as error by the trial court in refusing to allow defense counsel to examine a prosecution witness regarding whether a criminal charge had been brought against the witness in Texas.

"On each of several occasions following objections by counsel for the defendant of statements contained in arguments presented by the district attorney or his chief deputy," the decision said in part, "the judge of the trial court not only failed to rebuke the district attorney or his chief deputy, but indicated his approval of the remarks in question."

The court characterized the objected statements as ones "which injuriously reflected upon or criticized counsel for the defendant for their failure to produce evidence in substantiation of designated parts of their opening statements to the jury."

Miss Pringle accused pantages of criminal assault the afternoon of August 9 in the Pantages' theater building.

Several persons told police they saw Miss Pringle, her clothing torn, struggling to pull herself out of the door to Pantages' office, with Pantages, half crouched, holding her.

The girl said she had gone to Pantages' office at his request to arrange booking of a dance act.

MISSING AIRPLANE STILL NOT FOUND

WIDE SEARCH IS FUTILE

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Whereabouts of William McNulty, Columbus salt manufacturer, and Willard Parker, Cleveland pilot, and the cabin monoplane in which they left Cleveland Airport nearly three days ago remained a mystery tonight.

Nothing has been seen or heard of them since they took off at 1:30 a. m. Wednesday ostensibly for Buffalo, N. Y., and thte consensus among aviators is that they were forced down in Lake Erie or the "Hell Stretch," fliers' term for the Pennsylvania mountains.

Four airplanes, numerous automobiles and foot searchers joined in the hunt for McNulty and Parker and the Curtiss Robin monoplane today and reported finding no trace of them.

Searchers afoot and in the air rushed late today to a heavily wooded section near Northfield, within 20 miles of Cleveland, upon receiving a report that persons nearby had heard a crash at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday, five hours after the fliers departed. A thorough search yielded not a trace of the lost plane or men, airport officials said.

10,000 ARE THRILLED BY ARMY'S CARNIVAL

Maryland Day at War College Exhibit Draws Many Visitors.

DISTRICT DAY IS TODAY

More than 10,000 persons thrilled yesterday to widely contrasted periods of warfare featuring the U. S. Army at the Army carnival being held at the Army War College. Bated breath greeted airplane attacks on infantry and Indian attacks on ox trains, with always the traditional gallantry of the Army in the foremost.

Today will be District Day at the military exposition and carnival and a number of prominent Washington officials are expected to attend. Yesterday was Maryland Day and Maryland motorists were everywhere in evidence on the nearby streets.

In addition to the strikingly interesting pageantry on the big parade ground, exhibits of Army activities in the large tents erected next to the show grounds drew large crowds before and after the performance. One of the most interesting of these was the Quartermaster Corps exhibit, which showed all of the diverse activities of that heartstring of a successful army.

SEVEN BELIEVED DEAD IN LOSS OF BARGE

hours overdue from Milwaukee, after battling heavy seas. Fear had been expressed for its safety because of the strong gale which has been raging and because nothing had been heard from it.

Last of Schooners Gone.

Milwaukee, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The schooner Our Son last of a type that once ruled the Great Lakes, was abandoned to a pounding storm this afternoon off Sheboygan, Wis., and left to sink or drift ashore.

The seven members of her crew were taken aboard the freighter William Nelson, which ploughed down Lake Michigan tonight. In 1875 the Our Son was built, one of many similar ships carrying freight from the Northern waters to manufacturing centers in the East. She came through many storms, but today's blow, heralding the fall season, was too much for the old two-master.

When Capt. Nelson gave the order "Abandon Ship," he announced the end of schooner days on the Great Lakes. There are no more like the Our Son in service.

Two Rivers, Wis., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Fear was felt tonight for the safety of six Coast Guardsmen, who left here in a 40-foot motor boat at 2 p. m. to cross Lake Michigan during a severe storm for Point Big Sable, Mich. They were unreported at 6:30 p. m.

Cold Wave Widespread.

Chicago, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Lake gales, snow flurries, heavy rains and cold winds buffeted the Middle West today. Iowa was recovering from a heavy gale.

Snow fell in Stevens Point, Wis., killing frosts swept over North Dakota with a low temperature of 22 above reported. The thermometer dropped to below freezing in parts of Minnesota.

Communication lines were down in many sections and hail storms were widespread. Nebraska had its first snow slush of the year to sweep away today.

A 53-mile-an-hour offshore gale tingled Chicago and overcoats appeared within the hour.

Defiance of Investigation by Tammany Men Is Seen.

New York, Sept. 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—As nine more Tammany district leaders, following the example of their chief, John F. Curry, refused to waive immunity and testify before the extraordinary grand jury today, it became increasingly apparent that the organization has decided to defy the curent investigations of judiciary scandals.

At the same time evidence of the effect these investigations have produced was afforded in an announcement by Mayor Walker that from now on all magistrates must give their word of honor before being sworn in that they have neither promised nor paid money for their appointment.

The mayor put this startling innovation into practice today when he swore in Bernard Moglievsky, former Bronx assistant district attorney, for a 30-day term to take the place of Magistrate Rosenbluth, who is ill. According to newspaper clippings, Moglievsky was once the law partner of former Magistrate Albert H. Vitale, who was removed from office under charges by the appellate division.

SMITH WITNESSES HIDDEN, IS CHARGE

Two Important Testifiers in Case Held in Florida, Says Rover's Aid.

OCTOBER 8 TRIAL'S DATE

Charges that persons interested in the F. H. Smith Co. had hidden witnesses wanted by the Government in the prosecution of pleas in abatement to certain criminal charges were hurled yesterday in District Supreme Court by Assistant United States Attorney Neil Burkinshaw.

Mr. Burkinshaw declared that two witnesses had been hidden away in Florida and promptly exonerated counsel for all defendants.

"Two of the most important witnesses in this case have been hidden away in Florida," said Mr. Burkinshaw. "And I may add that the Government has experienced a great deal of difficulty in subpenaing them."

The statement was made when defense counsel asked for a continuance of the hearing on the pleas in abatement. Despite the Government's objections, however, the case went over until October 6. Trial of the charges contained in the indictment is scheduled for October 8.

Attorneys Wilton J. Lambert, R. H. Yeatman and Frank G. Raichle appear for defense.

Policeman's Death Releases Prisoner

Last Man Arrested by F. J. Scoville Is Freed by Judge.

Charles Martin, 38 years old, the last man arrested by Policeman Frank J. Scoville, of the Traffic Bureau, who was killed Wednesday when his motorcycle and a truck collided, was liberated in Police Court yesterday.

Martin was arrested by Scoville on a drunk charge Wednesday morning and sent to jail for a 10-day term. Yesterday Judge R. E. Mattingly asked that Martin be brought back to the court and when the man arrived the judge said:

"Out of reverence to the man who arrested you I am going to release you. I hope that your stay in jail has been a lesson."

Plaintiff Asks That Wife, Daughter Be Restrained

Louis A. Jaffe filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court against his wife, Bessie Jaffe, and his daughter, Celia Ginsburg, seeking an injunction to restrain them from interfering with him in any manner whatsoever. He also asks the court to declare a resulting trust for his benefit in premises at 1408 Fourteenth street northwest.

Jaffe alleges that he furnished the money to purchase the property and that there was an understanding that the wife would reconvey the property to him when he desired it. With this agreement in view, he declares, he had the title placed in her name. Recently, he states, he has demanded that the property's title be vested in him but his wife has refused. Jaffe also declares that his wife and daughter have attempted to have him incarcerated in an insane asylum in order that they might retain possession of the property.

Natalia A. Seymour Asks For Absolute Divorce

Natalia A. Seymour, of Ninth street northwest near Buchanan street, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to award her an absolute divorce from William S. Seymour, of Ninth street northwest near F street. A corespondent is named.

The couple was married September 11, 1928, and separated January, 1929, when the wife states she could no longer stand her husband's cruelty. She charges that Seymour pointed a gun at her and threatened to shoot her on at least two occasions. Many acts of misconduct also are charged. Attorney Henry M. Fowler appears for the wife.

Mario Rivoir Seeks To Change His Name

Declaring that he believed the new name he has chosen will aid him in procuring employment as a construction engineer, Mario Rivoir yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to give him the legal right to be known as John Fourland.

Rivoir states that his present name is hard to pronounce and declares it is a detriment to him in his business. Attorney Albert Lyman appears for the man.

Speaker Tells Association Racketeering Gains New Recruit.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED

T. M. Kaufman, of Indianapolis, was elected president of the American Association of Personal Finance Companies at the concluding session of the sixteenth annual convention yesterday.

L. K. Osborne, of Columbus, Ohio, was elected vice president; T. J. Harrison, of Waterloo, Ia., treasurer, and Francis L. Thompson, of Shelbyville, Ind., was elected chairman of the executive committee.

The final session was featured by a general discussion of the practical aspects of consumer credit. Earl E. Davidson, supervisor of loan agencies in Massachusetts, praised the uniform small loan law report to State banking departments.

A blow at high rate money lenders was delivered by Leon Henderson, director of the department of remedial loans of the Russell Sage Foundation. He declared that racketeering had gained a new recruit in the field of high rate money lending.

Describing these racketeers as "loan sharks," Mr. Henderson said they are trying to break down the uniform small loan law adopted by the 24 States. He said that they are meeting with little success.

Wed When in Daze, Is Veteran's Plea

Court Grants Annulment of Robert E. Lewis' Marriage.

On the grounds that Robert E. Lewis, of P street near Fifteenth street northwest, was unable to contract a valid marriage when he wedded Elizabeth E. Lewis, of Farmville, Va., on November 9, 1928, Justice Jesse C. Adkins yesterday in District Supreme Court ordered annulment of the marriage.

Lewis, in his plea, told the court that he is subject to attacks of epilepsy as a result of wounds received in the World War, and that after he has had such an attack his mind is not clear for some time. He declared that he suffered such an attack on November 9, 1928, and that he remembered no more until he come to himself in an automobile near Richmond, Va., with the defendant.

The girl, Lewis said, then informed him that they had been married earlier in the day at Fredericksburg, Va. Mrs. Lewis' answer to the suit declared that Lewis had pleaded with her to marry him because he needed her care and attention.

Rich Baronet, 71, Will Wed Vera, Countess of Cathcart

Sir Rowland Hoge to Be Third Husband of Woman Denied Admission to U. S. as Immoral; Her Play, Staged Here, Failure.

London, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Vera, Countess of Cathcart, it was announced today, will be married next week to Sir Rowland Hodge, millionaire baronet.

The Countess of Cathcart, who visited the United States in 1926 with her play, "Ashes of Love," is the widow of the Earl of Cathcart by whose death in London in 1927 she inherited a trust fund of which her income was $2,500 a year.

She was the former Vera Fraser, of Cape Town, South Africa, and became the fifth Earl Cathcart's bride in 1919. Two years later he advertised that he would not be responsible for her debts, and the next year obtained a divorce, the Earl of Craven being mentioned in the papers.

The countess was denied admission to the United States in 1926, but later the barrier was removed permitting her to enter.

The United States Government excluded her on the ground of "moral turpitude," and there were serious objections to the presentation of her play because of its alleged unsuitable nature for American audiences.

In spite of all the publicity she gained here and the fact that she appeared in the play when it opened at Washington, it failed disastrously.

Sir Rowland Frederick William Hodge is 71 years old. He is chairman of a large shipbuilding industry as was his father before him. His address is Grosvenor House, Park Lane, and Wentworth, Surrey. He is also Lord Wyfold and was created a baronet in 1921.

The countess has lived a disturbed existence for many years. She was taken critically ill in November, 1927, at her London home. Physicians all but despaired of bringing her through in her attack of heart disease.

The Earl of Craven, mentioned in the Cathcart divorce, sailed for South Africa in 1923, the countess being subsequently, in 1925, named as corespondent by the earl's wife, suing him for divorce.

When she married the Earl of Cathcart she was the widow of Capt. de Grey-Warter, Fourth Dragon Guards, killed in the battle of the Somme, Cathcart was fully 30 years her senior.

Henry de Grey-Warter, the 19-year-old son by this previous marriage, was secretly wedded to the actress, Mabel Bowers Rean, it also is learned.

A year ago Vera's 16-year-old daughter's engagement was announced at which time the countess declared "romance is the salt of life," in giving her blessing to the youthful pair.

G. O. P. AID RESIGNS IN NEBRASKA INQUIRY

Victor Seymour Declares Innocence of Wrongdoing in Norris Primary.

ANXIOUS TO HELP PARTY

Denver, Colo., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Victor Seymour, of Lincoln, Nebr., newly appointed assistant vice chairman of the Republican national senatorial campaign committee in charge of Western regional headquarters here, today telegraphed Vice Chairman Frederick Steiwer at Pendleton, Oreg., that he was resigning his post.

He emphasized that he was "absolutely innocent of any wrong act" in connection with the Norris senatorial controversy in November.

He said that he was tendering his resignation because publicity attending the hearings of the Nye committee in Nebraska on the candidacies of Senator George W. Norris and George W. Norris "the second," Broken Bow grocer, map be used by the opposition unfavorably against your committee.

To newspapermen Seymour said: "I am doing this of my own volition and without having consulted any one. I think I owe it to the party."

The telegram read:

"From press reports my name has been drawn into a controversy in Nebraska arising previous to the recent primary campaign in that State in a way which may be used by the opposition unfavorably against your committee. While I am absolutely innocent of any wrong act and my motives have been honest and prompted only by a desire to do what I thought would be for the best interest of the people as a whole, yet I realize that the publicity which has been given the matter may be used by political enemies unfavorably against the party.

"Republicans generally throughout the entire territory included in the Western division are ready and willing to give you and the committee as well as all Republican nominees their hearty, loyal and active support.

"I have always been loyal to our party and its nominees and shall continue to be and am too good a Republican to stand even inferentially in the way of success of the ticket. Am therefore tendering to you herewith my resignation as your assistant in the conduct of the campaign, same to receive consideration at your convenience."

Senator Steiwer, vice chairman in immediate charge of the Western campaign, is on a trip through the district. He is expected to return to Denver within a week, having left the day Seymour's appointment was announced. The appointment, Steiwer said at the time, was on recommendation of the Republican national committee.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

WELL—thank goodness, that is over, those Campbell stories. They kept a man on nerves' raw edge, what with never knowing when his name would appear.

Sleepless nights and early arisings to run to the door, stumble over the milk and wait half an hour before the paper came.

We never want to go through it again.

We racketeers are so numerous here in Washington—there are so many of us who live by our wits—that when a man with a lot of pent-up emotions like that fellow Campbell gets started, you can never tell how far he will go.

* * * *

I RECKON there are about 10,000 of us around here all told. We are what you would call the barnacles of a democracy. But you can't expect us to remain on the farm when the Nation's Capital offers such boundless opportunities, such easy ways of making money and without any apparent effort.

Some of us have graduated at law, but a knowledge of law is not essential for our practice. Really all we need is just a knowledge of the intricacies of governmental Washington. A few terms in Congress help a lot. It gives you a good schooling in how to get things done and whom to see.

We have lifted our profession in recent years, though. We no longer answer to the call of just plain fixers and lobbyists. If you want us, that is, the most dignified of us, those of us who have been here a long time—you must say "Mr. Ambassador." Because that is what we are: The ambassadors of people who know what they want and are willing to pay for getting it.

* * * *

NOW what is it you want? An alcohol permit, a tax refund, a little tariff on pomegranates? Ah, ha: you say you would like to get in on that aviation or merchant marine mail subsidy? You say you want your alcohol permit restored?

Well, well, and pardon the complacency with which we rub our hands, we are the boys for you to see.

Of course now, all of us are not engaged in the noble experiment with which the Campbell stories dealt, but you can understand how we form acquaintances in passing in and out of the departmental offices, or while waiting on the lounge to be admitted to the inner sanctums.

And there is no telling when a man who has no more appreciation of the finer things in the fixing business than Campbell might drag in your name.

Indeed, it is a relief to see him through. It was the most nervous two weeks we have ever spent.

It was like the draft; you couldn't tell when your name might turn up.

Technical Student Dies, Arms Slashed

Youth at Cambridge Is Held Suicide After Notes Are Read.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The body of Perry C. Davidson, of Marseilles, Ill., a member of the class of 1930 at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was found in a field owned by the institute here today. Both his arms had been slashed by a razor blade and notes left for his wife, who lives in Marseilles and his roommate convinced police it was a suicide.

The police said, they believed Davidson had slashed his wrists and then entered the field since they found no razor blade near the body. Davidson's roommate told the police the man had been morose yesterday.

Davidson was not graduated with his class, choosing to return this fall to finish his thesis work. Institute authorities said the work was in good order and Davidson had a high scolastic standing. They could attribute no cause for his act.

Two Score Are Injured When Grand Stand Falls

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Between 40 and 50 persons were injured when a grand stand collapsed at the Central High School Football Field here tonight.

About 3,000 persons, mostly students, were seated in the stand when it fell during a game between Youngstown Chaney High and Columbus Central. Ambulances were called to take the more seriously injured to hospitals. The game was resumed as soon as the victims were removed from the field.

Giant Radio Station Is Granted License

(Associated Press).

Permission for construction of a giant broadcasting station at Wayne Township, New Jersey, to act as a key station of the Columbia broadcasting chain, was granted yesterday by the Radio Commission.

Approval of the application, made by Station WABC, settled a year-old dispute involving Federal and New Jersey radio officials. The latter had sought to keep the giant station off New Jersey soil, partly on the ground it would interfere with smaller stations nearby. The State objection recently was withdrawn.

G. W. U. Freshmen Warned on Slang

College Caps and Raccoon Coats Also Banned by Marvin.

"Coonskin coats, college caps and collegiate slang are remnants of the irresponsible days of adolescence that must be put aside upon entering college," Dr. Cloyd Heck Marvin, president of the George Washington University, warned members of the freshman class at the opening assembly of the year held yesterday at the university.

Dr. Marvin also advised the students against confusing the burning of gas with the burning of midnight oil. "You go further overland on the former," he said, "but it won't get as far on the road you are to travel."

Dean Henry Grattan Doyle explained to the freshmen the advisory system which has been instituted in the Junior College, where every student is provided with an adviser who will assist him in planning his courses.

Dr. William A. Wilbur, provost of the University, presided at the assembly.

Absolute Divorce Won By Wife's Dual Plea

Justice Jesse C. Adkins, in District Supreme Court, yesterday granted Anna F. Reed, of Ninth Street near Upshur street northwest, a final decree of absolute divorce from Paul Melvin Reed, of Eighth street near H street northwest. Grounds for the divorce were excessive use of intoxicants and infidelity.

The bill of complaint, filed by Attorney Henry M. Fowler, set forth that the couple were married on October 5, 1921, and lived together until April 1, 1925. Mrs. Reed charged that, shortly after the marriage, her husband began to use intoxicants excessively. The first petition named a corespondent, but an amended plea stated that it was found that the name given by the alleged corespondent was false and intimacy with an unknown woman was charged.

Three Women Arrested On Prohibition Charges

Several raids conducted by the police liquor squad yesterday netted three arrests and a small quantity of intoxicants. Ella Cash, colored, of B street near Thirteenth street northeast, was charged with possession following the reported discovery of two gallons of wine and a quart of whisky in her home. She was later released under $500 bond.

Mary White, of Eighth street near D southwest, and Ruth Woodford, of Twenty-second street near K northwest, were arrested and charged with possession of one quart of wine each.

Wife of Poli's Manager Is Given Reno Divorce

Mrs. Rosamond Bonneville was yesterday granted a divorce from Thornton D. Bonneville, manager of Poli's Theater, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Reno Nev.

Mrs. Bonneville charged mental cruelty, frequent fits of temper and constant fault-finding. She was awarded alimony of $150 a month. The couple was married in New York in 1919.

Woman Severely Burned.

Ivy Moore, 42-year-old colored woman, of Fort Berg Station, Va., was treated at Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon for severe body burns received when an oil stove exploded and set fire to the kitchen of her home. She was brought to the hospital by members of the Ballston Fire Department. Her condition was regarded as serious.

Child Hurt at Play

Genevieve Christy, 9 years old, of 308 Ninth street northeast, while playing in the school yard of the Edmonds School at Ninth and D streets northeast, yesterday afternoon fell on a nail, driving it into her arm. She was treated at Casualty Hospital. The injury was not serious, and she was allowed to return home.

Naval Officer Robbed

Commander Damon E. Cummings, U. S. N., living in Klingle Valley, near the District line, yesterday told police that his home had been entered since September 2 and that small amount of change and a Naval Academy ring valued at $10 was missing. He said that entrance had been gained by a side window.

Police Asked to Find Wife, 19.

Police yesterday were asked to look out for Mrs. Gladys Roland, 19 years old, who lives in Ashton, Farrington County, Va. According to her husband, Douglas Roland, she had been living with him at 310 C street southeast for the past few weeks, and disappeared Thursday morning.

New Roof For District Building.

The District Building is to get a new roof. Contract for replacing the existing tile roof with one of built-up asphalt was awarded by the District Commissioners yesterday to the Philip Carey Co., of Baltimore, Md., for $9,797.

WALSH UNCERTAIN OF AID FROM BORAH

Montana Senator's Hope of Assistance Dimmed by Idahoan's Statement.

FACING DIFFICULT RACE

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Efforts yesterday to clear up the confusion over Senator Borah's willingness or unwillingness to campaign for Senator Tom Walsh in Montana, only served to heighten speculation as to what is happening out there.

A few days ago it was announced at the Helena, Mont., headquarters of Walsh that both Senators Borah and LaFollette were "expected" in the State to campaign for him.

Quite promptly a statement came from Senator Borah at Boise, saying he knew "of no plans to go into Montana."

In view of the careful wording of Borah's statement and the knowledge which his friends thought they had of his attitude towards Walsh's reelection, it was interpreted here that it was simply a case of Borah not having been apprised of the Walsh campaign plans and that it was not in conflict with the import of the Walsh headquarters' statement.

Carefully Worded Denial.

Later information indicates that this is probably not the case at all, that Borah's statement was a carefully worded denial of the statement that he planned to campaign for Walsh.

A telegram yesterday to Senator Borah, seeking to clear up the confusion, although reported delivered, brought no reply.

On the face of things as they now stand it would seem that the Idaho senator once again has gone to the brink of the chasm of party bolting, but is reluctant to take the next step.

Even as late as a few weeks ago, when the senator stopped here en route from Maine to Idaho, there was no doubt in the minds of his friends as to his intense interest in Senator Walsh's reelection. The impression was left at that time that he would issue a statement to this effect, or a statement expressing his willingness to go into Montana and campaign for Walsh if it would not appear presumptious on his part.

Walsh Faces Hard Fight.

Had he not been invited to go into the State, it would be presumptious for him to consider that he could be of assistance to the Montana senator. The impression was that these thoughts were all that restrained Borah from a very positive statement on the subject.

There would seem now, in the light of information available here, to be no question as to whether Walsh considers Borah can help him or whether he wants him to. The statement issued by his headquarters settles that.

Walsh is facing a hard fight. The Republicans have up a man, Justice Galen, whom they have been saving for years for what they considered to be just the right time. Galen has the apparent advantage of being a wet in what appears to be a very wet State.

It would seem to be quite clear that the statement of his headquarters signified that the campaign had reached the stage where it was believed that Borah and LaFollette could be of assistance, that it would be profitable to Walsh to be able to say, "Why even the Republicans prefer me to Justice Galen."

Tactical Error Seen.

It may not be that the matter would have actually gone to the point of bringing Borah and La Follette into the State; that the simple statement that they were coming would have been considered sufficient.

In the light of this what does Senator Borah do? He does not, on the fact of available information here, remain silent or say that he has no comment to make. He makes a statement which, whether calculated to or not, would seem to have the effect of knocking the Walsh claim down, with its resultant adverse reaction to his campaign. It would have been better for the Walsh workers to keep the claim of Borah support to the whispering stage.

It is noteworthy that the Idaho senator was apparently not even willingly to say publicly that he hoped, however, that Walsh would win. His whole attitude seems to be in contrast to that of Senator La Follette, who appears to have remained quiet, in other words, to let the Walsh claim go unchallenged.

Of Political Importance.

These things are of considerable political importance and political men have to think right quickly, yet profoundly, in dealing with them.

Now, if Borah should support Walsh it would be what one might call something, indeed. Chairman Fess, of the Republican national committee, has ruled that Borah, La Follette and Norris are all Republicans entitled to support of the Republican campaign headquarters. It so happens that this support will only be moral because the three men do not need any active assistance, but with the Republican committee morally supporting them what kind of a situation then is it for them to, in turn, support a Democrat?

The Republicans are making no passive campaign in Montana. They are out to get Walsh.

Hesitates to Take Steps.

For Borah, especially, to support Walsh under these circumstances it would seem to be the step necessary to cut him away from the Republican bannet entirely. Apparently it is a step he does not want to take.

The man has been up to the brink of definite division many times in the past but there on that brink the conservativeness that is latent in him has always asserted itself.

Yet Walsh has made an appeal now. If Borah doesn't respond to it what will be the effect on his leadership of the Senate Progressives when they all get around the vice president's dais again?

Textile Group Favors Women Night Work Cut

The indorsement was given at the close of a business meeting here of the carded yarn group of the institute.

Raiding Squad Visits Alleged Bucket Shop

Chicago, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—A raiding squad led by two assistant State's attorneys entered the offices of Charles O. Richardson & Co., financial engineers, today and seized papers and records. The prosecutors said the company operated a "bucket shop" accused of taking $100,000 from its customers.

None of the company officers was present when the police raided the place.

it is this: Are we to have a governor who is bigger than Tammany Hall or not?"

Prohibition in Background.

The prohibition issue was regarded as having been relegated to the background of the campaign by Republican indorsement of repeal, since the Democrats are committed to such a plank, although organized drys threatened to put up an independent dry candidate for governor.

Nomination by acclamation became the order of the convention in the wake of the Tuttle demonstration, and delegates proceeded quickly to nominate Caleb H. Baumes, of Newburgh, State senator and author of the Baumes laws, for lieutenant governor; Daniel B. Conway, Oswego manufacturer, for comptroller; Isadore Bookstein, Albany attorney, for attorney general, and Cuthberg H. Pound, of Lockport, for associate judge of the State court of appeals. Judge Pound's was a renomination in which the Democratic party will concur at its Syracuse convention next week.

(Associated Press.)

National Republican leaders kept silence yesterday on the news from Albany that the New York State convention had adopted a plank for repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Drys belittle the effect of the move and those of the Republican faith predicted it would have no bearing on the next national convention of the party two years hence.

Secretary Stimson, head of President Hoover's Cabinet, delivered the keynote address to the New York State convention, but he said nothing on the subject of prohibition.

Many here conceded that conversion of the New York Republican organization to the cause of prohibition repeal would be likely to bring this issue before the next national convention, but Senator Brookhart, of Iowa, a Republican dry, predicted that President Hoover would "keep the party dry" and, he added, "Wall street will lie down to him."

Statement by Sheppard.

Mr. Brookhart said: "We haven't lost a thing," because the New York Republicans had adopted the repeal platform. He said Senator Wadsworth, a Republican, had run as a wet in New York in 1926 "and he is former Senator Wadsworth now."

Senator Sheppard (Democrat), Texas, another dry, said the New York Republican wetness "has no material significance." He believes that "it just reflects the wet sentiment of New York City, which has always been wet."

Mr. Brookhart recalled that New York Republicans led by former Senator Wadsworth and Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, had urged a wet plank unsuccessfully at the last Republican national convention.

Chairman Fess, of the Republican national committee, and Senator Watson, of Indiana, Republican leader in the Senate, withheld comment on the New York action.

With the Hoover administration taking no part in the wet and dry controversy, interest continued to center on the forthcoming report of the law enforcement commission, which has been studying the prohibition situation.

The other winners in th ewoman competition are Miss Helen Churchill, soprano, of 2020 Twentieth street northwest; Miss Aurelia N. Beck, contralto, of 1815 Jackson street northeast, and Miss Ana Hoitscheiter, soprano, of 335 Kentucky avenue southeast.

A literary and athletic club was recently formed by members of the Boys' Club, who expect to adopt the name of a well-known men's organization in Washington.

The following officers were elected at the first business meeting, held yesterday: M. Koonin, president; A. Perry, vice president; H. Garner, secretary; J. Tucker, treasurer.

REPUBLICAN FUND INQUIRY DEMANDED

Loring Black Would Have Grand Jury as Well as Congress Act.

MORE DIPLOMATS GIVERS

The revelation of the financial support given to the Republican national committee by recently appointed ambassadors and persons interested in railroads and public utilities brought a prompt demand yesterday from Representative Loring Black (Democrat), New York, for a congressional as well as a grand jury investigation.

Black is a member of the House committee on campaign expenditures, of which the chairman is Representative Lehlbach (Republican), New Jersey.

"While the rest of the country is suffering from the depression it is evident that prosperity abounds with friends of the administration," he said. "The Republican party is still being bought and paid for. The Republicans should have refused money from interests under investigation by administration forces.

"In New York one of the main Republican head hunters is Gen. Harbord—but he, himself, heads the Radio Corporation of America, which is a defendant in an antitrust suit."

Contributions by Envoys.

Further delving into Republican campaign contributions yesterday revealed that both John N. Willys, new Ambassador to Poland, and H. F. Guggenheim, Ambassador to Cuba, who have given $10,000 apiece so far this year, made contributions of $25,000 each to the Republican campaign fund of 1928. Eugene Meyer, recently appointed governor of the Federal Reserve Board, was another $25,000 contributor in 1928, but his name has not appeared on the donor list this year.

Heavy contributions by persons interested in public utilities have aroused much speculation here in view of the fact that twice this year the Republican national organization has departed from the time-honored policy of keeping out of local primaries and in both instances the issue was hydroelectric power.

William Murray, an employe of the Aepublican national committee, has also been identified as having been active in the anti-Norris movement and an examination of the records yesterday showed that Murray is on the committee payroll at the rate of $540 per month. Italso disclosed that he has received traveling expenses aggregating $692.37 in three payments in March, April and August.

Eaton's Wide Connections.

Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland banker, who has given $10,000 to the Republican war chest this year, and who donated $25,000 in 1928, is chairman of the board of the United Light & Power Co., a director of the Continental Gas & Electric Corporation, of Continental Shares, Inc., International Shares Corporation, American Light & Traction Co., and the Kansas City Light & Power Co.

Harrison Williams, of New York, who gave $25,000 in 1928 and $10,000 so far this year, lists himself in who's who as an "officer of electric corporations" and mentions specifically that he is director of the American Gas & Electric Corporation and the Shenandoah Corporation.

Sidney Z. Mitchell, president and chairman of the board of the Electric Bond & Share Corporation, which has been under fire in the Federal Trade Commission's investigation, gave $5,000 in 1928 and another $5,000 this year.

For all its generous contributions, the Republican committee has effected one economy move lately by reducing the salary paid to its director of women's activities, Mrs. Louise M. Budson, who resigned just before Claudius Huston was deposed. She received $725 a month, while her successor, Mrs. Ellis A. Yost, gets only $500 per month.

Broun Is Arrested In Strike Parade

Charges Against Writer and Socialist Candidate Dismissed.

New York, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Heywood Broun, writer and Socialist candidate for Congress from a New York district, was arrested today on a charge of disorderly conduct when he attempted to lead a parade of 300 striking dressmakers down Fifth avenue.

A patrolman who halted the parade threatened to arrest several of the marchers unless they disbanded.

"Don't lock them up, lock me up," Broun told him, and the patrolman obliged.

While awaiting arrignment in magistrates court, Broun told reporters the union had asked him to parade with them and had assured him there would be no police interference.

Magistrate Ford dismissed the charge against Broun after the latter testified that 600 other pickets were allowed to pass without interference and then the section he was heading was stopped.

Palestine Tribes Fight; Several Killed and Hurt

Jerusalem, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Serious casualties in killed and wounded resulted from a battle between a section of the Elsharrat Tribe from Nejd and Howeitat tribesmen today.

The Nejd party attacked the others on the Trans-Jordan side and made off with 250 head of cattle. The number killed were not known, but reports from Amman mentioned casualties on both sides. These were increased when airplanes and armored cars pursued the raiders and recaptured much of the loot.

Ship, Rammed in Fog, Beached Off Gibraltar

Gibraltar, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The British steamship Margarita, of 1,730 tons, from Glasgow for Genoa with a cargo of coal, lies beached tonight in Gibraltar Bay, leaking badly, after a collision in fog with the Spanish steamer Nuestra Senora Del Carmen, south of Tarifa Point.

Salvage steamers went to the Margarita's assistance upon the receipt of an S O S and a tug eventually towed her to land. The Spanish ship, also damaged, reached Gibraltar harbor under her own steam.

REPORTS CONFLICT ON BUS COLLISION

Police Say Driver Stated Brakes Failed to Hold; Denied by Official.

VICTIM TRIO IN HOSPITAL

Conflicting reports on the cause of the bus accident that injured 21 passengers near Hybla Valley, Va., Thursday night were being checked yesterday by Capt. Haywood J. Durrer, of the Fairfax County police, and L. C. Major, Southeastern division superintendent of the Richmond-Greyhound Lines. The bus, driven by Norman Dove, of Falls Church, Va., left the highway on a sharp left turn, and crashed into a large oak tree.

Mr. Major yesterday reiterated his belief that the accident had been caused by blinding headlights on an approaching car. The bus was in perfect mechanical condition when it left Washington at 10:15 p. m., he said, and Dove was rated as one of the company's most efficient drivers.

Capt. Durrer, however, said that Dove had admitted that his brakes failed to hold.

All but three of the injured were dismissed from the Alexandria General Hospital yesterday. Those confined to the institution were Dove, who is suffering from a fractured skull, internal injuries and severe bruises; Mrs. Agnes Allen, of New York, fractured right wrist and leg, and Otto Davis, Pensacola, Fla., broken right leg.

CATHOLIC CHARITIES PARLEY PLANS SET

National Conference Will Open Tomorrow With Special Rites.

TO CONTINUE ONE WEEK

The stage is all set for the first of the big religious conventions which will meet this fall in Washington—the National Conference of Catholic Charities. It opens tomorrow and will continue for one week. Delegates will be here from all over America.

A program of great interest and of far-reaching importance has been worked out, and on it will appear some of the foremost laymen and clergymen of the Catholic Church in this country.

The various committees in charge of the affair, working under the direction of the Rev. Dr. John O'Grady, director of the Washington Bureau of Catholic Charities and secretary of the national conference, have been at work for several months. The results of their endeavors point to the greatest gathering in the history of the conference.

Delegates Begin to Arrive.

Already delegates from far-off Pacific States have begun to arrive and the booths of the registration committee at the Willard Hotel, under the care of the Catholic Daughters of America, Miss Mary Boland in charge, are busy at work, and their arrivals are precursors of what's to follow.

In the Union Station a bulletin has been erected and Mr. John H. Pellen and his Catholic Boy Scouts connected with the Christ Child Society, are welcoming the invading guests and escorting them to the hotels and homes where reservations have been made for their housing.

The opening affair of the convention will be the St. Vincent de Paul mass at 7 o'clock at St. Patrick's Church. The mass will be followed by a breakfast for all at the Hotel Raleigh.

This will be followed by the formal opening of the convention, a pontifical high mass at St. Patrick's at 10 o'clock, with Bishop McNamara pontificating. The sermon will be preached by the Right Rev. Thomas C. O'Reilley, Bishop of Scranton, Pa. Many monsignori and priests will be present.

Mass Meeting Sunday Night.

The first meeting of the committee on families will be held tomorrow afternoon, with Miss Marguerite T. Boylan, Hartford, Conn., as chairman. Mrs. John Glenn, New York, will speak on "Fields of Activity for the Volunteer;" Bruce M. Mohler, director of the Bureau of Immigration, National Catholic Welfare Conference, on "Immigration Aid," and Mrs. Herbert F. Fisher, Hartford, "Responsibilities of a Board Member."

At the general meeting of the conference tomorrow night addresses will be delivered by Thomas F. Farrell, New York, president of the conference; Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur and the Right Rev. Mgr. James H. Ryan, honorary president of the conference and rector of the Catholic University of America.

Previous to the opening of the meeting the Washington Elks Band, composed of some 60-odd boys, will give an open-air concert. Afterward the young musicians will march into the hall playing "Onward, Christian Soldiers!" The band will play between the speeches.

Young People Invited To Evening Rally Rites

One hundred and fifty invitations have been sent to the young people of the Washington City Church of the Brethren, calling them to a general rally tomorrow evening September 28 at 7 o'clock. Mr. Potter, of the Federation of Churches, will speak on what our young people can do for their church and the community.

Dr. Brammell, of the Department of the Interior, will be one of the speakers and will be an active helper throughout the year.

Loyalty Crusade Dinner To Hear Guest Speaker

Dr. George Reynolds, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of New Rochelle, N. Y., will be the chief speaker next Wednesday evening at the Loyalty Crusade dinner to be given by the members of Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church.

The Women's Guild of the church will prepare the food and serve the dinner, and in all Washington there is not a circle of cooks so artistic and eloquent as these. They are noted for their cuisine, so everybody will have a good time.

Lieut. Col. Grant Aids Will Attend Meetings

Three assistants of Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d, of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, will attend the national convention in St. Louis, Mo., this month and early next month to inform the groups of the progress made in building up the Capital.

Capt. E. N. Chisholm, jr., will attend the convention of the American Society of Civil Engineers, which meets October 1 and 5. F. T. Gartside and C. L. Wirth will attend a convention of park executives, which begins Monday.

District Crematorium Supervision Is Shifted

The District Commissioners yesterday took another step to consolidate various hospital activities under supervision of Dr. Edgar Bocock, superintendent of Gallinger Municipal Hospital. They ordered the District crematorium transferred from administration of the health officer to the hospital superintendent.

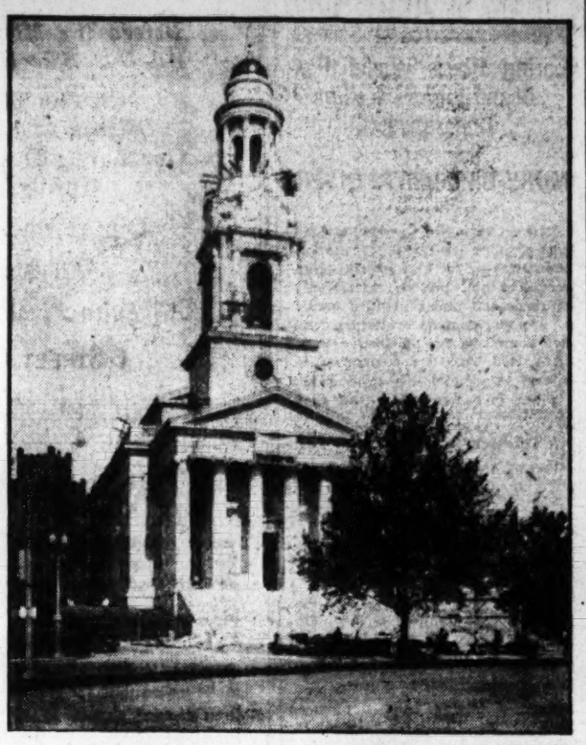
Previously they ordered the quarantine station placed under administration of the hospital head. Both are in the neighborhood of the hospital.

Police Radio Job Goes To Western Electric

The contract for the new police radio service was awarded yesterday to the Western Electric Co., low bidder. The bids were opened a few weeks ago, but award had been held up because of the protest of one bidder. The department wanted the Western Electric Co. equipment, and after some delay, in the course of which the question was put up to auditing officials, the award was approved.

All the details of the police radio system have been published previously. It is expected that it will be another month before the system is in use.

New National Church Soon to Be Dedicated



New National City Christian Church at Thomas Circle, which is nearing completion, and which will add much to the architectural beauty of that section.

City Christian Edifice Is Striking Addition to Capital.

By DAVID RANKIN BARBEE.

A group of newspapermen sat yesterday morning in the cafe of the National Press Club looking out over Washington, and one of them spied a beautiful marble tower that has but lately appeared in the horizon to the north of the club.

"That," said he, pointing to the stately church spire, "is one of the most beautiful architectural gems in this city."

Everybody rose and looked, and no one spoke. It was a silent tribute of admiration to the loveliest feature of Washington's newest National church, to be known as the National City Christian Church.

Multiplied thousands who come down Fourteenth street or go up it every day noted this white marble cathedral at Thomas Circle as it rose stone by stone, and in its later stages as it took shape it became the subject of no end of pleasing comment.

Now it is finished, and soon it will be dedicated. How appropriate that these dedicatory exercises should take place during the World and International Conventions of the Christian Church. The delegates to those conventions will see how their money has been spent, for it is truly National in this respect, that the huge fund which has gone into the lots and building came from several thousand churches in forty-eight States of this Union.

Presiding over the International Convention will be Mr. Robert A. Long, of Kansas City, one of the wealthiest men in the country, whose initial generosity inspired the movement which made this new church possible. He long visioned the importance of such a church, and some years ago, while on a visit to one of his daughters who lived here, he actively took up the matter, visited the proposed site, had options taken on the property, and then planked down $100,000 as a starter.

Church Meets Challenge.

This contribution was a challenge to the church to raise $1,000,000, and the challenge was met with a ringing acceptance that has run the amount up to $1,579,000, and the immediate goal is $1,750,000. With the additional money it is proposed to build a house for the School of Religious Education, or Bible School. The church owns all the property down to the German Embassy and this will be razed for the new structure. It, too, will be of marble, architecturally in keeping with the cathedral of which it will be an adjunct.

Outside of Washington the man who managed the campaign for raising this fund was Mr. H. H. Harmon, of Indianapolis, which is the central headquarters of the church.

A most interesting history this church has had. It began in 1844 with a group of seven people in the home of Dr. James T. Barclay, a man who afterward became the first missionary to Jerusalem and wrote a book entitled "The City of the Great King."

Alexander Campbell, the founder of the Christian Church, came here in 1850 and preached by invitation to Congress, and while he had great crowds to hear him the church did not prosper and had no home of its own. The initial church was started by a small company of people in Baltimore, who contributed $40 toward the project on the basis of 25 cents a member.

It was a long time before $1,800 was raised which went into the lot on Vermont avenue, where the present Garfield Memorial Church is located. Popularly this church is known as the Vermont Avenue Christian Church. In the small wooden chapel built on that lot James A. Garfield, when a member of Congress, a major general in the Army and President of the United States, worshipped. Garfield, a minister in the church, preached there more than once, and among those who heard him was the celebrated Jeremiah S. Black, who was Attorney General and Secretary of State in Buchanan's Cabinet and who wrote more than one of Andrew Johnson's great state papers. Judge Black was a member of the congregation.

Expansion Is Effected.

Two such distinguished members could not but attract attention to the church and this brought about its first expansion.

Charles J. Guiteau was also a visitor to that church, but he did not go there to worship. His object was to plan the assassination of President Garfield. This he afterward confessed. He would have killed Garfield in the church but he feared to injure some one else; then he surveyed the building and Garfield's seat in the church and decided to shoot him from the outside the following Sunday. A change in Garfield's plans led to the assassination in the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad station, then at Sixth and B streets.

This terrible crime started a movement to erect a memorial church to Garfield, and in 1884 the contributions began to come in from everywhere. From them Dr. Frederick D. Power, so long the minister of the church, built the church which is soon to be supplanted by the National Church. When it was dedicated, President Arthur and his Cabinet attended the services. That was more than forty years ago.

After Dr. Power's long and fruitful ministry, Dr. Earle Wilfley came to this church, and he has made it nationally known, both by his eloquent preaching and by his lectures on Shakespeare. In his new cathedral Dr. Wilfley will have an auditory which will house a larger congregation and from which he can send forth a larger message.

Young Folks to Take Over Services to Show Work of Sunday School.

PASTORS WILL BE AIDS

Tomorrow and next Sunday will be rally day in most of the Protestant churches in the city, and the ministers will be turned out of their pulpits and the children will take charge. This isn't the real purpose and spirit of rally day, which is held to show the grown folks in the congregation what the Sunday school is doing.

At Concordia Church Dr. W. L. Darby, secretary of the Washington Federation of Churches, will make the principal address.

Will Aid Young Folks.

Dr. John E. Briggs, of Fifth Baptist Church, is not going to be shoved aside by his young people, but he will participate in the rally at his church, which is also promotion and harvest home day, and after the young folks get through with their program he will give them an old-time gospel sermon.

At Ninth Street Christian Church plans are being made to have 1,000 present to witness the promotion exercises, and the Sunday school orchestra will give a special program. The pastor, Dr. Melton, will have a special sermon for the occasion.

Mr. Ivan V. Gross, superintendent of the Sunday School of Full Gospel Tabernacle, has arranged an inspiring program to begin the crusade of 1,000 members of the school. One of the features will be "A Trip to Bible Land."

More than a thousand persons are expected to attend the rally in Keller Memorial Lutheran Sunday School, Ninth street and Maryland avenue northeast, tomorrow. There will be special music by the orchestra and a contralto solo by Mrs. Helen Benham. The principal address will be given by Dr. B. H. Melton, pastor of Ninth Street Christian Church. SENTENCE SERMONS

By the REV. HAROLD E. BEATTY
(Pastor of Georgetown Lutheran Church).

IF ANY MAN.

Our Jewish friends have just observed Rosh Hashanah—their New Year. The celebrated Jew of Tarsus taught that Our Heavenly Father, through the Messiah, would make everybody and everything new.

"Behold, I make all things new."—Rev. xxi:5.

Wherefore, Paul urges us "to put off the old man and put on the new man." But God will not do it all. He leaves something for you and me to do. And if we do not do it, it will not be done. Therefore, in the development of human character, both the human and the Divine must come into play.

1. If any man will! In the growth of character the mainspring is the will. If a man does not strengthen the will, through exercise, he becomes a weakling and, therefore, a coward; and neither man nor God can use a coward. But "if any man will do His will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God."—John vii:7.

2. If any man sin! Regardless of his present condition, nature, circumstances; regardless of his multiplied mistakes, blunders, failures! (It is better to make a thousand mistakes, and suffer a thousand reverses, than to run away from battle.—Henry Van Dyke.) But what can he do?

"Can the Ethiopian change his skin or the leopard his spots?" Can the sinner cleanse his life from the soul-stain? No; but the alchemy of the Cross can. In the words of a missionary I heard some time ago, "I would not walk one block to tell a man about some human substitute for religion, but, by the grace of God, I'd crawl around the world to tell a poor sinner that 'There is a Fountain, filled with blood!'"

"If any man sin, we have an Advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous."—I John ii:1.

3. If any man thirst! If weary, worn, thirsty, you were to stumble in at the back door of your mother and cry for a drink of water? How mother's love would respond! But there is a Fountain of love even more infinite.

"On that last great day of the feast, Jesus stood and cried, saying, If any man thirst, let him come unto me and drink."—John vii:37.

MISSIONARY GROUP TO PLAN FOR FALL

Federation Will Meet Friday at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church.

PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN

It is related in Holy Writ that the first missionary society was founded by a good woman; and ever since that memorable meeting by the brookside the good women have been organizing missionary societies and sending forth missionaries. Without them, it is no exaggeration to say that there would be powerful little missionary effort going on in this sin-cursed world.

Every church in Washington, almost without an exception, has its woman's missionary society, and these are related in an intimate way with their connectional or national boards, with their state societies and with other organizations, in a simple manner that carries their ramifications to the far corners of heathendom.

This great plexus of effort would satisfy the biped called by the scientists homo sapiens, and by us poor illiterates just man; but it does not fill the craving in the mother heart of woman. She must expend her energies in other gospel directions—the Washington woman must—and out of this yearning has come the Woman's Interdenominational Missionary Federation, of which Mrs. John Newton Culbertson of the Church of the Pilgrims is president.

Two great enterprises particularly appeal to this organization, and one is the work among the lepers and the other the work in Liberia. It has other irons in the fire, but these two are the ones which they keep at white heat all the time.

Next Friday this Federation begins its fall activities, with a session at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church. Two interesting items will feature their program, one being a Bible reading by Mrs. F. F. Holsopple, of the Washington City Church of the Brethren; and the other a talk on missions in Liberia by Miss Mattie M. Davis, a returned missionary, who is sent out by the National Baptist Church.

Dr. Taylor to Continue Friday Night Classes

At Central Presbyterian Church, the minister, Dr. James W. Taylor, keeps in close touch with his young people, for they are the seed corn of the church of tomorrow. During the coming fall and winter Dr. Taylor will continue the Friday night class for young people and will have as the topic of study "The Life of Christ." These courses cover a period of four years.

Old Testament history, the life of Christ, the early Christian church as found in the Acts and Epistles, and church history from the crucifixion of Christ to the present time is being written out by Dr. Taylor for future use as text books for church schools and colleges.

Mission Official Plans To Speak in Capital

The Washington District of Potomac Presbyterial of the Southern Presbyterian Church will meet at Floris Church, Herndon, Va., next Thursday.

Rev. Wilfley to Speak At Open-Air Services

Open-air religious services will be held at Temple Heights at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, directed by the Rev. Dr. John C. Palmer, chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Masons. The Rev. BAPTISTS STAGING CAPITAL REVIVAL

Rev. Jose Jeffers, of Alabama, Is Holding Preparatory Services.

TENT WILL BE USED

A real sky pilot is in Washington, holding a revival at Temple Baptist Church, Tenth and N streets northwest. He holds a license from the Department of Commerce. He has piloted many planes, many places, and he is the first man to carry an airship aloft to the heavens and hold a service in it, a service that was broadcast through a microphone to waiting thousands below. This was done at St. Louis, whence that other famed pilot, "The Lone Eagle," comes. The pilot is the Rev. Joe Jeffers, of Alabama and Texas.

Mr. Jeffers lives across the street in his home town from Senator Tom Heflin. That, however, is just an incident in his life. He is a first cousin of Lamar Jeffers, the Alabama representative. That, too, is one of the things that will happen to any man. His own claim to fame is that he is a soul winner. That he gets from the grace of God that rests in his heart.

Down South they say that the Baptists are the only simon pure, 100 per cent, hellfire Christians—that is, that they have both hands tight on the Throne of Grace and refuse to let loose one finger. Within recent years they have been stirred by a mighty evangelistic spirit, and have filled their pulpits with men of this type and have sent into the fields evangelists burning with a zeal for lost souls. "Go," was the command, and they go.

For one week now Mr. Jeffers has been holding a preparatory service at Temple Church for Dr. Thomas E. Boorde, the pastor. It will go on there one week longer and then will move into a big tent, to be set up in some central point. Practically all of the Baptist churches and their pastors in the city are cooperating in this revival, which has as some of its features an old-time mourners' bench, something probably no citizen of Washington has ever seen, and among the class of those who go to the mourners' bench are the "seekers."

A "seeker" is one who hasn't "come through;" and when you get religion and come through, you are then a Christian.

Dr. Boorde stated to the Church Page that the time is ripe for a great revival in Washington, and that the meeting would go on indefinitely. He expects to see his tent crowded with mourners and the mourners' bench crowded with people crying for salvation. If what has occurred in other places—in Decatur, Ill., and Jonesboro, Ark., for instance—occurs here, this will be a shouting revival, something Washington has not seen since long before the Civil War.—D. R. B.

Church of Covenant Will Resume Classes

The Sunday School of the Church of the Covenant, will resume in all departments at 9:45 tomorrow. Meeting with the All Comers men's class tomorrow and hereafter will be the former men's classes of the First Presbyterian Church.

At 6:30 the Christian Endeavor Society will hold its first tea and fellowship hour of the season, followed by meeting at 7, and at the same hours the Tip Top Club, an organization of young men and girls in their "teens," will reassemble.

St. Paul Men's Campaign.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at St. Paul's Church, the Men's Club will open its fall membership campaign. "Get Your Man!" is the slogan adopted. E. H. De Groot, Sunday School superintendent of National Baptist Memorial Church, will address the meeting on "Why a Men's Club?"

BISHOP TO OBSERVE EPISCOPATE YEAR

Right Rev. James E. Freeman Will Celebrate Seventh Anniversary Monday.

SPENT SUMMER ABROAD

By ELISABETH E. POE.

Freshly inspired for his high office by attendance at the Lambeth conference, when 300 Anglican bishops assembled in London to discuss questions of faith and order in the church and from preaching a notable series of sermons in ancient British cathedrals, the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, D. D., LL. D., third Bishop of Washington, will celebrate the seventh anniversary of his consecration Monday in the midst of his devoted clergy and people.

Bishop Freeman was consecrated on Michaelmas, 1923, in Epiphany Church, in this city, where he had held a successful rectorate for several years. In accordance with his custom, Bishop Freeman will preach his anniversary sermon at Epiphany Church at 11 a. m. on Monday. He will also preach at the people's open-air evensong in Washington Cathedral Close tomorrow at 4 p. m. At the close of this service Bishop Freeman will stand at the foot of the Peace Cross to greet personally any of his friends who may wish to extend their best wishes on this happy anniversary.

During his recent visit to England Bishop Freeman was chosen as preacher at the 800th anniversary of the building of the Norman choir of Canterbury Cathedral, and he also spoke at Winchester and Chester Cathedrals. He was a speaker at the anniversary celebration of the Diocese of Liverpool and attended the reopening of St. Paul's Cathedral, London. He had the honor of being the first American bishop to broadcast a message overseas from London to the United States.

Bishop Freeman has returned filled with enthusiasm about the future of the Diocese of Washington and the rapid completion of Washington Cathedral. Speaking yesterday of the state of the diocese, Bishop Freeman expressed great satisfaction in its steady progress, saying that, in addition to its physical development and large building operations, there has been a fine and steady spiritual growth. "Quite apart from the fine loyalty of the clergy," he said, "we have a body of lay men and women who are the pride of the church. During my seven years' service as bishop, I can say without qualification that I have had the loyal and devoted support of every rector and layman throughout the diocese."

Capital Lutherans To Attend Meeting

Seven Washingtonians to Go to October Convention in Milwaukee.

Three conventions which are to claim the world-wide attention of the Lutheran denominations are soon to be held in this country. One of these is the seventh biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church, which will meet in Milwaukee from October 7 to 14; another is the national convention of the Lutheran Brotherhood to be held in the same city immediately preceding the church convention, and the third is the biennial convention of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church to be held in Racine, Wis., from October 2 to 7, inclusive.

The Maryland Synod, which is one of the constituent synods of this great body, will be represented by ten clerical and ten lay delegates, four of whom are from this city, namely, Dr. John Weidley, Dr. Richard Schmidt, L. Russell Alden and Dr. Harry T. Domer. Other Washingtonians who will be in attendance are Dr. Henry W. Snyder, Dr. N. J. Gould Wickey and Arthur P. Black.

A feature of the convention of the Women's Missionary Society will be a pageant, entitled "Time Will Tell," written by Mrs. Henry W. Snyder, of this city. Mrs. Snyder will also direct it. The leading parts will be taken by the various secretaries of the national society, and by Miss Edith Stowell, of this city.

Voluntary Choir Organized.

Washington City Church of the Brethren has organized a large voluntary choir, which has been placed under the direction of Mr. Fisher of Peabody Conservatory of Music at Baltimore. Even now it has begun rehearsals of its Christmas program.

BAPTIST.

G. O. P. IN MICHIGAN AVOIDS PROHIBITION

Gov. Green and Others Tell Convention That Subject Is Not Issue.

PART OF TICKET NAMED

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 26 (A.P.)—Michigan Republicans in their post-primary State convention today accepted the dictum of their leaders that prohibition is not a political issue and ignored it in drafting a platform for the coming State and congressional campaigns.

Their silence in effect, however, makes an issue with the Democrats, who last week declared in favor of a national referendum on the subject.

The Republican platform favored further restrictions of immigration until unemployment has been relieved; advocated old-age pensions, and asked a "reasonable tariff on copper." It also indorsed the project to build a memorial in honor of the founding of the Republican party at Jackson, Mich., one of the cities claiming to be the party's birthplace.

The convention was dominated by the supporters of Wilber M. Brucker, attorney general, who in the recent primary won the nomination for governor on the face of returns with a plurality of 4,726. Alex J. Groesbeck, former governor, his nearest opponent, obtained a recount, which, delayed by court procedure, still was under way today. The lack of an official leader led to some confusion, but the Brucker forces, supported by Gov. Fred W. Green, easily nominated the candidates for minor offices. They are Frank Fitzgerald, secretary of state; Paul W. Voorhies, attorney general; Howard C. Lawrence, State treasurer, and O. B. Fuller, auditor general. Lieut. Gov. Luren B. Dickinson won the nomination for reelection in the primary.

Gov. Green, as keynote speaker, declared that prohibition is not a political issue and denounced the Democratic declaration as a plan to catch votes. Similar views were expressed by other speakers.

Man May Die, Others Hurt in Bus Crash

Northeast, Md., Sept. 26 (A.P.)—Several passengers on a Philadelphia Rapid Transit Co. bus, bound for the races at Havre De Grace, were injured as the conveyance upset today on a curve just outside this community. George Jolly, of Camden, N. J., was taken to a hospital with injuries which physicians said might be fatal.

Another at a hospital was Waverly Weeks, of New York. Between 40 and 50 persons were in the bus. Motorists took the most seriously hurt to hospitals at Havre de Grace and Elkton, Md.

heavy attacks and escaping undamaged.

As in previous cases the American vessels were subjected to fire from shore as they patrolled that section of the river which has been infested with pirates and other marauders for months.

The U. S. S. Guam fought an artillery duel with a battery of Red field guns hidden along the shore 190 miles above Hankow. The Guam opened up with her 3-inch guns amid a shower of Red cannon fire, and then brought machine guns into play. The Red attack stopped and the Guam proceeded unscathed, due to the poor marksmanship of the attackers.

Proceeding down the river, the U. S. S. Oahu ran into a battery of Red field guns a few miles above Kiukiang. The marauders raked the river with heavy fire. Speeding up her engines and bringing her machine guns into action, the Oahu raced to safety. She peppered the shore line with bullets, silencing the shore battery.

True bills charging conspiracy were reported voted today by the grand jury against three members of the Flat Janitors' Union, Thomas Biggy, a picket, and Dan Kerwin and Patrick Heapey, unemployed janitors. Their bonds were fixed at $5,000 each. Prosecutors had received complaints that the janitors had threatened to bomb the home of a 55-year-old widow who insisted she was not financially able to employ a janitor in her apartment building.

CRISIS ON PROHIBITION SEEN BY METHODIST CONFERENCE

preach politics, but believe that the church and her ministry can no longer afford to be partisan, nor should they be intimidated by certain subtle influences who in any and every crisis of local and national importance seek by such means to hush the mouths of those who would cry aloud and spare not.

"The moral law is the highest law and must prevail. We first of all ought to be Christian. Let us teach our people that the right of franchise is sacred and urge them to vote their convictions as children of God.

"The Methodist Church in its several branches has been severely criticized during recent months for so-called lobbying and dabbling in politics. We are unafraid in the face of such accusations for we are sure that they come from enemies of moral righteousness who are not patriotic and are unchristian.

"We believe that the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Law to be practical and within the range of possibility, but we are aware that in many sections the law is being nullified by the treachery and the fanatacism of officers whose duty it is to enforce the law. Education sems to be the greatest need in this respect. Let the home, the school and the church teach prohibition and in a generation there will be a transformation.

"We urge our ministers to observe great care in marrying divorced couples. Let us surround the altar of marriage with all the sacredness at our command. The divorce evil is a terrible monster that strikes at the very heart of our nation—the American home."

Three addresses, one by a clergyman who is a party to recent charges against Bishop James Cannon, jr., marked the session. One of four ministers in the denomiantion who have brought charges of an unrevealed character against the bishop, the Rev. Costen J. Harrell, pastor of the Monument Avenue Church, in Richmond, in his talk before a packed auditorium of churchmen, laymen and delegates said that "we can prevent these controversies from turning our minds from our chief business—that of feeding man's inner life.

Refraining from mentioning Bishop Cannon's name, he said that he supposed controversies "must be, because we are human." He took as his theme the importance of books in the development of a spiritual life.

Bishop McDowell Is Heard.

Dr. George Morelock, of Nashville, Tenn., following a talk he made at the afternoon meeting in representing the denomination's general commission on benevolences, addressed a large audience last night. Bishop William F. McDowell, of Washington, senior bishop of the Methodist Church North, also made a short talk during the morning meeting on the subject, "Pentecost."

The conference, upon the recommendation of the eight presiding elders, passed the characters of the 235 member clergymen upon the reading of their names by Bishop W. B. Beauchamp, ranking ellcesiastic of the group.

Seven young ministers, who have completed a four-year service as traveling preachers, were elected elders, with their ordinations set for Sunday morning at the church. They are Harold H. Hoyt, of the Alexandria district; Charles Roy Curtis, of the Baltimore district; Emory Wilson Jordan, of the Rockingham district; Edwin Samuels Sheppe, jr., Edward Byrnes Cook and William James Elliott, of the Roanoke district, and Harry Stockton Myerly, of the Washington district, a resident of Beltsville.

The conference retired six elderly clergymen upon recommendation. They were the Rev. G. D. Kidner, of Middleburg, Va.; the Rev. W. H. Ballengee, of Goldsboro, Md.; the Rev. J. L. Thomas, of Elk Garden, W. Va.; the Rev. H. L. Bivins, of Beltsville, Md.; the Rev. A. B. Sites, of Buchanan, Va., and the Rev. C. H. Shaw, of La Plata, Md.

GERMAN CHANCELLOR MAY BE DICTATOR

Appeal to Deputies Today, if Not Indorsed, Likely to Bring Action.

NO YIELDING TO HITLER.

sons close to Dr. Breuning said he would find some way of putting his policies through without the assistance of the Reichstag. Just what card the chancellor had up his sleeve he would not divulge, but let it be known he considered it his duty not to yield to the group of disgruntled ones swept into the Reichstag in Germany's hour of economic depression.

In other words, Dr. Bruening seems determined to be a dictator in fact, if not in name, if necessary.

Reviewing Hitler's testimony in Lipezig, German politicians found today that the Fascist chief had proclaimed as his goal the erection of a "current empire," but apparently his followers, and even Hitler himself, did not know just what form it is to assume.

It seemed certain, however, that the Hohenzollerns are not slated to play a role in the Kitler third empire. This is apparent both from the Fascist leader's utterances on the witness stand and from the attitude of German monarchists, who have been quick to deny that any Hohenzollern has allied himself with or joined Hitler's movement.

Case Stated By Hitler.

Hitler stated the case for the third empire thus:

"For us, the old German empire, which ended in 1918, was a highly honorable state for which we fought and a state of glorious events, but was so constructed that the conception of the people did not form its very core. The second state, founded in 1918, placed democracy and pacifism in the foreground. The hope is for the third empire, all of whose institutions will be devoted to keeping nationalism alive."

The judges of the Leipsic Court made repeated attempts to get Hitler to explain his meaning of the third empire, but Hitler kept on replying to their questions in abstruse terms, giving the impression he did not know himself.

That Hitler does not intend to erect a monarchy would seem evident from the statement he made after the election of September 13, when asked whether he would form a coalition with the Hugenburg Nationalists who are avowedly monarchistic.

"We National Socialists are a social revolutionary party," Hitler asserted, "while the German Nationalists are social-reactionaries. This difference constitutes a chasm that can not be bridged."

Royal Paper Angered.

This differentiation from the Nationalists excited the ire of the Hohenzollern house organ, "Der Aufrechte" (The Upright), which observed, "We do not like it much, that Hitler's first word after election concerning the Nationalists is one of turning away from them. Many of his voters will not approve that he stressed the social-revolutionary character of his movements." The paper, throughout the campaign, supported the German Nationalists and proclaimed that Field Marshal von Mackensen, Admiral von Schroeder, Gen. von Mudra and other World War leaders all supported that party.

By way of further preventing the Monarchists from voting for Hitler Der Aufrechte, one week before election, said editorially that Hitler's newspaper, Morgen Voelkischer Beobachter, stated, "The National Socialist party has no objection to a republic as such. Moreover, a republic, as a form of state, corresponds to the innermost conviction of a great section of our party comrades."

Several of the Hohenzollern princes, notably Eitel Friedrich and August Wilhelm, are ardent members of the Stahlheim, the steel helmet organization, considered too weak by the Fascists. When, on the day after election, a rumor was spread that the former crown prince was about to join the Fascists his adjutant major, Von Mueldner, quickly issued a formal denial.

Welcome Hitler's Act.

The Hohenzollerns, so far as known, welcome Hitler's Fascist movement as upsetting the republican applecart, but do not intend for one moment that Hitler shall take command in case a revolution proves successful.

Party bias largely governs provincial press reaction to the Hitler situation. The Liberal Koelnische Zeitung warns that never since 1918 has there been a more critical hour for Germany than the present, "nor one more full of opportunity for a real leader."

The newspaper continues: "The danger of a working merger of radicals looms colossal on the horizon."

Reaction among Berlin's afternoon newspapers was along party lines. The democratic Achtuhrblatt embellishes ironic comments on Hitler with a cartoon of him as an executioner leaning proudly on an ax. The cartoon carries the title "Legal!"

The editorial ridicules Hitler's intentions "legally" to scramble the framework of the republic and build an entirely new state.

Publication today of the official Reichstag election returns in East Prussia, where the economic depression is the worst in Germany, shows the Fascists as the largest party. They polled 236,507 votes compared with the Socialists' 221,924; German Nationalists, 205,738, and Communists, 124,375.

Europe Watching Hitler.

London, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The chancelleries of Europe are watching Adolf Hitler, the Fascist strong man of Germany.

Unofficial observers, in the absence of official comment, admit that the German situation is fraught with serious constitutional possibilities. The fabric of postwar Europe is interwoven with treaties that resulted from the World War.

It is pointed out, however, that the National Socialist leader and prophet must yet consolidate his political successes and that he himself admits that two or three more elections must be held before heads begin to "roll in the sand."

FASCISM IS ISSUE IN DE ROSA'S TRIAL

Italian Student Is Accused of Attempting Assassination of Prince Umberto.

WAR HINT LAID TO ITALY

Brussels, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The dark, granite figure of Mussolini rather than the fair slim young man in the dock filled men's minds today at the trial of Fernando de Rosa, young Italian student, for the attempted assassination of the Italian crown prince in Brussels last October.

"It is the Fascist rule that is being tried," declared De Rosa's counsel, at the end of an impassioned speech.

Prominent Italian anti-Fascists and Belgian liberals have taken the witness stand to suggest that Fasciam being what, in their view, it is, De Rosa's action was natural to an emotional young man who is also a patriot. But according to the public prosecutor, Fasciam has nothing whatever to do with the case. He insists the purpose of the trial is to determine whether De Rosa attempted to assassinate Prince Umberto and declared the evidence showed clearly the youth did attempt such a crime.

To this declaration the defense counsel replied that, on the contrary, De Rosa obviously did not intend to kill the prince, since he was too far from the royal visitor when he fired the shot to make a reasonable attempt against his life. Furthermore, the defense pointed out De Rosa did not fire a second shot.

The belief that the Mussolini government is preparing for war on both sides of the Albanian border as well as along the Alps was expressed at the trial by one of the Belgian witnesses, Senator Louis de Brouckere president of the aviation commission at Geneva. Senator de Brouckere said he based his conclusions on observations he made personally while he was a member of an official mission on disarmament.

German nationalists, he declared, would not behave as they are if they were not assured of support by the Fascists.

Japanese Committee Approves Navy Treaty

Tokyo, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The privy council's examination committee at its final session today adopted a report approving the London Naval Treaty without qualification of any kind.

The report now goes to the plenary session of the privy council scheduled for Octob 1, when, in the presence of the emporor, the council is expected to advise the sovereign to ratify the treaty. The councilors' approval, removing the last obstacle to Japan's ratification, is a foregone conclusion. The committee session of September 17 revealed by government's unyielding insistance had overriden the opposition.

REPUBLICAN SUICIDE.

The Republicans of New York have insured the defeat of their State ticket by adopting a wet plank and nominating Charles H. Tuttle for governor. He resigned as United States district attorney and espoused the wet cause in time to be nominated, while in the same breath declaring that he was forced to retire from office in order to return to private practice.

Thus, by trying to outwet the wets and by putting up a candidate who is subject to the charge that he has changed his opinions in order to obtain office, the Republicans of New York State invite the rebuke that comes to those who try to fool the people.

The plank adopted yesterday at Albany advocates repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It does so in language that insults the intelligence of voters. It harps upon the necessity of obeying the law and inveighs against the saloon evil, and then advocates a scheme that can not be regarded as anything else than a plan to set up the State of New York as a liquor dealer. In order to reassure other States that New York would not flood them with liquor, the platform suggests that the proposed new constitutional amendment shall contain a provision "guaranteeing Federal cooperation and assistance to States which have prohibition in whole or in part."

Under this plan, instead of cooperating with New York State in stamping out the liquor traffic, the Federal Government would be expected to treat the New York State government as a bootlegger, and stand guard against the smuggling of that government's liquor into other States.

Nothing is said in the platform as to the method whereby New York State would conduct the liquor business. Presumably a liquor department would be created, with an executive elected by the people. As private traffic would be barred, the State would doubtless provide convenient places for the dispensing of liquor. The management of the State distilleries and breweries, and the leasing and operation of the State dispensaries would open up splendid opportunities for graft. If the grafters should leave anything in the State treasury as profits from the liquor business the State doubtless could use these funds for other eleemosynary purposes.

Naturally, New York Republicans who have not completely lost their senses will refuse to support the crazy and hypocritical plan advanced by the Albany convention. The confirmed drys may put up a ticket of their own, in which case Mr. Tuttle's goose will be doubly cooked. The moderates, who are sincerely trying to solve the national liquor problem, will not stomach the idea of substituting the State of New York for individual bootleggers. These moderates perceive that the plan proposed at Albany will arouse the scorn and derision of the other States. It offers no solution of the national problem, and even if it should be adopted by New York State it would not hasten by one day the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. If it has any effect at all outside of New York it will stiffen the attitude of those States that are determined that the eighteenth amendment shall not be repealed. There are enough of the States to make repeal a practical impossibility.

So the New York Republican convention's work is in vain.

REVISED GAS RATES.

Except for the comparative few whose gas bills have been less than 75 cents a month, and whose bills will be raised to this figure as the minimum charge, every one seems destined to benefit from the new rate scale approved this week by the Public Utilities Commission. The move for the reduction was inaugurated by the gas company itself. The commission was called upon to satisfy itself that the proposed scale was in reality a reduction and that it hid no jokers whereby one or more classes of users would be called upon to pay for reductions granted to others. The commission's formal approval stands as a guarantee that the company had no ulterior motive in proposing the reduction, and should serve to reassure the small group that viewed the move with suspicion.

What prompted the gas company to propose a reduction? It is not in business for altruistic purposes, and there must be an explanation of why it is willing to forego an annual loss in revenues estimated by its engineers at $360,000. The answer is that the company seeks to apply to its business the principles of volume selling and mass production that have proved so beneficial to modern industry. It hopes to stimulate the consumption of gas in Washington until the $360,000 loss will be wiped out and even greater profits will result. That the reductions probably will have this effect is indicated from the experience of gas companies in other cities.

There are two fields in which the demand for gas promises to expand, provided gas companies are able to meet cost competition. One is the refrigeration field, and the other is that of home and industrial heating. Heretofore, the cost of gas has kept the public from installing gas refrigerators and heating units, but the reduced rates will permit the gas company to compete in the refrigeration and heating fields on more nearly equal terms. If, in time, gas refrigeration and gas heating prove popular and the consumption of gas increases as a result, further reductions in the gas rate may be anticipated. With the approval of the reduced schedule the gas company enters upon an experiment that may result in far-reaching benefit to the general public.

TAMMANY TACTICS.

The sensitive feelings of Tammany's chieftains are making difficulties for the grand jury in its investigation into the alleged sale of judgeships in New York. A Tammany leader has been indicted for receiving $10,000 from Mrs. George F. Ewald just prior to the appointment of her husband as a city magistrate. Yet the Tiger refuses to be involved in the affair, and is covering up his retreat with indignant charges of insult.

The special grand jury is trying to expose the system by which Tammany is alleged to require substantial monetary rewards from appointees to judicial positions. Mayor Walker has called upon all city officials to aid in exposing corruption. Yet when Charles L. Kohler, director of the budget and one of the powers of Tammany, was asked to waive immunity in his testimony before the grand jury, he cried with a loud voice that he had been insulted and refused to testify. James F. Curry, leader of Tammany Hall, had previously set this example, and it has been followed by the rank and file of Tammany chiefs.

The Supreme Court has ruled that all good citizens are bound by duty to aid in enforcement of the law, and that no one has the right to shield the guilty under the pretext of protecting his own good name. Gov. Roosevelt has announced that, if reelected, he will seek legislation that would forbid public officials to invoke the rules of immunity on the ground that they might incriminate themselves. Tammany can not hope to smother a scandal that has reached the proportions of the Ewald-Healy case. For the present the grand jury has been frustrated, but the refusal of Tammany chieftains to testify can only add fuel to the flame of public opinion that is threatening the Tiger.

Every turn in the investigation of the sale of judgeships in New York makes the situation appear more ominous. Prominent city officials and the powers behind Tammany Hall have chosen to align themselves on the side of the indicted former magistrate. They are lending influence to the movement that would clamp the lid down on corruption and keep it from the public gaze. Their very efforts to curb the whirlwind may draw them into its vortex.

TWELVE YEARS AGO.

Twelve years ago today Foch was obeying strictly the maxim of war not to begin more than one offensive at a time without stabilizing the line and checking the results.

With the exception of a small offensive to free Rheims from possibility of enemy attack, all was quiet on the western front. Nine armies were held in leash, waiting the results obtained by the groups of armies under Pershing and Gouraud in their assault which began September 26, 1918, on the enemy armies under Gens. von Einem and Von der Marwitz and the remnants of armies under Gen. Fuchs.

Pershing and Gouraud met with violent resistance. They faced well-organized counterattacks. Some of the ground taken from the enemy was retaken by him, and had to be captured a second time before Pershing and Gouraud could stabilize the battle line. Their advancing armies came immediately under the destructive fire of the enemy heavy artillery located on the heights of the Meuse River and in the region of Grand Pre. The enemy had control of the air and easily spotted the shots of his artillery. The supply roads of Pershing and Gouraud were "scorched" by enemy shells until at times they looked like strips of boiling mush.

The stabilized gain of Pershing and Gouraud for the first 24 hours averaged about two miles. Jointly they captured 17,000 prisoners and a large number of machine guns, trench mortars and minenwerfers.

REGULATION OF BUSES.

The bus accident at Hybla Valley, in which 21 were injured, indicates a need for more rigid enforcement of the regulations applying to vehicles of this type on the part of the Virginia highway and motor vehicle authorities. Not many months ago a series of accidents involving buses occurred in Maryland, in the investigation of which it was brought out that the carriers were driven in total disregard of the speed regulations or the rights of private motorists, and that some of them were permitted to start out with defective brakes, headlights and other equipment. The Maryland authorities at that time announced a general tightening up of the restrictions and regulations pertaining to bus operation, and for a while the situation improved. Lately, however, it is reported that buses again are being driven recklessly and at excessive rates of speed in Maryland.

The Virginia accident is to be made the subject of several investigations. Pending their completion, judgment as to the cause and responsibility should be reserved. So far as the general situation in Virginia is concerned, however, it is obvious to those who motor in the Old Dominion that buses are being operated in such a way as to endanger the safety of their occupants and that of the public on the highway.

The bus is a common carrier. Its operation should be surrounded with stringent restrictions looking toward the safety of the public. The Hybla Valley accident should focus public attention upon the need for tightening up the regulations pertaining to the operation of buses.

William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard, gives the incoming freshmen assurance that they will not be accused of having "poor spirit" if they "prefer" to go to the library instead of to football games. In view of the nature of freshmen this will go down as the year's most subtle plea for support from the bleachers.

DEMOCRACY'S BOLD PLAN

By EVERETT C. WATKINS,
In Washington Dispatch to Indianapolis Star.

The Democratic party, as represented by its national leaders, gives every indication of pressing repeal of Federal prohibition as the issue in the 1932 presidential campaign.

Taking the wet side of the ever-present prohibition question, the Democratic leaders consider their "chance" to elect a President lies in capturing the wet Eastern States, with large electoral votes, plus the South.

The plan is to nominate a wet Protestant. The dominant figure at this time is Gov. Franklin Roosevelt, New York. There is at this time no other Democrat, assuming he is reelected in November to a second term as governor, who can successfully challenge him in the 1932 Democratic national convention.

Roosevelt recently declared for "repeal" of the eighteenth amendment. He had long talked about the "power trust" as an issue, but got no reaction from that topic. He finally had to take a stand on what the people of New York State are thinking and talking about—prohibition.

To remain in the presidential picture it is essential that Roosevelt be reelected as governor. And to win the governorship contest he was advised he must declare for repeal of the eighteenth amendment lest the Republicans of the State beat him to the issue.

John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, rushed into print with an indorsement of Roosevelt's stand. So did other Democratic leaders of the East. They practically indorsed Roosevelt for the presidential nomination.

Roosevelt will press his "repeal issue" to win another term as governor. Following his reelection as governor, Roosevelt will step into the role of presidential candidate and then is likely to soft pedal on prohibition lest too much repeal talk might defeat him in the 1932 national convention.

The Democratic party managers figure that Al Smith lost Southern Democratic States in the 1928 contest not because of his anti-prohibition views, but because of his religious faith. They figure that Roosevelt, wet, but Protestant, could hold the South in line. The South, plus Eastern States that are admittedly wet in sentiment, would give Roosevelt his chance to land in the White House. That is the theory of the Roosevelt sponsors.

Present managers of the Democratic party, as a national organization, believe the wet sentiment has crystallized sufficiently to give them "repeal" as a winning presidential issue. It's a daring chance the dominant wet wing of the Democratic party is willing to take.

Gov. Albert Ritchie, Maryland, who probably will be elected this fall for a fourth term, is again a prospective presidential nominee, but Roosevelt is the present choice for standard bearer. Ritchie also is an opponent of Federal prohibition.

It's the old story—somebody can't be beaten with nobody.

There is at this time no one in the Democratic party who can best Franklin Roosevelt. Arkansas Democrats recently made a gesture in indorsing Senator Joseph T. Robinson, the "dry" running mate of the wet Al Smith of the 1928 contest.

The Democrats, should they press "repeal" for the 1932 issue as now appears likely, would abandon hope of carrying Central and Western States (they think they have no chance in those States anyhow) but would concentrate on the populous Eastern States and take a chance on the South (dry-voting but wet-drinking South) remaining regular this time.

To nominate a "repealer" for President represents a bold stroke—even bolder than the nomination of Al Smith—but that's the present program of those in charge of the Democratic national party.

The Democratic party, if it is ever to elect a President again, can afford to take big chances—it has everything to gain, nothing to lose.

JUST FOLKS

CAREER.

He wanted money and wanted praise,
And wanted fame ere he came to die.
He followed them ever along the ways,
Never the purpose escaped his eye.

This he did for the sake of gold,
That he did for the world's acclaim;
Now with furious strokes and bold
He ventured all for the wreath of fame.

But never were money nor praise forgot,
Never was glory out of his mind,
Time and labor he wasted not
In being friendly or being kind.

Rich was he at the end of it all,
Praised he'd been for his deeds of skill,
Fame had entered him in her hall,
But life seemed empty and worthless still.

Who works for himself may wealth attain,
Praise and fame may his deeds attend.
But who sometimes serves without thought of gain
Will happier be at the journey's end.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY dear Louise: Boys and girls you know will soon be called upon to testify in court concerning a tragedy.

By rare good fortune you escaped being a witness in this case, but in a world where tragedies are many you never know when you will be required to face a jury and tell what you have seen.

If ever you face that ordeal your character will be tried in the fire. Your own opinions, the prejudice of friends and every influence of scheming partisans will tempt you to warp or conceal the truth.

And whether you finish the ordeal unblemished or carry moral scars to your grave will depend on the degree of your reverence for that which is true.

Truth, my dear, is the most important thing in the world.

It is the foundation of all science. All commerce depends upon it. Our whole system of law would be useless without it. It is the very life of our schools and colleges. It is the goal of all research and study. Without it our civilization would perish within a year.

For countless generations good and wise men have searched for truth, yet even now the world knows but a small fraction of it. Ignorant men and those without imagination think all truth is known, for they think they understand what they take for granted, but the learned are aware that the great body of truth remains hidden and they devote their lives to finding it.

When men know the truth it will make them free. They will no longer fear the unknown; they will no longer make war; understanding and compassion will replace suspicion and envy and malice.

It is ignorance that causes nearly all of man's troubles. It is truth on which he must depend for his ultimate perfection.

That should help you to understand why people fear and despise and avoid one who tells untruths. He is a traitor. He is like one who poisons the well from which all must drink. He destroys that on which all of us must depend.

Nothing matters except truth. It is the one thing that will live through eternity. It is the one thing to which you can cling in safety. It survives all attacks and at last saves those who depend on it.

If you hold fast to truth and scorn the untrue you will come out on top as surely as water runs down hill.

I want you to revere and follow truth, no matter where it leads, for at last it leads to honor and intellectual freedom. Love, DAD.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ELMER TWITCHELL ON THE SALOON

"Every time I hear a strange noise these days I look around and find it is some governor or candidate for governor coming out for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment," mused Elmer Twitchell, "but what gets me is that they all go at great lengths to look with professed horror on the return of the old-fashioned saloon.

• • • •

"I suppose you've noticed it. No public man denounces prohibition without declaring that the return of anything like Grogan's place would break their hearts. Well, it hands me a laugh.

• • • •

"The saloon had its bad points, but, compared to the speakeasies and hideaways of today, it was almost a church. And it at least had a little sunlight, a reasonable amount of fresh air and some fairly good conversation. You seldom got poisoned in it, and the proprietor wasn't the type of man whose good fellowship was limited to a desire to keep you from dying on the premises.

• • • •

"What I am looking for is a public man with the courage to come out for the repeal of prohibition and the return of the saloon. The way to kill the saloon for all time is to let it return. There would be a great rush to get into it the minute it reopened, and there would be a great kick for a few hours in looking at the art calenders, shaking hands with an honest proprietor and swapping stories with a bartender who wasn't a hired gunman. But, after that, there would be a reaction.

• • • •

"Our drinkers have been sneaking through dark corridors, tapping on doors, exchanging curious countersigns and paying exorbitant prices for terrible stuff in unventilated dumps so long that they just couldn't stand walking openly into a sanitary place and getting a good drink for a quarter.

• • • •

"What's more, the average American has developed the membership card habit. Under prohibition you're not a customer of a speakeasy. Oh, no. You're a member. You get an engraved card. You feel important when you give three knocks on the door and show it to the man who removes the iron chain and lets you in. Well, suppose the old saloon returned? Do you think the millions of Americans who have been toting membership cards all these years could endure getting a drink in a place where they wouldn't even be asked to show one?

• • • •

"Let the old-fashioned saloon return," concluded Mr. Twitchell with emotion. "It would die in a coupla weeks on account of striking the drinking public as too frank, too honest, too decent."

THE EXCEPTION.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

"Case Dismissed!" But What Redress Has the Motorist Who Was Penalized for Rushing a Child to the Hospital.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A child is badly burned. A motorist, passing, is hailed and asked to rush her to a hospital. He gladly complies, and sounding his horn, rushes toward the hospital.

Half the distance is covered when two policemen place the motorist under arrest, charging him with driving recklessly. The motorist is escorted first to the hospital, then to the lock-up. He is entered on the police blotter as a reckless driver and required to post $25 collateral.

That the officers, having seen the car speeding and crossing on a red light, were justified in stopping the motorist, is not open to doubt. But when informed that the child was badly burned they should not only have let the motorist go, but one of them should have stood on the running board and done all he could to expedite arrival at the hospital.

The motorist engages a lawyer. The case is explained and the judge promptly dismisses the defendant and rebukes the arresting officers for their overzealousness.

What redress has the motorist? He has suffered the humiliation of arrest. He is on record as a reckless driver. He had to post $25 collateral. He had to hire a lawyer. He had to miss a day's work. For what? For doing a humanitarian act.

It is unfortunate that the law provides no redress for individuals in such cases as this. W. P. EVANS.

"Square Deal" Insists That if Liquor Is to Be Legalized the Saloon Must Be Restored, for the Convenience of the Poor Man.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: As the chorus for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment gets louder the attempt is once more made to lull us with the old refrain, "But the saloon must not be restored."

Yet how the demands of the thirst of the proletariat are to be satisfied by restoring booze without places in which it may be consumed is something which no man can find out.

Perhaps those who heed the promise of politicians that the saloon must remain padlocked may have an idea that under the new deal the delights of imbibing booze will be confined to an anointed few in the homes of the rich.

They fool themselves. Booze can not be restored without restoring the saloon. If the speakeasy is a source of enforcement tribulation under prohibition, how much more difficult will be the suppression of the saloon when liquor is legalized.

The enforcement of absolute prohibition is less difficult than would be the attempt to confine the consumption of liquor to the home and the exclusive club. Trust the distillers and brewers to find some way to reach their customers. If you legalize the liquor traffic you must permit saloons to dispense liquor to those who don't belong to clubs. Don't try to squeeze out the poor man. SQUARE DEAL.

American Producers Unable to Compete With Russian Slave Labor.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I write to congratulate and thank you for your editorial, "Soviet War Methods."

As I am in the lumber business, I know that 70 to 80 per cent of all sawmills in the South are closed down now and that many of these mills have been closed for many months, because the lumber made by them can not be sold at production cost anywhere in the United States. Millions of capital and thousands of workers are idle while Russian lumber is being dumped into this country by the shipload.

This same condition prevails in the pulp wood industry in Virginia, bringing idleness and poverty to several thousand workers in this State.

Knowing this, our Government has done nothing to correct the situation.

Your editorial is splendid, but you fail to stress the fact that the timber from which this Russian lumber and pulp wood is made cost the Russian government nothing, having been stolen from the people.

This country can not compete with stolen raw material and convict or forced labor, and if our Government does not remedy this condition or competition, then the people should establish at Washington a government which will protect our people.

I am not writing this letter for publication, but am sure it expresses the views of a majority of our voters (Senator Glass not included), and you may print it if you like.

Proposals to Ban All-Night Parking Contrary to Prosperity Program, Says W. A. Murray.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The proposed ban on all-night parking, favored by wealthy motorists, strikes me as foolish. My great objection to it is that it will hurt people with small incomes and at the same time be of no benefit to the public at large.

When the ban is put in force and the apartment people and other victims are paying garage rent or building garages, the delicatessen stores and every kind of business will suffer accordingly. This does not seem to fit in with President Hoover's prosperity program.

The way I look at it is, until we get rid of the awful daylight jam in the center of the city, we had better leave well enough alone in the outskirts.

W. A. MURRAY.

High Time for Americans to Wake Up to Russian Communist Menace.

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: You are to be congratulated—in fact, every red-blooded, loyal American citizen who loves his country and the principles on which our Government was founded—owes you a debt of gratitude for your editorial entitled "Soviet War Methods."

It is high time American citizens should wake up to the Russian menace, which not only threatens the welfare of our country, but is gradually developing into a menace to the governments of the entire civilized world.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Gen. Gouraud Will Receive U. S. Honors

"Lion of Champagne" Is to Arrive in Capital October 3.

THE "Lion of Champagne," Gen. Henri Gouraud, who is on his way to this country to attend the American Legion convention in Boston, will spend three days in Washington before setting forth with the legionnaires for their annual meeting. Gen. Gouraud, military governor of Paris, is a passenger on the Ile de France with the French Ambassador, M. Paul Claudel. They are expected to reach Washington on October 3 and that evening M. Claudel will give a dinner in honor of Gen. Gouraud, with a distinguished group of diplomats and officials asked to meet him. Ladies will be included at this fete, the first to be held at the embassy following the ambassador's return.

Three times previously Gen. Gouraud has been sent to represent France at the conventions of the American Legion and once he was guest of honor at a reunion of the famous "Rainbow Division," which served under his command in France in the Champagne offensive.

A veteran of many wars and distinguished as a colonial administrator, Gen. Gouraud lost an arm while commanding the French expeditionary forces at the Dardanelles. "How long will it take to patch up my arm?" he asked the surgeons as soon as he had regained consciousness. "Three months" was the reply. "If you cut it off how soon can I get back to the front?" he persisted. "Two months" came the answer. "Cut it off, then" commanded Gen. Gouraud.

In New York Gen. Gouraud will be welcomed with military honors by Maj. Gen. Hanson Ely, commanding the Second Corps Area. He expects to leave Washington for Boston on the evening of October 5.

Next day another distinguished foreign soldier, Lieut. Gen. Werner von Blomberg, of the German army, will arrive in town to be feted by his embassy and made much of by American military officials. Gen. von Blomberg's special interest is in military school systems. He will inspect the Army War College and will make a study of the Infantry School at Fort Benning, Ga., the Advanced Flying School at San Antonio, the Field Artillery School at Fort Sill, the General Staff School at Fort Leavenworth and the Military Academy at West Point.

In the absence of the German Ambassador, Herr von Prittwitz, the Charge d'Affaires of Germany, Dr. Otto Klep, will give a dinner in honor of Gen. von Blomberg, entertaining for a group of men on the evening of October 7. On October 8, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, Chief of Staff, United States Army, will be host at luncheon at the Army and Navy Club in honor of Gen. von Blomberg. The visitor will be accompanied by Col. Erich Kulenthel.

Justice McReynolds Goes to Hot Springs.

Justice James Clark McReynolds has gone to Hot Springs for a short stay and will return the last of next week in time for the convening of the Supreme Court on Monday, October 6.

Col. and Mrs. J. R. R. Hannay, of San Francisco, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie, to Mr. Julius Kahn, son of Representative Florence P Kahn, of California. Mr. Kahn is at present Washington representative of the Western Air Express and makes his home at the Roosevelt.

Mrs. Bolton, wife of Representative Chester C. Bolton, has returned to her home at 2301 Wyoming avenue after spending the summer in their home at Lyndhurst, Ohio.

The Assistant Postmaster General, Mr. W. Irving Glover, left Washington last evening for Cincinnati, Ohio, where he will attend the ceremonies incident to dedication of the new municipal airport today.

Dr. Charles Gregory Returning to Capital.

Dr. Charles Noble Gregory, who spent the summer at the Homestead, Hot Springs, Va., will return to Washington on October 1 to remain through the winter.

Mrs. Hoover Given Honors At Army Fete

Mrs. Frederick Sackett Also Accompanies First Lady.

Mrs. Hoover attended the military exposition and carnival at the Army War College yesterday afternoon, arriving in time to view the "big show," with its epic of the Oregon Trail as a finale. She was received with military honors and displayed keen interest in the manifold activities of the carnival.

With Mrs. Hoover were Mrs. Frederick M. Sackett, wife of the American Ambassador to Germany, and Mrs. Stark McMullin. Mr. and Mrs. Sackett, who have recently arrived in this country on leave, are guests at the White House to remain over night; and Mrs. McMullin has been for many years a member of the President and Mrs. Hoover's household.

Gen. Charles P. Summerall, Chief of Staff, U. S. A., and Mrs. Summerall were hosts to Mrs. Hoover and also had in their party Mrs. Edward Everett Gann, sister of the Vice President; Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley, wife of the Secretary of War, and Mrs. Sidney Cloman. Between afternoon and evening performances, Gen. and Mrs. Summerall entertained informally at dinner in the mess tent, Mrs. Gann and Mrs. Cloman remaining to dine with them.

Dr. Luther Reichelderfer, Commissioner of the District, was among those attending the fete yesterday and others glimpsed were Mrs. William E. Borah, Mrs. Julien Jacqueline Mason, her daughter, Mrs. Robert Raynesford, Mrs. Flora Mason Nicholson, Mrs. Howard Davidson, Miss Ruth Fesler and Miss Helen Greene, of Mrs. Hoover's "secretariat."

This afternoon Mrs. Gann will present a Pekingese pup to some fortunate person, the little dog of high degree having been presented by Maj. Gen. and Mrs. William D. Connor to be sold for the Army Relief Society, beneficiary of the military exposition and carnival. Mrs. Stephen O. Fuqua has had charge of the sale.

Yesterday afternoon Mrs. Gann poured tea at the fete, assisted by Mrs. Frederick H. Payne. Today Mrs. Patrick J. Hurley will be at the tea table. Mrs. Gann was also present when the carnival opened on Thursday.

Jock Whitney And Bride Are In Upperville

Newlyweds Travel by Special Car to Their Estate.

Declaring that "honeymoons are old-fashioned," Mr. and Mrs. John Hay Whitney slipped away immediately after their wedding on Thursday in Philadelphia and made directly for the estate at Upperville, Va., which is to be their home. Bundling their baggage and nearly a carload of wedding presents into the Whitney private car, Adois, they passed through Washington, stopped over an hour or two and then continued their progress into Virginia.

They will remain at Upperville for several weeks. Last spring Mr. Whitney purchased the estate, one of the finest in the famous hunting region, as a bridal gift for his wife. Mrs. Whitney, the former Miss Elizabeth Altemus, of Philadelphia, is a noted horsewoman and her husband shares her interest in the sport, so they will doubtless spend much of their time in the Virginia hunting country.

The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Whitney are to be established near Washington gives an added fillip of interest to a wedding in which "all Washington" was interested, since Mr. Whitney is a grandson of the late John Hay, once Secretary of State, and since his mother, Mrs. Payne Whitney, who was Miss Helen Hay, spent her girlhood in the Capital. The wedding was in the Church of St. James the Less in Philadelphia, with a reception afterward at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Dobson Eastman.

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

FEDERAL RADIO COMMISSIONER IRA E. ROBINSON has added an "Amen" to the assertion by Dr. Lee DeForest that "a radio menace, steadily growing greater, more ruthless, more deserving of suspicion and more generally detested is the use of broadcasts for direct and blatant advertising in larger and longer doses."

Judge Robinson further agrees with Dr. DeForest in the latter's prediction of a revolt by the American public against the overdose of advertising on the radio, unless broadcasters cease spreading it on so thick.

Jeff Sparks, announcer, made reference to a mistake over the microphone as a "micrographical" error.

Mrs. Graham McNamee will step to the microphone next Friday to tell her side of the story.

WITH a football game between Army and Boston University under way at West Point at 1 o'clock this afternoon, and an already scheduled play-by-play description of the final round of the U. S. amateur golf championship tournament, WMAL has decided to bring listeners both events.

The football game will be described in the usual manner with bulletins from the golf tournament interspersed. Upon conclusion of the grid battle, the golf game will be put on the air.

EVERYTHING is set for the prize Holstein cow of Fred Pabst, sr., of Milwaukee, to moo from the dairy show at Chicago next Wednesday.

Madge Tucker hasn't a menagerie in the studio when she presents "The Lady Next Door (WRC, 4:15 p. m.). All those sounds presumably coming from cats, dogs, cows and other animals or fowls are really made by Donald Bain, an animal imitator.

After an absence of several months, the Big Brother Club will return to the air tomorrow (WRC, 7 p. m.).

MORE business, less carnival is to be the keynote of the 1931 radio trade show, for which bids are being made by Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit and St. Louis.

The last show was held in Atlantic City and one large exhibitor was thrown out supposedly for making too much whoopee.

All regular programs will be heard one hour later over both Stations WRC and WMAL, beginning tomorrow morning.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

JELLIED GRAPE JUICE AND FRESH FIRM GRAPES.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

Fruits in gelatin are always delicious for dessert. Tokay or Malaga grapes—the kind with firm flesh—are used in the following recipe for a mold made with grape juice from Concord grapes. As in most recipes containing fruit juices, a little lemon is added to intensify the fruit flavor. The proportions have been tested by the bureau.

2 tablespoons gelatin.
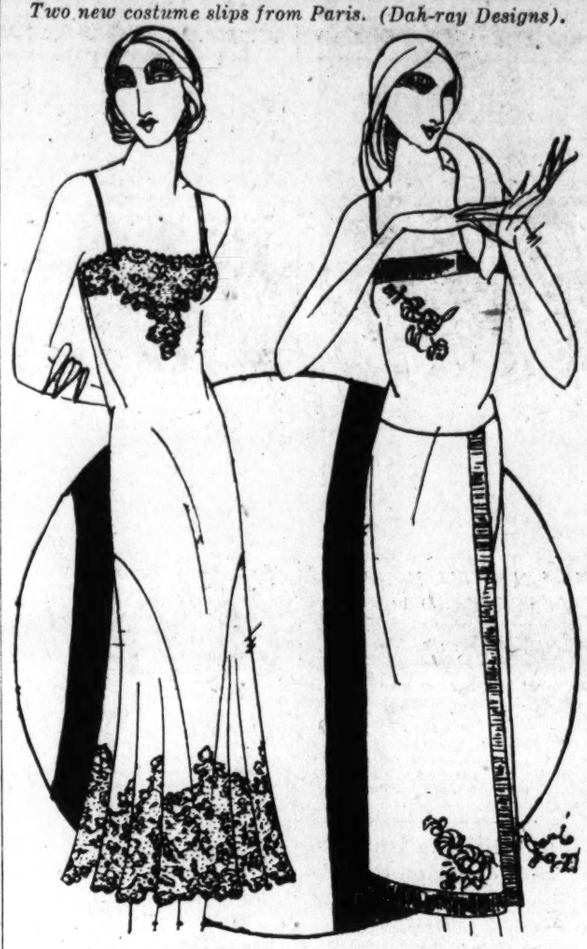
1½ cups boiling water.
½ cup sugar.
¼ teaspoon salt.
2 tablespoons lemon juice.
2 cups grape juice.
2 cups Tokay or Malaga grapes.

Soften the gelatin in the cold water for 5 minutes, add the boiling water, sugar and salt, and stir until dissolved. Then cool, mix with the lemon and grape juice, chill and, when partly set, stir in the grapes, put into a wet mold, let stand until firm, turn out on a plate and serve with whipped cream.

About nine-tenths of the people who visit the United States Capitol building want to know why the President does not have his offices there.

Ann Interprets the Mode

Two new costume slips from Paris. (Dah-ray Designs).



Paris, Sept. 26.

THE longer skirt and the more feminine silhouette has made the question of lingerie a very important one. Not that dainty underwear is ever important to a lovely lady, but we have to admit that the short skirts and what-nots that we have been indulging in during the past several years are practically dispensed with, for example, the underskirt or costume slip, as we preferred to call it. But with the advent of the longer skirt and the more feminine silhouette, we suddenly find ourselves confronted with the necessity of wearing specially shaped and longer costume slips; and even with reverting to old-fashioned underskirts that fasten around the waist, for long evening gowns, for instance, that are of a transparency sufficient to necessitate something underneath them, yet of a backlessness which admit of no bodice to this undergarment.

And corseting has come in for its share, too. Not that women will ever go back to rigidly confining their bodies, and distorting them into unnatural postures—but they have found that a corset of a certain firmness is absolutely necessary to neatness of appearance and general comfort.

* * * *

Remember I promised to tell you how to make my two long costume slips? Well, there they are in today's illustration, and you can see at once just what kind of a dress each one of them is worn under. In the illustrated leaflet for which you can send a stamped self-addressed envelope today, I tell you exactly how to make them; as well as another one which I didn't have room to draw today, which is just next door to being a real underskirt such as mother used to wear and maybe you yourself years ago. Better send for that leaflet, and, by the way, as much longer as these costume slips are, they still don't take any more material than those we used to make a couple of seasons ago out of a yard of material!

* * * *

A new decolletage has appeared, and I hold my breath! So, too, will anyone who sees it, men especially. For lack of a definite name, let me call it the "afternoon decolletage"—because that is what it is, appearing on afternoon gowns and very informal dinner gowns with sleeves. For instance, a lovely black crepe dress with long sleeves will have a neatly finished opening right from the very nape of the neck to the very waistline—an opening which very often looks as though it were closed, and at its openest shows only an inch of either milady's back or her lingerie—preferably the back.

Well, you can take it or leave it —.

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF September 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9 a. m. to 10:40 a. m., from 2:30 p. m. to 4 p. m. and from 9 p. m. to 10:30 p. m. The danger periods are from noon to 7:15 p. m. and from 6:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

The planetary aspects on this date are favorable for those things which require strenuous activity, such as sports and recreations. Seeds which your restive desire planted ages before, and have forgotten, will show signs of sprouting, and you will soon be enjoying their flower or fruit.

The child born on this September 27 will have an exploring mind plus energy and imagination. It will have an agreeable and a harmonious nature and be lavish in its affections. It will be an inveterate reader, and will appreciate music, although it will not be talented in this direction.

It can be truly said of you that you try to improve upon your heritage of the past, and you are very careful about your mental diet, and try to read such things as will enrich your life, and to seek companionship with those who have something worth while to say or do. Your delight in the sights and sounds of nature is one of your special characteristics.

You never take too much for granted, and you are always trying to discover for yourself just what is the truth about everything. A doubt worries you, but a truth is something which you can handle intelligently. You are not an inscrutable person, you wear no false masks, and you say just what you think—your words reveal your innermost feelings. You are never guilty of attitudinising; you never pretend to be what you are not or to like anything which in truth you dislike. Your frankness is sometimes shocking, especially to those who are pretenders. You are an individualist, and you think out your own philosophy of life and living, accepting the good, and rejecting the bad. You are seldom caught sitting on the fence, you are decidedly on one side or the other. It is hoped that you are doing research, or pioneer, work of some kind, for you were made for such pursuits.

Care and thought will furrow your brow, but your eyes will never lose their kindly twinkle, and your spirit will be an ageless one.

Successful people born September 27:

Thomas Nast, caricaturist.
Margaret Elizabeth Sangster, author.

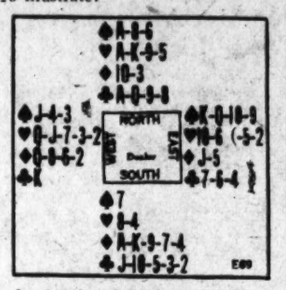
WORK ON BRIDGE

(This article is intended for the Auction and Contract Bridge beginner.)

One of the things a beginner should learn is that when a two-suited hand is played with the suit which partner can best support as trump, it may be worth about two tricks more than if played at No Trump even though the suit selected is insignificant as to high cards in one hand or the other. To illustrate:



In Auction South's bid would be one Diamond, North's one No Trump; then, East and West passing every time. South should bid two Clubs and North should pass to show that he prefers Clubs to Diamonds.

In Contract also South would bid one Diamond and West would pass. North, with a very strong hand outside of his Diamonds, would make a forcing bid of two Hearts, asking his partner to keep the bidding open. If South could support Hearts he should do so; if he had a different suit to show, he should bid it; if he had a sure trick in any suit outside of Diamonds he should bid two No Trumps; and if all his strength wer in Diamonds he should rebid that suit.

South, having a "different" suit to show, would bid three Clubs and North then would jump to six Clubs, which would be the final declaration.

In Auction West would open the play with his fourth best Heart; but in Contract, North having bid two Hearts and South having bid Diamonds and Clubs, he should lead a Spade. The play would be much the same after either opening. North would win the first trick and lead a small Diamond; South would win and lead the Jack of trumps, West playing the singleton King and dummy winning with the Ace. The play would continue as follows:

At trick 4, dummy leads the Ten of Diamonds; South wins and leads a small Diamond, dummy ruffing; dummy leads a small Spade which South ruffs; another small Diamonds is led by South and ruffed with the trump Queen. Dummy's trump Nine wins trick 8. South ruffs another Spade, the last adverse trump is drawn, and Declarer makes thirteen tricks.

Although thirteen tricks can be made, neither North nor South had any justification for a grand slam bid.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how soon to stop mowing my grass.

Lawn mowing should be continued while the grass is making growth. It is a mistake to let a lawn lie over winter in an unkempt condition.

I have certain deciduous trees and three shrubs which must be pruned this fall. Must I wait until after the leaves have fallen before doing this work? JOHN T. E.

No; pruning of deciduous trees and shrubs can be done most intelligently before the leaves fall. At this time you can best judge the need and extent of the necessary cutting.

Please tell me how to prune raspberries at this time?

MRS. WILLIAM T. R.

The old, hard growth which fruited ought to be removed from raspberries or blackberries, as it will not bear again. Cut off at ground line.

Please tell me if it is well at this time to move narcissus that have become crowded. Also, when doing this, is it necessary to add bonemeal to the soil? SARA T. B.

Plantings of narcissus that have been undisturbed for years are usually crowded. It is well to lift and divide the bulbs about once in ten years. This is work that should be done in September. Sort the bulbs before planting and add a generous portion of bonemeal to the soil.

Please tell if it is possible to lift snapdragons and bring them into the house with any certainty that they will bloom in winter.

HELEN G. T.

Snapdragons can be cut back to the roots at this time and lifted and potted in rich soil and placed in a warm, sunny place in the house. Later in the season you will be rewarded with quite a showing of bloom.

Please tell me when to plant perennials or to make geranium cuttings. I have a number of old geraniums which I want to cut up into cuttings.

LOUISA H. T.

This is the time to plant perennials; also to take off geranium cuttings, which can be grown in pots in any cool room. Later, when they have developed into shapely plants, you can bring them into the living room.

Please tell me how to cover Madonna lilies in winter, also Easter lilies. In this neighborhood they sometimes get along without any protection.

JOHN HENRY L.

Madonna lilies and Bermuda lilies should have a loose, light covering of dead leaves held in place with a few twigs.

Are scillas reliably hardy in most places? I want to buy some if I feel certain that they will withstand our winter. JANET F. T.

Yes, scillas are perfectly hardy. Do not forget to plant a few in with some snowdrops. You can plant them in the grass. They require only shallow planting and should be where they can grow unmolested for years. They become more beautiful as the years roll by.

Please tell me when to withhold water from an amaryllis that is entering its period of rest.

MADGE McN.

As soon as the flowers are past the leaves will make rapid growth. Keep up your care of the plant at this time, for upon the care that is given will depend next season's blooms. Gradually withhold water when the leaves turn yellow.

The Goofus Wangdoodle

The Goofus Wangdoodle looks much like a poodle
Although he has wings like a bird,
And all that I've seen
Are colored bright green
Though many are purple I've heard.

The Wangdoodle lives in a coop made of sieves
And he strains to pay rent on his coop
With the money he makes
Selling false teeth for rakes
And taking the dents out of soup!

SEPTEMBER 27, 1905.

The most destructive storm in Manila since 1872 burst upon that city today. More than 20 natives were instantly killed and 300 were injured, while 10,000 were left homeless. The American Government officers in the Philippines were taking charge of the situation.

Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio went before the Cuyahoga County grand jury this afternoon to give evidence upon which will be sought the indictment of a Chicago woman, who is accused by the governor of an attempt to blackmail him on numerous occasions.

Several hundred representative business men of Cleveland today called on John D. Rockefeller at his home at Forest Hill and through an official spokesman expressed to Mr. Rockefeller their esteem for him as a citizen and as a business man.

Leslie M. Shaw, Secretary of the Treasury, last night confirmed a statement he had made in a letter to the County Club of Polk County, Iowa, that he expects to leave the Cabinet about February 1, 1906.

The commandant of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis this afternoon issued an order of quarantine restricting the leave of midshipmen on account of cases of diphtheria which have prevailed at that institution and in the city for the past few days.

...and the Telephone does the rest—

Every household has a lot of purchases to make that have been put off just because they weren't thought of at the right minute. Vita-Minutes reminders get action.

Merchants sell more things to you by reminding you than by telling you. That's true all the way from tooth-paste to electric ironers; because while the tooth-paste purchase may have been neglected because it slipped your mind, the other waits a decision—and that decision will surely be made if you are reminded often enough to "keep it on your mind."

But there are certain times when reminders are most effective. Salesmen know it—and no good salesman would try to remind you of his goods, and get your attention, while you were in the midst of a bridge game, say, or busy with something you wanted to finish. He'd rather catch you while you're in a receptive mood; and when you are fresh and rested; and when a decision made would stick.

Well, the salesman isn't apt to get to you at the one best time of day to fulfill those conditions—because that would be early morning, when neither you nor anybody else is receiving salesmen. But you see the advertisements in the morning Post, all right; and the merchant knows it.

Those minutes of the morning hours have a something that other minutes of the day don't have. You're fresh and rested, yes; and partly on that account your mind has a sparkle, a willingness to consider questions and make decisions, which isn't there at all when once you've gotten into the day's routine. That difference between early-morning minutes and other minutes can be indicated by saying that morning minutes are Vita-Minutes —vitalized by a night's sleep, and the way they look forward into a day instead of back at one.

So Vita-Minutes reminders have a way of getting a thing done the same day —a way that merchants appreciate. It's quite possible that there are, this morning, people who have been forgetting the tooth-paste supply, or just putting off having the ironer sent out for trial, who will be telephoning about it in the next few minutes—reminded by an ad in the paper you're reading.

One reason why The Post is such a powerful and valued merchandising medium is that it is delivered into welcoming homes during the Vita-Minutes of every morning. Given the right sort of reminder in a Post ad—and the telephone does the rest.

HOOVER COMPLETES TARIFF COMMISSION

Lincoln Dixon, Once Member, Finishes Roster of Rate Body.

ORGANIZATION TO BEGIN

(Associated Press.)

Lincoln Dixon, of North Vernon, Ind., yesterday was reappointed a member of the Tariff Commission by President Hoover, completing the personnel of that agency.

The sixth member of the commission, a Democrat, he has served as a tariff commissioner since 1927. The appointment was made after the Chief Executive had conferred yesterday with Chairman Fletcher.

It was said at the White House that the President had encountered more difficulty in selecting the six members of the commission than was had with any other appointments he has made. The commission is bipartisan under the law. The President was said to have sought to have it represent the various geographical sections of the country.

Commissioner Dixon is the first named from the Middle West. With his appointment, reorganization of the Tariff Commission is expected to go forward at once.

Chairman Fletcher, after he and the other four members were appointed September 16 said reorganization would await appointment of the other Democratic member.

In addition to Chairman Fletcher, a Republican and Mr. Dixon, the commission is composed of two other former members, Edgar B Brossard (Republican), Utah, and Alfred P. Dennis (Democrat), Maryland; Thomas Walker Page (Democrat), Virginia, and Dr. John Lee Coulter (Republican), North Dakota.

The new commissioner is 70 years old. He served in Congress from 1905 to 1919 and in 1924 was in charge of the Democratic campaign in the West.

First Lady Will Attend Council of Girl Scouts

Indianapolis, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Mrs. Herbert Hoover will arrive in Indianapolis next Tuesday to attend the sixteenth annual convention of the National Council of Girl Scouts, according to information received today by Mrs. E. Blake Francis, Girl Scout commissioner.

Mrs. Hoover, who is honorary president of the Girl Scouts of America, will visit Mrs. Harry G. Leslie, wife of the governor, while she is in this city.

Attempt to Rob Safe Fails.

A gasoline station belonging to Raymond C. Dunne at 799 G street southeast was entered some time Thursday night and an attempt was made to open a safe by boring holes in the bottom, according to a report made to police yesterday. The attempt failed, however, and nothing was missing when the owner checked up yesterday.

Behind the Screens

With DON B. REED

RETURNING to their firse love in Washington, Waring's Pennsylvanians will do a week of entertaining at the Earle Theater beginning next Friday according to an announcement frantically rushed to this department by numerous representatives of the Warner interests. It was not so long ago that Fred Waring and his gang played the Palace, an opposition house with Eddie Cantor at the Earle. Unless all rumors are false, Mr. Cantor ran second as a crowd-puller. The Warner folks, being out to maintain their previous high standard, have therefore done the smart thing in booking Waring's Pennsylvanians into the Earle. If I am any judge of what the Capital likes in the way of stage presentations, the Earle will be a hard place in which to get next week. As I understand it from Bill Ewing, the Waring outfit will have an entirely different program than was presented during their earlier engagement this year and new songs and specialties will tend to keep them ace high with their local admirers, who are legion. The picture on the same bill will be "For the Love of Lil," featuring Jack Mulhall and Sally Starr. Sounds suspiciously like the title of a cover on a certain w. k. magazine, but that would be advertising.

Mary Deery, formerly of the St. Patrick Players, who will be remembered as one of the Washington girls who performed at the Fox under the direction of Alexander Oumansky, has opened a studio of dance. Miss Deery also was a member of the Savoy Musical Comedy Company, which at one time played the Belasco Theater.

As one of his admirers of the days when he led the stage band at Shea's Buffalo, a Publix house in Buffalo, N. Y., I want to extend a welcome to Alex Hyde, master of ceremonies at this week's stage show at the Palace. I might add that Alex used to have them tearing up the seats when he performed on the violin and I'm looking forward to hearing him "whoop 'em up" while in the Capital.

Sticking firmly to the old theory that the only way to learn a business thoroughly is to tackle every position it has to offer, E H. Mitchell is now doing honors as doorman at the Fox. Not long ago Mr. Mitchell appeared as a tap dancer in the Fanchon-Marco "Peasants" idea. Just to be on the safe side, I understand Mr. Meakin is keeping the door of the manager's office locked. Those kind of fellows are dangerous.

Just in case you may have wondered what became of Eddie Peabody, the banjo plunking master of ceremonies, and Bob West, organist, who closed their stay at the Fox Thursday, they are now performing in the Fox Theater at Brooklyn, N. Y.

It would not be fair to tell you about Alex Hyde at the Palace without mentioning Al Lyons, who made his bow yesterday as master of ceremonies at the Fox. His real name is Eldred Newton and he is the son of a minister. His family planned that he should become one, too, but Al ran away from his home in Los Angeles and migrated to Boston, where he studied piano at the New England Conservatory of Music. He plays on the stage—and how!

It may be just an "Old English" custom, but as I was wandering along "The Santa Fe Trail" munching a bunch of "Animal Crackers" about "Half Shot at Sunrise" a young woman dashed up to me and cried "'Heads Up,' there's old 'Man Trouble,'" to which I replied "'All's Quiet on the Western Front.'"

Have you ordered your world series tickets for St. Louis?

activities unduly large short selling as distinguished from hedging may be considered as evidence thereof.'

"I trust the above action of our board will meet with your approval and evidence a spirit of the fullest cooperation."

Reward For Spurious Messages.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 26 A.P.).—The Winnipeg Grain Exchange today offered a reward of $1,000 for information leading to the identification of the person or persons who Tuesday wired spurious messages to principal grain markets in North America and Europe proclaiming financial disaster of the Canadian wheat pool.

The messages acted as a bearish influence and sent prices tumbling before they could be denied.

In a statement today, A. P. White, president of the exchange, said detectives had worked without success to learn the identity of the sender.

Genoa, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—It was reported here on the Bourse today that the Soviet government had cancelled the sailing of a number of Italian ships taken over for the transport of grain from the Black Sea to English and American ports.

It is believed here that the Soviet government has leased more than 600,000 tons of shipping, much of it from Italy. Genoa alone has sent eleven ships to Black Sea ports.

(Associated Press)

Secretary Hyde, upon learning of the Chicago Board of Trade's action yesterday to discourage short selling of wheat by Foreign governments said he was "glad to see that the Chicago Board of Trade is making an effort to protect the market of the American farmer." He did not expand the one sentence statement.

Capital Man Gets Marriage License.

A marriage license was issued in New York yesterday to Charles F. Winter, 22, of 1851 Columbia road northwest, Washington, and Miss Lillian L. Lucas, of Baltimore. Mr. Winter, who is engaged in the auditing business here, said that the wedding would be held in the Little Church Around the Corner, in New York.

ISMET IS RESTORED AS TURKEY PREMIER

Cabinet Changes Forecast as Resigned Minister Is Reappointed.

MONEY REFORM SOUGHT

Istanbul, Turkey, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Ismet Pasha, who resigned last night as premier, today resumed that office by reappointment of President Mustapha Kemal and possibly smoothed out a somewhat ruffled Turkish political situation.

Ismet's return to the premiership was considered to have forecast several cabinet changes, the most important being in the ministries of justice and economy. Tonight's survey of the situation indicated Foreign Minister Tevfik Ruchdi and the finance, interior and defense minister would retain their portfolios in the new cabinet.

Ismet resigned on the day the Turkish Parliament became for the first time a two-party body. Fethi Bey, leader of the Liberals, opening an attack upon his before he could resign, said he wished to criticize the government's policy, but would save his utterances 24 hours until a new government was formed.

Ismet wanted monetary reform, among other things. He won parliamentary approval yesterday of his bill to use national reserves to buy in deteriorated paper money in support of the Turkish pound as almost his last act before resigning.

Ismet will go into the new cabinet with more strength that ever. He will present his new cabinet list to Parliament tomorrow afternoon.

Pair Held in Death Of Man Left on Rails

Williamson, W. Va., Sept. 26 (A.P.). A man and a woman were held without bond in the Williamson City Jail today charged with slaying the woman's husband.

Roy Bentley, 30, and Mrs. Minnie Dotson were arrested in Kentucky last night on a charge of slaying Thomas Dotson, of Stone, Ky. They waived extradition and were returned here.

Dotson was found unconscious on a railroad track near here more than a week ago and died Monday. Police believed he had been attacked and placed on the track. Both Mrs. Dotson, who was estranged from her husband, and Bentley denied any knowledge of how Dotson was injured.

Ecuador Denies Colonel Is Exiled as Agitator

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Sept. 26 (A.P.). The newspapers stated today that Col. Olmedo Alfaro, who is bound for Panama, had been ordered to leave Ecuador because he conducted revolutionary activities among officers of the army.

However, an official government communique tonight denied Col. Alfaro had been exiled.

MISS MYSTERIOUS - - - - - - - - - - By Larry Lawrence

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Thelma Townley, affectionately called Babe by her friends at the university, is given a terrific shock when she gets a letter from her guardian, Clement Forseith, saying that he has lost all her money and is going to take his own life. The letter adds that her name is not Townley, and predicts that she will never learn her real identity. Babe tells this to her chum, Violet. A handsome young man, who calls himself Morgan, proposes to her, saying that he knows of her trouble. She suspects him of having a selfish motive, but does not know what it is, thinking that she is penniless. Peter Jones, Milwaukee senior, begs Babe to marry him, but she refuses, feeling that she has no right to marry until she has learned her identity. She is kidnaped. Pete rescues her. While in Milwaukee seeking work, a man, who gives the name of Mac, offers her a strange job. She accepts, meets Morgan at a gambling dive, and goes with him to his apartment. He tells her that Forseith is not dead, and she suspects that he is the man who is trying to capture her, but does not guess the reason. Morgan attempts to hold her in his arms, and Babe accidentally shoots him. Mac arrives at this moment, sees that Morgan is not seriously wounded, searches and finds two old brooches that had been stolen from Babe. She now realizes that she is in love, and can't tell whether she loves Mac or Pete the more, and is worried for fear she has inherited a moral taint from her unknown parents. It only strengthens her resolution to learn her identity. Mac reveals his peculiar game. He is seeking vengeance on a man who murdered some one dear to him many years ago. Babe tells her story, and they realize that the man Mac seeks is Forseith, her guardian and the man suspected of plotting against her. In order to get a line on Forseith, she feigns amnesia, and is arrested and held for mental observation. Forseith tries to get her out of the Emergency Hospital. Pete and Violet rescue her from the police, and Pete and Mac see that they are rivals. Mac is captured by a member of Forseith's gang and taken to the hideout of a Chicago gangster, where Forseith is staying. Babe finds the place, and is hurt in a wreck. Pete helps her, and they come near to love and an understanding, but when she insists on going to Mac, they quarrel. She runs away, and goes alone into the gangster's lodge. Mac is being tortured when she arrives. She is held prisoner. The gangster known as Scareye and the Boss is full of whisky. He fears that a rival gangster is trying to kill him. Forseith attempts to take a pistol from Lugo, drunken bodyguard of the Boss. In the fight that follows Mac escapes his bonds, gets hold on Forseith's throat and nearly chokes him to death, trying to make him give up the secret of Babe's parentage. The Boss lumbers into the room, wild-eyed, and starts shooting. The Boss in a fit of insanity shoots Forseith who, dying, tells Babe her father was a brave good man. He gasps, "Money ... brooches" and dies. Babe gets a doctor, the Boss and his guard escape, and Mac and Babe await the coming of police.

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Babe longed for love, for sympathy, for understanding. She felt then as if she had never needed love so greatly in all her life. All the years she had been without a parent, a guardian, a close friend to really love her.

Pete was gone. Violet was gone. She needed love. Mac was there beside her. In the room lay the body of the man who had robbed her. And all she had to look forward to, it seemed, was the coming of police. How long, she wondered, would it take.

"I love you, Babe. Why don't you answer me?" Mac was speaking. A beam of soft light came through the broken window. She had broken that window some hours ago trying to rescue Mac. She thought she loved Mac then, but now she felt that she did not love him.

"Why? Why? Why?"

Maybe she did love him after all. Maybe she had suffered a revulsion for no reason at all. He was kind. He was brave. She almost worshiped courage. Certainly Mac had courage and to spare.

Why then did she shudder when he put his arm about her? Why had she felt relieved when he moved it away? She was being lashed about in a whirlpool of questions. And there were no answers to any of them. Mac was still talking, low and slow. She did not hear what he was saying. But the sound of his voice was comforting. There was some one left here with her and the dead man. She could not have stayed alone with the body of that man who should have been kind and loving as a father but who had robbed her instead.

When the strain seemed too great for her to bear tears came to her relief. She sobbed like a broken-hearted child. Mac put her head on his shoulder and held her so while she sobbed. She didn't have the power to move away. Maybe she didn't want to move away.

And so they sat for an hour. Babe had quit her sobbing. Mac had abandoned futile words and had only stroked her hair gently, very gently.

Now that Babe had cried until almost exhausted she felt a little better, but so tired that she could hardly move. Mac got to his feet. "Lie down, Babe," he ordered. They had been sitting on the huge davenport Babe lay back with her feet dangling. Mac stepped out of the room and came back with a blanket. Babe was still awake. He lifted her feet until she was lying at full length, then he spread the blanket over her. She felt like a little child being tucked into a crib. It was a pleasant feeling. Maybe she didn't hate Mac. No, she was sure she didn't hate him. He had seemed like a father as he tucked her in.

That was it. Mac seemed rather like a father. Much more like a father than a lover. Pete. Why had Pete deserted her?

But Pete hadn't deserted. She had run away from him, Pete, Violet, Pete. Then sleep gave her complete relief. She did not dream. Her weary, bruised body rested and her more weary, more bruised mind also was at rest.

Mac tiptoed in to look at her. But her face was shaded from the light of the moon. He could hardly see her. Her regular breathing told him, however, that she had found peace for a time at least. He, too, was weary, but felt that he did not dare to sleep.

Babe had said nothing about the car being gone, about the doctor, trudging those long miles through the night to the village, to start whatever action he would start. But Mac had gone to the room where Scareye had been and found it empty. He knew that Lugo had managed to get the pitiful, broken man who in theory was still the all-powerful Scareye, leader of a powerful mob, out of his lodge. Fate was playing ironical pranks as fate so often did. The hideout, a fort, a stronghold, had not been able to keep madness out and madness had brought the leader low. Madness had directed the bullets that had killed a friend. Now the law, much more alert, much more sure, than in Chicago, was coming to search for the killer. But the law would not find the killer there. The killer was madness and the law could not punish madness.

If it could lay hands on the instrument through which madness had operated it might put him away for murder, put him in the asylum for the criminal insane. But Mac doubted whether the Wisconsin law could find Scareye once he had returned to the region where gang rule operated with a short viciousness never approached by the softer laws of State statutes.

So Mac cogitated. But would the law lay hard hands on the witnesses to the killing? Would the law accuse him of murder? The law can be cruel to the innocent. There was the evidence of the fingerprints. But the choking had not killed Forseith. Still, if it had not been for the fight, Forseith might have been in the range of the madman's gun.

"Am I guilty as an accessory to the killing?" The idea hit Mac like a blow to the solar plexis. He felt faint, nauseated. He had known that he must suffer questioning if the doctor were called. He had known that he might even be detained by the authorities. But to be charged with having a part in a murder. His stomach seemed to leave him.

Those fingerprints on the throat! Cursed be the rage that had driven him to the deed. And that rage, that thirst for revenge might have driven him on until he had taken Forseith's last breath. Perhaps he was morally guilty of murder. Babe had cried out. Babe had stopped him. No, he had not killed Forseith.

Mac's muscles were tense now, tense, taut as the strings of a violin. Forseith, the man who had killed his father, was lying in the next room dead. Mac had seen him killed. He had himself held a death grip on him. Where now was the joy that his revenge was supposed to bring? For years he had lived with that one idea ever before him. The idea of vengeance. And now it was here and all he felt was fear, dismay, frustration. His enemy was dead and he was no happier. No, he was miserable.

The girl he loved was also suffering. And she had turned from him. True, she had turned back and sobbed on his heart. But there was no relief in that. She had been a child then. As a woman, a flesh and blood woman, she had spurned him. Mac was ready to welcome the deputies, anything to stop that chain of thoughts, black thoughts racing through his brain, making of it a track for devilish turnings.

The night loitered while Mac suffered. Revenge was ashes in his mouth, bitter ashes. He, too, was alone. He had wasted his life for a fool motive. He had missed love because of it. He was alone. Alone he must face his destiny. It was a dreary prospect. Round and round those fiendish thoughts raced. Would the night never end? Would the agents of the law never come?

This was a lonesome place. A wilderness. Night shadows moved like ghosts come to torment him. His eyes burned as he looked out into the evil woods.

A beam of light struck him full in the face and was gone. It returned. The headlights of a car. Now his blood raced. It was here at last. The police had come to—to do what? Take him? Take Babe? Suspect them of murder? Hold them? He leaped up. Now the headlights were near. The sound of the motor was plain.

"Babe! Babe! Wake up!" he called. The sleeping girl only moved a little. The automatic that Lugo had lost to him was lying on the table near by. Should he try to hide it? Should he defend himself against the law?

"No, no. Of course not. I didn't kill him. Why should I torment myself? Why should I go mad and do insane things? I'll let it lay," he told himself. For that matter the riot gun, the murderous short shotgun, loaded with slugs was still in its rack in the embrasure. Let them find it. It was none of his. Only the fingerprints on that neck were his.

The headlights were gone. The motor had stopped. The deputies would be approaching now. Mac waited, almost breathless. Two persons only. Mac could see only two. One moved like a woman. It was a woman. The two figures were moving cautiously upon the lodge. Why should they be so cautious?

The place must have an evil look. But the figures looked familiar. Now they were on the porch and he could not see them. There was a rap at the door. Mac switched on the light, then opened the door and there stood Peter and Violet beside him.

They stepped inside. The light had awakened Babe. She stared at Peter and Violet trying to realize that it was really true they were here.

Violet put her arm around her. "We were so worried, Babe," she said "And what a time we had finding this place. My heavens, we have been going since you left."

Peter said nothing. He just stood there praying for a sign that he had been forgiven. Babe wasn't looking at him now. She was giving all her attention to Violet. She was quaking inwardly. She had wronged Pete, called him a coward, been angry at him and here he was again, after hours of search, right on hand, faithful to the last. But she did not know what to say or do now.

It was apparent that Pete and Violet did not know the tragedy the house had witnessed so recently. Babe could not bring herself to speak of it at first. But she knew she must soon break the news, warn these friends to leave.

Mac was sitting near the window looking at Violet. How beautiful she was? It made his heart skip a couple of beats.

The room was laden with an oppressive feeling. Pete saw the bullet holes in the wall. He searched the room with his eyes trying to read what things had happened.

A weird tension seemed to hold them all in its tightening grasp. Babe, laboring to break it, blurted out the question. "How on earth did you manage to find this fort?"

Pete answered, "Violet found it .... I never would have had sense enough." Violet interrupted to say that it was luck. She had figured out a way and Babe thought, "Pete, always ready to give some one else the credit. Never seeking glory, praise or gratitude. But always ready to fight for me."

Violet was explaining that she had seen a battered old car turn up a strange road. They had thought nothing of this for hours, but, after being desperate with fear because they could not find Babe, she had remembered the car. In driving back to the summer home she had seen another such a car go by, had caught up to it and inquired about a girl who was supposed to have been lost. The driver, a man, said that his son had mentioned something about a girl. They had gone home with the farmer and found his son who gave them minute directions to the lodge. "He was still afraid of something, it seemed," Violet ended.

Babe was listening, but as she listened she kept thinking, "I must send them away. I must. Must. The police will be here any time now. There is no reason for either of them to be questioned, suspected, probably locked up in a foul jail." But she dreaded the duty of telling them of the killing.

Still they must be told and made to realize that it is foolish to stay longer.

"Pete, Violet," she started. The sentence did not seem to frame itself. Mac was keeping perfectly still, looking at Violet. Whenever she turned to look at him he tried to appear unconscious of her look, act as if he had just been looking out a distant window.

Babe tried again but before she had said a word she heard the sound of a motor. She dropped her hands in a gesture of despair. She had let innocent Violet and Pete be trapped, probably dragged into the evil news.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

"SHE LOVES HIM SO."

DEAR Frances McDonald: Two years ago I met a man who is about 12 years older than I. At first, he merely interested me, as a well educated gentleman. Later I learned to care for him, care so terribly that he is never out of my mind. Yet in all this time he has never told me by word or sign that he cares for me, has never attempted to even kiss me."

What shall I do? His position is such that I see him almost daily, and its absolute torture. I want him so terribly.

The thing that seems so strange to me is that he confides in me. Tells me everything! Asks for advice on things he wouldn't even attempt to tell his own sister. Why do you suppose he acts that way if he doesn't care for me? Does he tell me these things because I am merely a "disinterested party?"

Please help me. What can I do? I can't just go up to him and tell him I love him. And it's so hard, he has had so many financial worries lately that I feel I just must help him and shield him from trouble.

This letter seems terribly scatter-brained, but please try to help me, I need it so badly.

Thank you so much. RUTH.

Well, we all agree that you certainly are right in stating that you cannot rush up to this confiding soul and floor him with the news that you love him. His evident composure would be a bit upset by such frankness, and assuredly seek safety in flight. Why not study his system? Evidently he believes in your friendship, and values it, but quite as evidently he is not particularly thrilled by your interest. Do you confide in him? If not, why not start?

Ask him what a girl should do when she likes a man but cannot understand him? Get the poor egocentric thinking of you and your affairs instead of his own? If you find that he cannot sustain the burden of thinking of your affairs you will naturally be cured, which will be fine. If, on the contrary, you find him interested and helpful, you may soon find him waking up to the fact that you are a person and not just a microphone.

These men who take it for granted that a woman asks no further boon of life than to listen to them talking about themselves, are usually pretty hard to love, but you seem to have made that hurdle, since you say you are having such a delicious time just trying to figure things out. Your attitude with regard to wanting to "shield him" would seem to offer a solution both to your undue intensity and his indifference. The woman who usurps the man's position forfeits her own, and forfeits his interest in her as a woman. She would. There is nothing less alluring than the woman with her shoulder to the wheel while the man lolls at ease. Women were meant to do the leaning, not the supporting. Men are never lured by capable women. When they fall for them, it is in spite of their capability, or because their own abilities make the woman's seen slight by comparison. A dear friend of mine falling in love with a certain man, abandoned her profession temporarily, and applied to him for a job most meekly. He engaged her and she married him, and they lived happily until some one with a gift of humor told him the truth. He felt cheated. He was no longer a big, strong hero taking care of a helpless woman creature. Men are like that. So, if you are being a big help to mankind, that accounts for the indifference that so baffles you. Start making this man do things for you. Order him around. Be a woman. Do your stuff. Let him do his own worrying and yours too. At present you are just a listening device, and no man ever yet fell in love with a "mike." Interrupt the broadcasting, break up the show, do anything except meekly listen and meekly love.

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help those who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

De Forest Inventions Among School Relics

Chicago, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Radio relics used by Dr. Lee De Forest, inventor, when he was an instructor at Armour Institute, were found in the school's museum when historic scientific apparatus was transferred to the Museum of Science and Industry.

They included two large wooden balls coated with tinfoil. These were De Forest's antennae. There also was one of the first vacuum tubes perfected by De Forest.

JONES ROUTS SWEETSER, OPPOSES HOMANS IN FINALS; STREET PILOTS CARDINALS TO THIRD LEAGUE PENNANT

Westbrook
Pegler
Says

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 26.—Bobby Jones managed to dissemble his love for his old friend, Jess Sweetser, in the semi-final round of the national amateur golf championship at the Merion Cricket Club today, beating him 9 up and 8 to play, in a 36 hole match.

The other semifinal contest was of those affairs of youth versus age. Eugene Homans, 22, formerly of Princeton University, the son of Shep Homans, an old Princeton football star, pitted the wisdom and experience of his years against the vigor and youthful recklessness of Charlie Seaver, who is only 19. Seaver led Homans, 5 up, at the end of the morning round of eighteen holes, and held some sort of lead all the way from the second hole in the morning until the thirty-fifth in the afternoon.

Homans squared the score on the thirty-fifth green and won the match, 1 up on the final green with a mob of possibly 12,000 victims of the mania thundering up the fairway like some panicky exodus of history, to watch the killing.

Jones Will Complete Golf Monopoly.

Jones, now grown very plump, will set out over the ground again at 10 o'clock Saturday morning to put Homans in his place, which would seem to be second place and complete a personal monopoly of all four of the great championships of golf. He now holds the current open and amateur championships of Great Britain and the American open championship. Inasmuch as Mr. Jones has been beaten only six times in 36-hole matches in tournament play in thirteen seasons, the last time in 1926 the monopoly is almost official now.

There were sounds of revelry echoing through the still suburbs of Philadelphia this evening as personal friends of Mr. Jones and other devoted friends totally unknown to him, anticipated his triumph in long-drawn, harmonious chords of song.

Although Mr. Jones suffered some mild ill-health due to nervous tension when he was playing in the big British tournaments earlier in the year and was slightly inconvenienced by a recurrence here last week as he awaited the final competition of his greatest year, he has now recovered and, except for reasonable fatigue, is in good condition.

Players and Gallery Brave Heat Gamely.

The semifinal rounds were played in muggy heat, unrelieved by any cloud or breeze, but all four players and the galloping horde of customers bore up gamely. It was on this golf course that Bobby first appeared in a national tournament in 1916 and if he should win the equivalent of the world championship of golf Saturday, there probably will be some new and startling effects in private and public jubilation. There is a strong suspicion that the plump young Georgia barrister will decide to curtail his tournament activities after this year. Thus far, however, he only announces that he has nothing to announce regarding his plans.

There are about 50 telegraph wires in operation in the press room on the upper floor of a barn-like extension of the clubhouse and the two telegraph companies having filed about 1,800,000 words already, estimate that the gross business for the week will reach 3,000,000 words, or twice the volume filed from last year's tournament at Pebble Beach, Calif.

Merion Must Replace Golf Course.

The Merion Cricket Club's share of the gate receipts at $2 per customer will amount to something quite worth while even for a sedate and non-commercial club of wealthy membership, but the members will have to spend much of it right back to turn their golf course into a golf course again.

The sweep of the crowd over the grounds every day since the first players teed off Monday morning, an erratic stampede, turning, reversing and milling, has worn the grass to the roots in some places, especially on the hems of the greens and the rough has been trampled to such effect that nowadays a ball in the rough sits more invitingly than a shot down the fairway.

ST. LOUIS WINS, 10-5, GAINS RIGHT TO PLAY A'S IN WORLD SERIES

Seven-Run Rally in Fourth Overcomes Pirates' Lead.

Park Is Wild Scene After Victory; City Is Not Excited.

today, his mates backed him up with the same heavy slugging that has been a big factor in their victorious drive down the stretch. One big inning, the fourth, was all the Cardinals needed, seven runs rattling across the plate before the side could be retired. A home run by Watkins was mixed with hits by Hafey, Mancuso, Gelbert, Douthit, Frisch and Bottomley to bring in the seven tallies.

The remainder of the Cardinal scoring was done in the sixth. A single by Haines, Adams' double, a triple by Frisch and Bottomley's double resulted in three runs.

Home Run by Waner Gives Bucs Lead.

The Pirates started off as though they might delay the Cardinals' pennant clinching program. Paul Waner hit a home run into the right center field pavilion in the third, scoring Brame, who had singled. They picked up another run in the fifth on a walk to Dugas, Paul Waner's single and an infield out.

Gus Suhr scored Pittsburgh's fourth run in the sixth with a homer into the right field pavilion, and the Pirates' last run came in the seventh when Paul Waner walked, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Grantham's single.

Haines held the Pirates to eight hits, while St. Louis gathered sixteen.

In contrast to the Cardinals' other two pennant victories, downtown St. Louis showed little concern when the flag was clinched today. There was some cheering where crowds had gathered around radios and some ticker tape floated down from buildings, but whistles failed to blow, automobile horns were quiet and there wasn't the same spontaneous celebration that marked the other successful conquests.

It was a different matter at Sportsman's Park, however, for there the fans danced, howled, cheered, blew horns and threw hats onto the field as Street's men won the pennant.

Tomorrow the high-flying Redbirds will be feted with a parade and celebration that will be a fitting honor to a team that made one of the most sensational dashes to a pennant in National League history.

Wilson's 54th Homer Gives Cubs 2nd Place

Chicago, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The Cubs clinched second place in the National League standing today by downing the Cincinnati Reds, 7 to 5.

Hack Wilson's fifty-fourth home run with Cuyler on base provided the margin of victory as it capped a seventh inning attack that brought the Cubs from behind.

"Old Hoss" Stephenson, pinch-hitting for Blake, opened the seventh inning attack that drove Benton from the mound and won the game. He led off with a single and Teachout, who ran for him, scored on Blair's triple. Blair scored on an error and Cuyler singled to ride home when Wilson drove his fifty-fourth homer into the right field bleachers.

Central Wins, 12-0, Over Gonzaga

Passing Game Decides Opening Scholastic Grid Battle.

Purple, Outweighed, Scored on in Second and Last Quarters.

By BOB CONSIDINE.

ON a field from which countless waves of heat exuded, Central High School's husky football team took an uncertain step in the direction of the much-coveted high school championship and atoned a former defeat yesterday when it bumped Orrel Mitchell's lightweight Gonzagans into submission by a score of 12 to 0.

For a great portion of the game Central's attack was ineffectively cumbersome. Never in real danger of having its line crossed, the Hill Dwellers' sluggishness did not improve considerably as the play went on. Central outweighed Gonzaga at least fifteen pounds to the man.

Gonzaga Threatens in First Period.

Twenty-five hundred not-too-enthusiastic fans watched the gallant fight the lighter team put up. In the early moments of the first quarter it looked as though Gonzaga was going to do something more than put up a good fight. Until Gene Colella received a short thrust from Pinckney and hurled the longest pass of the game, 38 yards, into the eager hands of Paul Hinkel, who touched ground on Gonzaga's 4-yard line, Gonzaga was constantly in Central's territory.

A 15-yard penalization put Central on the defensive on the play following the initial kick-off. The teams exchanged kicks with Dunan's high boot to De Lisio putting the ball on Central's 11-yard line. Pinckney kicked out of the hole and Central breathed easier for the instant when Nolan fumbled. But Dunan punted once more to Central's 11-yard line. Hinkel fumbled and Gonzaga's center, Gingras, recovered the ball on the 8-yard line. Nolan and Dunan ran into a steel-ribbed wall in efforts to send the ball across.

From then on it was mostly all Central. Just before the quarter ended the long pass we mentioned was completed and on the first play of the second period Pinckney rammed through right tackle for the touchdown.

Gonzaga's pin-and-needle attack weathered the remainder of the second half well enough. Aided perceptibly by Central's switching to straight football, Mitchell's men put up a peppery defensive game that usually found a small Gonzagan enmeshed in the legs of husky wearers of the Blue and White.

Dan Dunan Hero of Gonzaga Attack.

Dan Dunan, 16 years old, and small in most any league, kept Gonzaga in the game. His runs were never sensational and were rarely guarded. He bounced here and there for gains of

GASTON WINS FROM NATS AT BOSTON

Allows Only 7 Hits as Mates Pound Hadley for 7-1 Victory.

Special to The Washington Post.

BOSTON, MASS., Sept. 26.—The Red Sox made it two victories out of three games with Washington by winning today, 7-1.

Milton Gaston's airtight pitching, backed by some brilliant fielding on the part of "Rabbit" Warstler and timely hitting by Johnny Heving were contributing factors to the Sox victory. Gaston allowed only seven scattered hits and batted in two runs himself, while Heving's three hits accounted for three more runs. Warstler was all over the field, cutting down several likely looking Senatorial drives while accepting eleven chances without a slip-up.

Hadley Charged With Defeat.

Bump Hadley was the victim of the Sox attack. The fact that he was to receive a $500 bonus for winning the game proved more of a handicap than an incentive. He was unsteady all the way and unable to show his customary form against the Wagner clan.

The Red Sox took a one-run lead in the opening frame. Oliver doubled inside the third base line and rode home on Miller's single to right. Another tally was added in the second. With one out, Todt doubled to right and Warstler walked. Heving singled to score Todt. Hadley struck out Scarrit, Rothrock and Reeves in the first two innings, but two doubles proved his undoing.

Hadley's chances for attaining his $500 bonus went out the window in the seventh when the Sox jumped on him for three runs. Reeves singled and Todt filed to Manush. Warstler singled to right sending Reeves to third. Heving made his third hit of the game, a double to center, scoring Reeves and Warstler. Gaston singled to center, scoring his battery mate with the third run of the inning.

Burke Yields Two Runs in Eighth.

"Lefty" Bob Burke had a tough inning in the eighth when the Red Sox scored two more runs. Passes to Reees and Warstler, an error by Burke on Heving's grounder and Gaston's second single to center accounted for the final runs.

Hadley knocked in the lone Washington run in the second inning. With two out, Spencer singled and Hadley doubled to right center, scoring the big catcher. Hadley was cut down trying for third base on a fine relay from Oliver to Reeves to Miller.

The final game of the season between the Nats and the Sox will be played tomorrow with Fred Marberry and Jack Russell as the opposing pitchers.

Passed balls—Wilson, 8; Mancuso, 4; Smith, 1.

This is the thirteenth of a series of articles analyzing the strength of the possible world series rivals.

By AL MUNRO ELIAS (Famous Statistician).

ASIDE from the pitcher's box and behind the plate, where Mickey Cochrane still reigns supreme despite the challenges of Mancuso and Wilson, the Athletics seem destined to be outplayed by their National League rival, regardless of which team had been their opponent.

The Cards have outhit the Athletics during the season by a considerable margin, and have quite an edge over the American League entry defensively. The Cardinals have hit for the terrific clip of .313 during the season, and while they have no one star to match the great Simmons as an offensive threat, the attack of the Red Birds is more evenly distributed than that of the Athletics. They boast a powerful wrecking crew of three or four hitters who will make it tough for any pitcher, even Grove or Earnshaw.

Slugging Quartet Is Boasted by Street.

In Frisch, Hafey, Bottomley and either Fisher or Watkins, Gabby Street has a formidable quartet capable of producing runs at any given moment as they have proved all during their sensational pennant rush during the last month of the season.

In the pitcher's box, Hallahan, Grimes, Johnson and Rhem have pitched consistently good ball, although none of them is a match for the two big Mack stars, Grove and Earnshaw. Grimes and Hallahan each have won 15 games and lost 10, while Haines has won 12 and lost 8. Grimes, Haines and Rhem have seen world's series action before, and can be counted upon for cool performances under the tenseness of world's series action.

Infield Far Superior To Athletics'.

The infield, composed of Bottomley, Frisch, Gelbert and Adams is far superior to that of the Athletics defensively, and Frisch and Bottomley are hard consistent batters, who have seen past service in the big classic. Frisch has appeared in five series and hit over .400 in two, and over .300 in two others, which does not speak well for the Athletic hurlers in the coming clashes.

The St. Louis entry promises to give the Athletics a real battle and, aside from the battery, more than matches the American League entry in a man to man comparison.

G. U. Will Test New System Today

"Shock Troops" May Take Field Against Mt. St. Mary's.

Hilltoppers Expected to Win; Attack Not Yet Smooth.

By JACK ESPY.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY'S 1930 football forces, with new players and new coaches using a new system, swing into action this afternoon, meeting Mount St. Mary's, of Emmitsburg, Md., in a game at Griffith Stadium, starting at 2:30 o'clock. Georgetown should win.

Intensive drilling of the Hilltoppers by Coaches Mills, Colrick, Smith and Murphy over the past three weeks has not brought about the results desired by the coaches. The team lacks polish and precision.

Georgetown should win, but by what margin observers hesitate to predict. The basis for the prediction of a Blue and Gray victory lies in the fact that the Hilltop has the advantage in man power.

If reports from Emmitsburg are true, it may be that man power alone will be the determining factor in the outcome. The Saints, it is reported, are coming here with a fine defense, one that outshines anything of this kind an Emmitsburg Eleven has thrown up against Georgetown in years.

Invaders Boasting Strong Defense.

With a strong defense, Mount St. Mary's may give Georgetown plenty of trouble, for it is the Georgetown attack that fails to satisfy the coaches. There is a raggedness in the work of the linemen on offense that offsets the potentially good performances of the ball carriers.

The weather doubtless will be more suited to baseball than football, and it will be mighty tough for one player to last the entire game. To overcome this condition, Georgetown can toss about 40 players into action, but not so with the visitors. They have about 18 players of college caliber in a squad of 30, the others being virtually unfit for competition of the sort to be seen today.

Georgetown may send in a "shock troop" combination at the start and replace this with a tentative first-string after the first quarter. However, Head Coach Mills was undecided last night on this matter.

Only Three 1929 Regulars On Starling Team.

If the first-string is used at the start it will perform only as long as it goes well. Mills will not hesitate to make substitutions.

On the tentative regular team are only three of the 1929 regulars. They are Capt. Bill Morris, center; Leroy Bordeau, full back, and Johnny Scalzi, quarter back. The remainder of last year's line-up graduated in June.

Mount St. Mary's will present, at one time or another, five former Washington high school players. They are: Tracey, end; Holland, tackle; Brew, guard, and Farrell, center, all products of Gonzaga, and Soens, back, of Devitt. Dewey, a back, is a capital native, but did not play scholastic football before enrolling at the "Mount" this year.

Joe Lynch, another Gonzaga graduate, is a member of the Emmitsburg squad, but he is ill at present.

third hole in the afternoon round. The second and really deciding break came at the thirty-fifth, where Homans squared the match.

Shot Out of Trap On Thirty-Third.

Going to the twenty-third, young Gene was five down and apparently going nowhere. On this tricky, 435-yard hole, he drove to the rough and put his second in a trap, while Seaver was straight all the way and well on in two. Homans studied his shot carefully, then took a newly devised niblick with a concave face and came out perfectly, the ball catching a side-hill roll and stopping two feet from the cup. It was dead for a four and Homans won the hole when Seaver took three putts.

Instead of being six down, Homans was only four down and although he lost the twenty-fourth, he paved the way for a comeback that would otherwise have been next to impossible. He won the twenty-seventh, to become three down and did not lose another hole as he played every remaining hole perfectly in par.

Beats Stymie to Win On Thirty-third.

Gene won the twenty-ninth, saved the thirty-second with a performance duplicating his earlier recovery from a trap, then won the thirty-third and was only one down as he hit a spoon shot pin high about 8 feet from the pin on the fatal thirty-fifth. Seaver was high on the hillside to the left and approached to within five feet of the cup. Homans just missed the birdie, but Seaver also missed and laid his rival a dead stymie. Homans stretched on the ground to study the turf. There was only one way to get down—through the "side door." He did it by cutting the ball around Seaver's to win the hole with a par three and square the match.

Thus fortified, Homans slashed two fine wood shots. The second, a spoon to within 15 feet of the Crowd Jeers Decision of Judges

Backers of Molasses Jane Claim She Was First Home.

Officials Held Dinah Did Upset Winner by a Nose.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 26.—A nose separated S. W. Labrot's Dinah Did Upset and the Brancastle Farm's Molasses Jane after they had raced a mile and 70 yards in 1:44 4-5 in the Maryland Matron, feature of a card that attracted 12,000 spectators here today.

The judges' decision roused the ire of many of the spectators and there was much booing which lasted several minutes after the race. However, the decision stood and it appeared a rightful one.

Dinah Did Upset Off In Front.

Dinah Did Upset, with Clyde Ponce whipping her away from the gate, led the field of four around the first turn, but she was joined by Molasses Jane half way down the back lane.

They raced as a team around the far bend with their heads only inches apart turning to home. Down through the stretch they thundered with the crowd in an uproar.

There was little to choose between them right down to the wire with the judges catching Dinah Did Upset's nose in advance of Molasses Jane. Third money went to Harry Payne Whitney's Dustemall. Walter J. Salmon's Snow Flake was a poor fourth.

Preston Burch, of Washington, who trains the Dixiana Stud's thoroughbreds, put over a sweet one in today's 6 furlongs opener when he saddled Tommy Boy, and Frankie Coltiletti kicked him home ahead of fourteen other 2-year-olds.

Tommy Boy was backed from 30 to 1 to 6 to 1 at post time. He broke slowly, but halfway down the back stretch he rushed by E. R. Bradley's Brains to open a long lead. When straightened out in the home stretch, Tommy Boy was so far in advance of his field that his rider started easing him up. Brains held on long enough to save the place from the fast-charging Mouthpiece, one that raced for the Lemar Stock Farm.

St. Agnes Shows Speed in Winning Second.

Mrs. William Jeffords' St. Agnes stepped 6 furlongs in 1:14 to account for the second. The score was Jockey Frankie Coltiletti's second of the day. Coltiletti broke St. Agnes on top and made every post a winning one. He was easing the 2-year-old daughter of Golden Broom—Belaghes up all through the home lane, still he had many lengths advantage over the Sagamore Stable's Miss Grace and P. M. Walker's Royal Rock.

The start was good for all but Aries. This colt was being shoved backward into the stall gates by an assistant starter when the webbing was released and he had no chance. He had worked fast for the race and he was wisely taken in hand to gallop back of his field after being left.

Frank Hayes' Syriac, paying $19.60, jolted the big crowd by winning the mile and 70 yards of the fourth. D. Cowan, who was astride the gelding, waited back of the pace set by Mucker and Come On until the stretch turn, where he rushed up fast and at the end was a length and a quarter in advance of Mucker. Come On outlasted Make Believe for fourth money.

The combination of G. C. Brenton's Ruban Rouge and Sonny Workman proved the winning one in the mile and one-eighth of the sixth.

11-Year-Old Gelding Given Fine Ride.

Workman had the 11-year-old brown gelded son of Ecouen—L'Adorable, well up from the start, which is unusual for this veteran and when the real racing began from the head of the lane home, Ruban Rouge drew away from his field to win handily from Vowed Vengeance with Cyrano third.

Guilder, 3-year-old chestnut son of John P. Grier—Cozy, racing for W. H. Snyder, stepped 6 furlongs in 1:13 1-5 to win the third and net his backers $18.00.

Away with the first flight Guilder took command in the stretch to outlast Joy Rock, the favorite, with Make Haste third.

The Palmwood Stable Keith took the final race on the card in a driving finish which saw the first three horses cross the line almost as a team. Frances St. L. was the favorite, but she could do no better than finish third, a head back of Fire Opal, third choice in the wagering, which lost the verdict to Keith by a nose.

It was a battle all the way between the three favorites. Keith moved into an early lead and managed to hold it until the end, showing race gameness and outlasting Fire Opal, which came with a rush during the final drive. Frances St. L. offered good contention throughout but could not quite make the grade. The others were never in the running.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 26.—Twenty juveniles, including some of the year's best, were named overnight for the $20,000 added Eastern Shore Handicap, feature of the first Saturday's racing here. Present indications are that the track will be fast for the running of the stake. Harry Payne Whitney's EQUIPOISE, undoubtedly the second best 2-year-old out this year, will be the top weight of the field, under 126 pounds. Despite this heavy package, he looks all over the winner.

The son of Pennant took up 130 pounds in the Belmont Futurity and was beaten but a half length by Jamestown, the year's champion 2-year-old. Many good ones were strung out back of Jamestown and EQUIPOISE at the end of the Futurity. Sonny Workman will be up on EQUIPOISE, and the combination will break from No. 4 position. Joseph E. Widener's NOVELIST may be the one to beat. This swift-running son of Stefan the Great ran a good race in the Futurity, considering he had bad luck in the earlyl stages. He ran an even race after being shuffled back. DON LEON has worked brilliantly for the Eastern Shore. This fellow comes from the West. He only galloped to beat SISKIN in the Chicago Juvenile Handicap at Hawthorne. DEDICATE came from Chicago last year and won the Eastern Shore.

The Nevada Stock Farm has three in the race and all are good. They are SISKIN, TARPAULIN and VOLTAGREEN. TARPAULIN has won four straight and VOLTAGREEN six straight. Neither horse has ever met such good ones as it will have to match strides with in the Eastern Shore. TARPAULIN is very nicely weighted, however. He will have to carry but 112 pounds. The rest of them appear to be outsiders in the race.

FIRST RACE—CRASHER beat better horses than he meets in the day's opener in a handicap at Timonium several weeks ago. He was a winner at Cumberland also. HARVARD showed a return to best form during the recent Hagerstown meeting. He should be with the leaders most of the way in this contest, provided the track remains fast. HARVARD is a very poor mudder. WANDERING GOLD performed creditably over the half-mile tracks in this State. LEONARDEAU will be dangerous if he is up to a race. He's been away from competition for some time.

SECOND RACE—CON AMORE showed high speed in a mile and 70 yards dash for maidens here, last Tuesday. The effort did her no harm. She'll not tire as quickly this time. GALA START may be the one to beat. They say he's been working fast. BROWN MAID was in with CON AMORE last Tuesday. She was running stoutly near the end of the race. DUNLIN'S ELK went fairly well with CHEAP PLATER his last out.

THIRD RACE — FORTUNATE YOUTH was far back in the Potomac Thursday. Toss that race out and he has a fine chance to win the Calvert purse. Prior to his Potomac effort FORTUNATE YOUTH placed to SPINACH in the Cliff Haven purse at Saratoga, and he beat, among others, BUCKEYE POET. SKID raced fairly well in Canada about a month ago. He finished third to WRACKELL and SWEET SENTIMENT in the Queen's Hotel Cup at Dorval Park. MAD KISS' last two efforts in New York were very bad. She has a habit of stopping.

FOURTH RACE—W. R. Coe has a strong entry in the Chestnut Hills Purse in SWEEP OUT and VANITY. Both are very fast. SWEEP OUT flashed her best form here Thursday when she only galloped to beat Balko over the six furlong route. VANITY is just as fast as SWEEP OUT when she's right. She hasn't been out since the Saratoga meeting early last month. THE SPARE is possessed of high early speed. She'll be with the Coe pair most of the way. THE SPARE, on New York form, figures to hold LADY CAPULET safe. The rest of them appear to be out-classed.

SIXTH RACE—WILLIAM T was beaten by DR FREELAND his last out at Belmont Park, but had he been hustled along a bit faster in the early stages, the result of the race might have been different. Prior to that New York race, WILLIAM T was beaten but a half length by SUN BEAU. DR FREELAND will be the one to beat if he repeats his last winning effort. He is an uncertain horse. PETEE WRACK has been showing high speed in his morning gallops over this track. His recent New York form was poor. They're pointing him for next Saturdays cup race here.

SEVENTH RACE—This will be FAIR ALBERT'S third trip to the post this week. Not a chance of him being short. He's none too stout at heart and the distance is a mile and a quarter. However, with little speed in the race, he may hang on long enough to gain the verdict, provided he is given a nursing ride. Old TALL GRASS will fancy the long route. He looked good in the nightcap Thursday. FAIR MAN raced with better company than he met here last Wednesday, but he finished far back.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GUILDER, $18.00, $5.00, $3.40; JOY ROCK, $2.80, $2.50; MAKE HASTE, $4.10.

GUILDER, placed forwardly, raced to PRINCESS EVOL when ready, drew clear when entering the home stretch, but was forced to a drive nearing the finish to withstand JOY ROCK. Latter worked her way up on the outside and finished boldly in the final drive. MAKE HASTE came with a belated effort at the end. M'TINKLE showed a good race. SWEEPING WILLOW raced well.

FOURTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,400; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:10. Off at 4:14. Winner, Frank Hayes' br. g. (3), by Flying Ebony—Lexicon. Trained by P. E. Fitzgerald. Value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 4-5, 0:48 1-5, 1:13 2-5, 1:40, 1:44 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SYRIAC, $19.60, $9.50, $3.70; MUCKER, $5.50, $3.20; COME ON, $2.40.

SYRIAC, steadied within striking distance of the leaders, responded willingly to urging, secured racing room, was sent up between MUCKER and COME ON, finished determinedly to get through and was drawing clear. MUCKER went into a long lead, but tired steadily in the final issue. MAKE BELIEVE could never improve his position.

FIFTH RACE—Mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:45. Off at 4:46½. Winner, S. W. Labrot's b. f. (4), by Upset—Dinah Did. Trained by J. P. Adams. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $250; third, $100; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24, 0:48 2-5, 1:14, 1:44 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—DINAH DID UPSET, $5.40, $3.80, out; MOLASSES JANE, $4.40, out; DUSTEMALL, out.

DINAH DID UPSET, outrun her field to the first turn, was rated thereafter, responded to hard urging in a stubborn drive and just lasted to outstay MOLASSES JANE. Latter followed close up, made repeated efforts and fought it out courageously. DUSTEMALL, in hand early, was allowed to drop out of contention at the far turn, came with a rush when shaken up and, with more intelligent handling, might have been winner. She finished in rather close quarters at the end.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 5:15. Off at 5:18. Winner, G. C. RUBAN ROUGE entered contention with a rush when approaching the far turn, reached the front rapidly and had speed in reserve all through the final furlong. VOWED VENGEANCE, a keen factor all the way, was unable to withstand the winner's rush. CYRANO showed a good test.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:45. Off at 5:46½. KEITH moved into the lead in the first furlong, was steadied in front, shook off stout contention from FRANCES ST. L. and, holding on gamely, just lasted to stall off FIRE OPAL. Latter, closer up than usual, came with a good rush in the final drive. FRANCES ST. L. offered good contention all the way and held on willingly.

MARYLAND TO EXPERIMENT IN GRID DEBUT TODAY

Byrd Awaits Performance Of Linemen

Washington College Not Expected to Extend Old Liners.

Poppelman and Wood Bolster Maryland Backfield.

THE University of Maryland's football team opens its season this afternoon at College Park against a State rival, Washington College, of Chestertown, in a game scheduled as a "breather" for the Yale clash to follow next week at New Haven.

..Head oCach Curly Byrd has no fear of the Washington eleven and will use the game as an experiment with his varsity material with the possibility that every player on the squad will be sent into action before the contest is over.

Maryland walloped the Chestertown team 34 to 7 last year and expects to do fully as well, if not better, this afternoon. Coach Tom Kibler, of Washington, is bringing a veteran team that packs a lot of weight to College Park, and word emanates from Chestertown that Washington will not be the same weak rival of 1929.

Byrd Awaits Play Of Linemen.

Byrd, well fortified in the back field with the addition of Woods and Poppelman, freshmen of last year, is anticipating keenly the performance of his line which is his admitted weakness. Recent practices have served notice, however, that the forwards will put up a rugged game.

"Country" Evans, veteran quarter back, will direct the team that will start, according to announcement yesterday, with Berg, Chalmers and Poppelman as his running mates in the back field. Woods is likely to break into the line-up shortly after the start.

The probable line-ups:

Rochester Nine Evens Series With Colonels

Red Wings Stadium, Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Behind the brilliant twirling of John Berly, the Rochester Red Wings, International League champions evened the little world series with the Louisville Colonels here this afternoon, taking the second game, 8 to 1. Joe Brown, Wing third baseman, was the game's hitting star, getting four safe blows. Wilkinson pitched for Louisville until he was relieved in the eighth by Penner. The Colonels tried to put on a last-inning rally in the ninth, but failed to score, despite a single by Layne and a walk to Herman with one out.

TECHBEATEN IN NIGHT GAME

5,000 See Baltimore Poly Win in Third Period, 7 to 0.

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 26—Baltimore Polytechnic Institute inaugurated scholastic football under the flood lights at Homewood Field with an impressive triumph over McKinley Tech, of Washington, tonight, scoring a touchdown in the last quarter for a 7-to-0 victory.

Five thousand spectators watched every play of the first nocturnal game played here with a collegiate setting. The entire atmosphere of the game differed from daylight football only when straying glances left the field of play to dart inquisitively to the arc lamps. The progress of the ball was evident at all times, even though the regulation brown one was used.

Injuries Few Despite High Temperature.

Though the temperature was high, injuries were remarkably few, and had the game been played in the afternon under the hot sun of today, more casualities would have resulted beyond any doubt. The number of spectators, too, would not have been half as large, according to followers of the sport.

Billy McLean, rugged young half back, scored the touchdown that won the game, accepting a wide forward pass from Joe Grochmal to gain 23 yards as the climax of a last quarter charge.

McKiKnley tried hard in the few remaining moments to even the count, and had the Poly forward pass defense rattled with a series of well-conceived aerials. Tech gave ground, but stopped the rush in time and had taken over the ball on a fumble just before the contest ended.

Three Tech Teams Fail to Wear Down Engineers.

There had been little to choose between the elevens in the first half, and the third quarter found the rivals locked in the same even struggle. Both teams played great football for so early in the season, in tackling, timing plays and handling the ball. There was little of the looes play which often characterizes early-season games, even among the colleges.

McKinley used three different teams during the progress of the battle, in an effort to wear down the Engineers, but to little avail.

Tech meets Handley High of Winchester, Va., today, at Winchester, less than 24 hours after the night tussle with Baltimore Poly.

The Virginians are coached by Johnny Parsons, a former disciple of Coach Hardell.

Stam Reaches Finals Of Edgemoor Tennis

Colin Stam entered the finals of the Edgemoor Club's annual closed tournament yesterday when he cut out a 6-1, 6-4 win from Capt. A. J. Gore, veteran District netman. Stam's heavy artillery from the baseline proved too much for the Captain.

Gill and Purinton gained the finals of the doubles by winning the third and final set of their postponed match gainst White and Taylor, 8-6. The first two sets had been divided, 7-5, 5-7. The winners overcame a 0-3 handicap in the final set.

Because of the entrance of an Edgemoor Club team in the City League championship no matches will be played today or Sunday.

pitching his last shot so close to the pin, 10 inches away, that he didn't need to touch the ball after Jess missed his long putt for an attempt to prolong the match.

Thus the great Georgian advanced with all the power of a conqueror to his seventh national amateur championship final. Twice he has been beaten, in 1919 by S. Davison Herron at Oakmont in 1926 by George Von Elm at Baltusrol. Four times he has been the victor, in 1924-25-27-28. If he wins tomorrow Jones will add three more records to his unparalleled collection—five national amateur crowns, thirteen national championships altogether and all four British and American titles in one year.

PASSES LEAD TO CENTRAL VICTORY

5 or 7 yards before disappearing beneath a wave of blue. One wondered how he managed to rise from some of the tackles. Nob that they were unfair—just heavy.

Coach Ty Rauber rushed in a raft of reserves at the start of the second half and play was mostly tentative until late in the third quarter. Central gained a little in weight by this substitution, and lost slightly in thrust. Gonzaga, however, was usually in trouble, standing firm once on its 3-yard line. Cuvillier and Feldman shone for Central.

With half the last quarter ticked off Rauber sent in his first string men. Hinkel relieved De Lisio with the oval in Gonzaga's possession on its 30-yard line. Dunan flung a pass in Hester's general direction, which Hinkel rushed under, caught on the run and sprinted straight to the touchdown. In line with the inferior punting of the day, he missed the try for an extra point.

The game ended after unfruitful skirmishes in midfield.

V. P. I. Eleven Ready For Roanoke Today

Special to The Washington Post.

Blacksburg, Va., Sept. 26.—V. P. I.'s Eleven tuned up its passing attack, polished its pass defense, sent its new sophomore ends down under punts, and put the final touches to its plays this afternoon in final preparation for the opening game with Roanoke College here tomorrow. The probable starting line-up will be: McIntyre and Seamon, ends; Green and Swart, tackles; Hite and Stark or Jones, guards; Brown, center; Capt. Hooper, quarter back; Spear and Ottley, half backs; Owens, full back.

Seven lettermen, three sophomores and one former reserve back will be in the line-up. The Gobbler line packs weight, averaging better than 180 pounds from end to end, while the back field averages 169, Ottley weighing 148 and Spear 164, are probably the lightest half backs ever to start for V. P. I.

Shannon dashed 25 yards for Mount Jackson's lone score when the Harrisonburg reserves were on the field in the final quarter.

13 Dixie Conference Teams To Open Grid Season Today

South Carolina-Duke, Georgia-Oglethorpe in Feature Games; Virginia, V. M. I., Wash. and Lee, and V. P. I. in 1930 Debuts.

By DILLON GRAHAM.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 26.—The battle of the Carolinas at Durham between South Carolina and Duke, Georgia's attempt to even old scores with Oglethorpe and the initial preformances of thirteen southern Conference elevens feature the Dixie football program tomorrow.

A close battle is anticipated at Durham with the Carolina Gamecocks and the Duke Blue Devils in the first Southern Conference conflict of the season. South Carolina will have the advantage of one game experience and Coach Billy Laval has announced that the same team that started aginst Erskine last week will open against Duke.

Capt. Davis to Be Missed At Duke.

The Blue Devils will be weakened by the absence of Capt. Lee Davis, a guard, who has not recovered from a physical breakdown. A sophomore, Pop Werner, probably will replace him.

Oglethrope starts its annual tilt with Georgia at Athens handicapped by the loss of its captain and quarter back, Claud Herrin, who has been forced out for the year because of injuries.

The heralded sophomores of Dan McGugin at Vanderbilt will receive their baptism under fire against Chattanooga S. I. A. A. champions for two years.

Bernie Bierman's Tulane machine, 1929 conference champions, opens with a light Southwestern Louisiana team at New Orleans. Both regular ends, Holland and Dalrymple, are temporarily out with injuries.

The wing positions are worrying Coach Collins of the University of North Carolina as the Tarheels open their big five offensive against Wake Forest. Nelson, a senior end, is sick and Walker, a sophomore find, broke his wrist in scrimmage.

Minus its stellar half back, Gene McEver, Tennessee, faces a light skirmish with Maryville at Knoxville. Paul Heydrick and Ty Disney, both hard running ball carriers, will alternate at McEver's post.

All four of Virginia's conference squads will see action. The university plays Randolph-Macon. Virginia Military Institute faces Richmond. Washington and Lee comes to grips with Hampden-Sydney and Virginia Polytechnic exchanges passes and punts with Roanoke.

North Carolina State in Night Game.

Wallace Wade's final edition of the Alabama Crimson Tide starts rolling against Howard; Florida plays its annual opener with Southern. Clemson meets Wofford. Sewanee tackles T. P. I., and North Carolina State and Davison play a night game at Greensboro.

Christian Keener Cagle, the former Red Rover of the Army Planes, sends his Mississippi Aggies against Southwestern, and Louisiana State, which trounced South Dakota Wesleyan, 76 to 0, last week in the first intersectional scrap of the fall, meets Louisiana Poly.

Five S. I. A. A. games are slated. Citadel, which beat Stetson last week, meets Erskine; Center faces Western Kentucky; Louisiana College trys conclusions with Mississippi College and Mercer plays Presbyterian. After a lapse of several years, Loyola of New Orleans reenters S. I. A. A. play against Louisiana Normal.

Arkansas plays College of the Ozarks, Georgetown meets Wittinburg; Cententary plays Hendrix-Henderson and Guilford scraps William and Mary in the leading conference games.

GOOD BOUTS PROMISED AT FORT

Finnegan Faces Top-notcher in Balduc in Feature.

THIRTY-TWO rounds, or less, of fighting have been scheduled for Monday night's boxing card in the ring at Fort Washington under auspices of the Front Line Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Matchmaker Goldie Ahearn announced last night.

"Honey boy" Finnegan, former Washington pride, who has been showing in Boston arenas for several years, will be the main attraction in the feature, a 10-round go against George Balduc, a top-notcher hailing from Portland, Me.

Finnegan Did Well on Coast Tour.

Mr. Finnegan showed signs of slipping earlier this season, but has just returned from a tour of the Pacific Coast, where he won several bouts, three via the knockout route, with Dick McDaniels, Lew Saunders and LaCadre as his victims, and he is said to be at his best now.

Judging from Balduc's record, Finnegan will have to be good to gain the decision. According to the records, Balduc has been tackling all-comers. He holds decisions over Phil McGraw and Tom Herman, who fought Sammy Mandell last night, while, after apparantly having knocked out "Kid" Berg in the fourth round, he lost the verdict to the lightweight contender on a very questionable foul. This b it promises action from bell to bell.

The eight-round semifinal brings Eddie Buel and Battling Lavine back in a return bout. In their last meeting, a real battle from start to finish, Buell was given the decision and Lavine is seeking revenge tomorrow. This fight alone should be worth the trip to the fort.

Grid Season Starts Today With Games in All Sectors

East Leads With 48 Contests Scheduled; 34 in Midwest, 33 in South, 35 in Far West; Yale Opens Against Maine.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The college football season of 1930 will be launched tomorrow throughout the nation with untold thousands turning out from coast to coast and from border to gulf to watch their favorite team begin the big campaign.

All told there will be more than 150 college games worth mentioning. The East alone boats 48, the South and Midwest list 34 and 33 respectively, the Far West 25 and the Rocky Mountain, Southwest and Missouri Valley section for a couple dozen more.

No Real Contests Are Looked For.

Real contests will be rare, as most of the big fellows among the colleges are using this first Saturday as an opportunity of trying out their stuff against practice opponents. Here and there upsets may crop out, but in general the colleges that rank among the football leaders of the country on past performances figure to win in a romp.

On the Pacific Coast Stanford takes on the San Francisco Olympic Club with a vivid recollection of last year when the Cardinals were hard pressed to get a 6-0 decision. California, meeting Santa Clara, likewise will be on its guard, but Southern California expects no great difficulty with the University of California, Los Angeles branch.

Among the other Far West features will be the first appearance of the Oregon and Washington Elevens under their new coaches, transplanted from the Big Ten—Dr. Clarence Spears and Jimmy Phelan. Oregon meets Williamette, and Washington entertains Whitman.

Pitt, East's 1929 Leader, Plays Waynesburg.

In the East a flock of powerful appearing teams make their debut. Pitt, the Eastern leader last year in spite of its post-season downfall at the hands of Southern California, tunes up against Waynesburg. Yale, with a wealth of material and good prospects, tackles Maine. The Army, loaded with the Warner system by its new coach, Maj. Ralph I. Sasse, will fire both barrels in the general direction of Boston University by way of target practice.

Colgate, one of the strong teams of 1929, entertains St. Lawrence, Syracuse and Rensselaer Poly meet under the arc lights in the only night game scheduled for the East. Cornell opposes Clarkson.

Columbia and Georgetown, under new coaching regimes, meet Middlebury and Mount St. Mary's, respectively, and among the other games of more than ordinary interest are: Brown-Rhode Island, Carnegie Tech-Buffalo, Fordham-Baltimore, New York University-Hobart, Penn State-Niagara, West Virginia-West Virginia Wesleyan, Boston College-Catholic, and Holly Cross-St. Bonaventure.

Davis-Elkins Journeys To North Dakota.

It is early in the season for intersectional games, but Davis and Elkins of West Virginia travels to Fargo, N. Dak., to face North Dakota State in a night affair.

While tomorrow marks the general opening all over the country a few teams here and there have already begun the season while others including Notre Dame, Navy, Princeton, Harvard and Pennsylvania do not start for another week.

The South will see plenty of action with the outstanding Southern Conference teams headed by Tulane, the title holder, doing their stuff all along the line. Tulane's Greenies take on Southwestern Louisiana Institute and Tennessee opposes Maryville, to pick out two of the teams that are expected to be well up in the struggle for sectional laurels.

Just half of the "Big Ten" will play tomorrow—Indiana, Ohio State, Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota, all of whom anticipate easy going. All of the Missouri Valley "Big Six" wait until October 4 before taking off, but all seven of the Southwest Conference group swing into action and five games involving Rocky Mountain Conference elevens are booked.

Sharkey-Campolo Battle, Financial "Flop," Canceled

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—The worst fiasco in all the fight history of Madison Square Garden sloughed into a ludicrous finale today with the abandonment of the ill-fated heavyweight match between Jack Sharkey and Victorio Campolo.

Doomed to financial failure through the complete indifference of the populace from the moment the articles were signed, saddled with a guarantee of $100,000 given Sharkey when the Boston sailor threatened to bolt the Garden auspices and battle with Primo Carnera in Chicago, the match, scheduled for last night at the Yankee Stadium, ran into a rain storm and postponement.

Garden Stood Loss of $100,000.

With less than $50,000 in the box office and expenses surrounding the mill estimated at $154,000, the Garden faced a flat loss of $100,000 until the fighters added complicated demands to the situation today and brought about a grateful abandonment of the entire proceedings.

The Garden stood up to take its loss last night and announced that the bout would be staged indoors October 3. Although commission rules here call for a postponement of only one day. Weather reports indicated more rain would fall tonight and force a second postponement. Unfortunately, Campolo was not consulted before the Garden decision was announced.

Today the gawky Gaucho flatly refused to fight October 3, unless a new deal were made all around and he was given $20,000 for his services. He argued that he had accepted a guarantee of $7,500 for the bout and 15 per cent of the receipts above $200,000 in the belief the match would draw gate receipts approaching $350,000. Now that it wasn't going to do any of these things he wanted more money. He offered, however, to fight Sharkey, who had trained poorly for the fight, for no pay at all if the Boston sailor would meet him tonight.

Sharkey, apparently not averse to the abandonment, headed for home this morning, while his manager Johnny Buckley, stayed behind to wind up affairs and collect $5,000 for training expenses. Campolo made no request for expenses and seemed so piqued at the situation that he announced he would sail back to Argentina October 3 and leave the American "box-fighting" industry flat.

Biggest Flop in History Of Garden.

In all the Garden's history of outdoor promotion no other heavyweight match ever threatened to "flop" as this one did. The faithful refused to become interested in the duel of Sharkey, loser to Max Schmeling on a foul in his last match here, and Campolo, beaten here by Johnny Risko. When the rain came down on the stadium last night there was no sign of activity at the ticket offices and only a few dozen "early birds" were sheltered in the stands.

As soon as the abandonment was announced the Garden called in all tickets and began refunding the purchase price. The oldest inhabitant could not remember when that had been done here before.

Alexandria High Gridmen Beat Episcopal "B" Team

Lindsey's 8-Yard Dash in Third Quarter Decisive as Alexandrians Cop, 7 to 2; Northern Nine Plays Celtics Tomorrow.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 26.—"Chuck" Lindsey's 8-yard off-tackle dash on a cross-buck play in the 3rd quarter gave the Alexandria High school football eleven a 7-2 victory over the Episcopal High School "B" team today before a large gathering at Hoxton Field.

Episcopal scored first in the second quarter. Barnes punted to Alexandria's ten yard line, a penalty for clipping, and when Hudson, Twins' back, attempted to bring the ball out on an end run, he was tackled behind his goal line and Episcopal had a safety, 2-0. This margin they held until the third quarter.

Barnes-Barton Good Aerial Combination.

A flashy overhead attack, Barnes to Barton, for Episcopal, caused Alexandria no end of worry. These two flashy players completed six passes and in the last two minutes of competition carried the ball to Alexandria's 30 yard line, before they lost on downs.

The green Alexandria eleven headed by Capt. Jimmy Luckett, looked fairly promising in this game, and should cause lots of trouble to opposing teams before the curtain for the gridiron season falls.

STOCKS DROP FAST AS SALES ADVANCE

Index Has Lost 16 Points on Continual Slumps in Past Fortnight.

MOTORS HEAD DECLINE

New York, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—After fluttering nervously until early afternoon, the stock market went into a fresh decline in the final hour today under the impetus of large selling orders. It was the most active session since late June, for sales aggregated 3,704,500 shares, considerably above the Wednesday turnover.

Except the late weakness of wheat, there was nothing to account for the slump, which brought net losses of 1 to 3 points in a representative list of prominent stocks. Those interested in following the averages noted that the composite on 90 issues compiled by Standard Statistics Company, dropped 2.4 points, to 154.3, just three-tenths of a point above the June bottom. This is a drop of more than 16 points in two weeks.

Motor shares were acutely weak; in fact, the market slid into its worst decline soon after the break in this group occurred. There was also marked heaviness in the coppers, oils and rails. Amusements, relatively firm, the New York City tractions, a few specialtits and a number of preferred stocks afforded the only relief from the well-defined downturn.

Radio Loses Couple of Points.

The market opened lower and soon ran into an active decline that centered around Radio, which dropped a couple of points to a new low on large sales. Strength of U. S. Steel reversed the trend after the first half hour and rallying tendencies prevailed through the noon hour. Although little attempt was made to follow up the advances, acute weakness of Chrysler early in the afternoon was followed by heavy offerings of the other motor shares, and by the start of the final hour the market had broken sharply. There was enough late covering to keep a majority of closing prices off the bottom, but in the meantime the favorites had broken through their previous lows for this strenuous week of bearish activity.

Mild optimism was the tenor of the weekly trade reviews. Dun's said reports from different sections of the country "reveal a moderately better trend," although individual lines continued to disclose irregularity. The composite sentiment said the summary, was "more cheerful." Bradstreet's noted numerous cross sections in general business, but asserted that the advance of the season had in general "made for a further moderate advance in fall trade."

The bond market was strong. Prices there, it was pointed out, are fast reaching the point where yields will be so small that investment funds, based on past experience, will be forced into high grade common stocks in order to find employment. Since such a movement inevitably accompanies swings in the security price cycle, and Wall street sees no reason why the old rule should not apply this time.

Money Markets Glutted.

The glutted condition of the money markets is doubtless a bearish influence, for the enormous supply of cash seeking an outlet forcefully reflects the absence of a demand for credit.

This, however, is rather the short-term viewpoint, for a maintenance of cheap money—and the Federal Reserve apparently intends to keep it cheap—will eventually be a first aid to business when the recovery does definitely quicken.

The market is looking more and more to such old bulwarks as U. S. Steel, American Can and General Electric for leadership, and the quotations of these and other barometers are closely watched. Considerable support was evident in them for a time today, but the insistence of the selling eventually overcame the resistance. U. S. Steel, however, closed only ¼ net lower after dipping through yesterday's bottom. General Electric's net loss was 1⅜, while Can was heavier, off 3½.

The break in radio carried it down to 28 against the year's high of 69¾. Chrysler, another of the many stocks to record a new 1930 low, touched 20⅛. Baltimore & Ohio, Rock Island, Missouri Pacific and St. Louis Southwestern, among the rails, in addition to a long string of coppers, oils and specialties, reached new minimums for the year.

Chrysler Off 3 Points.

Chrysler's net loss of 3 points was accomplished in the motor group by 1 to 2-point drops in Studebaker, Nash, General Motors, Mack Trucks and Hudson. Brockway lost 5 and Auburn Auto 8.

Net declines of 1 to 3 appeared in American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Union Carbide, Canadian Pacific, Anaconda, International Harvester, North American, Radio, Gillette, Union Pacific, United Aircraft and National Cash Register. Missouri Pacific lost 4 and Allied Chemical 9¾.

Wheat's declines on the day ranged from 1½ to 2 cents, while corn saged 1¼ to 2⅝. Cotton, under the pressure of continued selling, touched the lowest prices in years and closed at new lows for the season with net losses of 55 to 95 cents a bale.

Foreign exchanges were irregularly lower. Sterling sagged.

GOVERNMENT BONDS RISE AS SALES GAIN

Group, Responding to Easier Money Rates, Scores Large Advances.

RAILS, UTILITIES STEADY

New York, Sept. 26 (A.P.)—Ordinarily the first to reflect any change in money market, U. S. Governments today responded to the buoyant effect of easier time money rates and registered good gains in a large turnover.

The strength of Governments which have lagged for some time was the feature of the day's trading in the bond market. Liberty first 4¼s and fourth, 4¼s reached new highs, at 102 11-32s and 103 11-32 respectively and Treasury 3¾s of 1943-47 duplicated its recent high mark. Further switching from Liberty 3½s to other Government issues, the result of the contemplated calling of the 3½s, was evident in the large turnover of that issue, and Liberty fourth 4¼s, and Treasury 3¾s of 1940 and 1943. Treasury issues scored the largest gains, the 4¼s and 3¾s gaining 10-32.

Foreign Group Fairly Steady

Trading was at a fast pace, the volume of business showing marked improvement over the previous session as best grade railroad and utility bonds continued strong. In the foreign list some of the German bonds were slightly reactionary but reappearance of inquiry for other obligations kept the group fairly steady.

Inquiry from institutions and individuals pushed an extensive list of domestic bonds to the best prices for the year. Among rails giving the best performance were Canadian Pacific 4½s, of 1960, Illinois Central 4s, Chicago Union Station 4½s, Delaware and Hudson 4s, Hocking Valley 4½s, Lehigh Valley Terminal 5s, Missouri Illinois 5s, New Haven 4s of 1955 and 1956, Southern Pacific Oregon 4½s, Union Pacific 4½s and 4s. Bonds of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads were among the legal issues that climbed to new high on large turnovers.

Activity of Utilities.

Among utilities there was a wide demand for Columbia Gas & Electric 5s of May 1952, Interborough Rapid Transit 5s, Manhattan Railway 4s, Montana Power 5s D, and Brooklyn Manhattan Transit 6s.

Irregular price movements took place in stock privilege issues. International Telephone 4½s sagged to a new low but closed with a small gain. Warner Brothers 6s reached a new year's low on a ¼-point drop.

Some sharp recessions developed in the industrial section where many of the bonds are affected by business conditions. Bowman Biltmore 7s, East Cuba 7½s, Shubert 6s, American Ice 5s were shading reactionary.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY GAINS 18 PER CENT

Bonds Up, but Stocks Have Dropped From Level of Similar 1929 Week.

U. S. REPORT IS ISSUED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Business activity during the week ended September 20, as measured by bank debits, outside of New York City, revealed an advance of 18 per cent over the week prior, but declined from the comparative week in 1929, the Department of Commerce summary of the business situation revealed yesterday.

Bank loans and discounts for the latest reported week recorded a slight gain over a week ago and almost reached the level of the corresponding period a year ago, while the average prices for representative stocks fell off from the level of the preceding period.

Bond prices, however, were higher, but the prices for stocks were lower than the same week last year. Interest rates for both call and time money were both lower than either comparative period. Bank loans and discounts and bond prices for the week ended September 20, showed gains compared with the week ended September 22, 1928.

Coal Output Figures Sag.

Figures compiled by the National Coal Association from preliminary car loading reports from the railroads show that the production of bituminous coal in the United States during the week ended September 20 was about 9,000,000 net tons.

The output of soft coal during the corresponding week of 1929 was 10,867,000 net tons. The last Government report showed the total tonnage produced during the week ended September 6 as 8,088,000 net tons, and during the week ended September 13 as 9,150,000 net tons.

Directors of the American Ice Co. have declared a regular quarterly dividend of 75 cents on the common stock of the company and 1½ per cent on the preferred, payable October 25, to stockholders of record October 3.

Richmond Reserve Figures.

Resources of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond at close of business September 24 were $192,908,000, according to the weekly statement of Governor George J. Seay of that institution made public yesterday.

Total reserves of the bank aggregated $96,880,000, while bills and securities amounted to $46,932,000. Deposits totaled $70,255,000.

C. D. Ratcliffe, vice president and assistant treasurer, Munsey Trust Co., is expected back Monday from his vacation at Atlantic City.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Sept. 26 (A.P.).—Print cloths were advanced ¼ of a cent a yard in some houses after large sales this week. There was moderate trading today in finished goods. Raw silk continued unsettled and low. Silk goods were in light request for late delivery, filling in lots for cutting making up a large part of the business. Wool goods were in fair request for filling in needs for fall and winter. Burlaps were slightly easier.

Raw silk futures closed weak; sales 1980 bales; December, 235; March, 235; May, 235. Open market quotations (60-day basis) Shanghai Steam Extra B 305. Canton Double Extra A, 14-16s, 165; Japanese Crack Double Extra, 275.

An application has been filed with the New York Stock Exchange to list certificates of deposit for 335,000 shares of dissenting common stock of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. without nominal or par value.

The San Francisco Curb Exchange announced the listing of Montgomery Ward & Co. today for trading beginning next Monday. The listing includes the 4,620,763 shares outstanding.

Net operating income of the Illinois Central system declined $901,862, to $1,495,577 in August while revenues were dropping $3,757,138 to total $11,914,470. For the first eight months of this year the railroad earned net income of $12,838,028, a decrease of $3,902,292. Its revenues were $101,717,791, a decrease of $17,100,438 from last year.

A moderate improvement in the commercial failure record is reported by R. G. Dun & Co. this week. The total for the week was 488, which, although well above the average for the season, is 9 less than the 497 insolvencies reported last week. The total was 60 more than reported in the corresponding week last year, compared with a rise of 137 reported last week. The Pacific Coast showed fewer failures this week than during the corresponding period of 1929. A large volume of public work proposals featured activity in the Nation's heavy construction and engineering field during the week, Construction Daily reports. The total for the period was $20,907,000 for public works, a major portion of the jobs being for projected waterworks and sewers. The total for all classes, except highways, was $46,510,000, compared with $33,930,000 in the preceding week and $166,304,000 for the corresponding week last year.

Victor Gas Co., a subsidiary of Duquesne Gas Corporation, is constructing a pipeline in Fayette County, Pa., which will enable the producing corporation to increase its sales of natural gas to the Monongahela West Penn Gas Co., with which Duquesne has a long-term gas sales contract.

Holders of Manati Sugar Co. first mortgage 7½ per cent bonds have been asked by the directors to waive the sinking fund provisions of the mortgage and to subordinate their bonds to banking credits up to $2,000,000. A letter sent by order of the directors to the bondholders states that these steps are necessary to prevent receivership and reorganization.

New low-record prices for the season have been established in the cotton futures market here during the past week under selling much of which has been attributed to increased hedging from the South. Trade interests have been buyers on scale-down orders and the market showed considerable resistance to declines during the earlier part of the week, but the selling later became a little more general with considerable near-month liquidation incident to the circulation of the first October notices. The new October contract broke to about 10.30 before the end of the week, making the lowest price that has appeared on the quotation board here for any futures contract since the autumn of 1915; the lowest price reached previously since the end of the war having been 10.45, in 1921. Buying on scale-down orders was encouraged by a definite statement that the old crop cotton held by the cotton stabilization corporation would not be marketed before the end of this season unless the price in the meantime advances to or above the purchase price.

Common Stockholders Take the Risk of Loss

Prominent Utility Executive Shows That Public Utility Holding Companies Should Be Allowed Freedom From Restrictive Legislation In Making Investments.

Why holding companies, as owners of common stock in operating utility companies, should be given the incentive to take progressive steps by being allowed freedom of action, is demonstrated by a widely known utility executive.

He makes clear why the risk of loss must be offset by the privilege of profitable investment as a necessary motive force. Regulation of the operating company, with freedom of the holding company is shown to be to the public's best interests. In proof and explanation of this he said:

"A man's resentment at a search of his house is at least as great if he is innocent of wrong-doing as it would be if he were harboring a criminal. If one were required to report his actions to a policeman at every block, his annoyance and protest would not necessarily indicate guilt.

"The fact that the electric industry is 'affected with a public interest' does not alter the situation because the holding company exists within a field completely circumscribed by state regulation. In other words, the interests of the consumer have been taken care of before a cent of revenue accrues to the holding company.

Based on Misconception

"The demand for regulation of electric light and power 'holding' companies seems to be based on a misconception of the electric industry, which in actuality is a thing in action, growing, changing, improving all the time. We have to recognize spirit, motive, incentive, initiative and enterprise as the real driving forces which give life to this industry, as they give life to all human accomplishments.

"By purchasing the common stocks of operating power companies and by continuing ownership of these securities, the holding companies make possible a progressive policy of service extensions and rate reductions.

Little Likelihood of Loss

"If the service is extended into new territories there is little likelihood that either the bondholders or preferred stockholders will be subject to loss. If rates are reduced in the expectation that consumption will thereupon increase, the investment of the bondholders and preferred stockholders is not likely to be jeopardized whether the increased consumption materializes or not.

"In either case it is the common stockholder who risks the possibility of loss. It is the industry's job not only to meet the present demand of present consumers at present prices, but also to increase the uses of electricity, to extend it to an increasing number of consumers, and to make it constantly less expensive.

"These extensions of service, reductions of rates and increases in consumption are the very keynote of the industry's growing usefulness to the nation. How are they accomplished? They are all made possible by the assumption of responsibility by the holders of the operating companies' common stocks—who in most cases are the public utility investment or 'holding' companies.

Character of Common Stock Ownership

"No element is more important to the progress of the industry than the character of the common stock ownership. The attitude and policy of the holders of the operating companies' common stock determines whether the operating company shall pursue a progressive course or simply stand still and 'let well enough alone.'

"The continuing progress of the industry is largely due to the ownership of the common stocks of operating companies by organizations which are trained and experienced in the utility business, organizations which can take risks because of their diversified investments and their experience in having met similar conditions before; which know the objectives and the method of realizing them.

"If the common stocks of these operating companies were owned by individual investors, the people who generally own the bonds or preferred stocks, they either would not meet such investors' requirements or else a policy of caution would be applied to them, and the extension of the service and reduction of rates would be retarded.

"Since the owners of the common stocks take the responsibility involved in the progressiveness of the operating companies, it is greatly to the interest of the consumer that the common stock ownership rest with such agencies as 'holding' companies.

Feels Incentive Must Be Kept Alive

"The holding company requires, for the successful performance of its function, the same freedom of action as any other business. It is that freedom that has enabled it to do the great work it has done in the development of the electric industry in this country to a preeminent position in the whole world. Without it, that development would not have taken place and future development would be materially retarded.

"Regulation of the operating company with freedom of the holding company is to the best interest of the public. The public is thus protected against monopoly, and has the advantage of the initiative and enterprise that financially strong private business brings to institutions where its money is invested." —Wall Street Journal, Aug. 14, 1930

NEWS OF LATEST HAPPENINGS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA CHAMBERS ARE SENT LETTERS

Arlington Man to Follow, Speaking in Interest of Memorial Highway.

FINANCES ARE DETAILED

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

Letters went out from the office of the Arlington County Chamber of Commerce yesterday to a number of the chambers of commerce over the State and to business organizations in those counties which have no chambers of commerce to arrange for the speaking tour of Hugh Lee Kirby, as the representative of the local chamber, who will be accompanied by representatives from the National Capital Park and Planning Commission in the interest of the Crampton bill. It was stated that arrangements are to be made for the speaking tour to cover every county in the State.

The letter in part reads:

"The object of this speaking tour is to acquaint the citizens of Virginia with the importance to Virginia of this legislation, which has appropriated $7,500,000 for the purpose of building the George Washington Memorial Highway and Park from Mount Vernon, and Fort Washington, the home of George Washington, to Great Falls, on both sides of the Potomac River.

"The Cranton bill provides that 50 per cent of the cost shal be borne by the eFderal oGvernment and 50 per cent by the States of Virginia and Maryland, or any subdivision thereof, or from individuals in the form of donations of land and money. The eFderal oGvernment, however, has provided for the total amount of cash by appropriations so that the States of Maryland and Virginia may avail themselves of the use of this money for a period of eight years without interest. It is the desire of this chamber that your body join us in a request upon oGvernor oJhn aGriand Pollard for a call of an extra session of the iVrginia legislature based upon the emergency that exists, because if this work is to be completed by February, 1932, which is the commencement of the 200th birthday which has been planned by the United States oGvernment and will continue to Thanksgiving Day, to commemorate and honor iVrginia's most illustrious son, George Washington. We must work rapidly."

Much encouragement over the progress which is being made in the office of Commonwealth's Attorney William C. Gloth in clearing title for the few remaining rights of way for the Lee boulevard and plans for condemnation proceedings found necessary for a few other sites, William S. Hoge, who for the past four years has labored with the aNtional Boulevard Association for the project, stated that he is now confident the State Highway Commission will within the next 60 days be in a position to call for bids for the construction of a 40-foot pavement extending from the western portion of the oFrt Myer military reservation to Fort Buffalo beyond Falls Church, where the boulevard will connect with the Leesbury Pike.

What appeared would become gasoline war in Arlington County and vicinity over the reduction of gasoline prices within the District of Columbia within the past two days seemed to be clearing up yesterday when it was learned from the companies distributing gasoline hoped to solve the problem in a manner satisfactory to the contract distributors in the county.

Main investigation covering a major portion of the county, is was found that the two stations handling Shell gasoline, have reduced prices to the same level existing in the District of Columbia and one contract station handling Standard Oil products has followed suit.

Discussing the question with officials of the American and Standard Oil Companies it was explained that the companies are distributing gasoline in Maryland, where the gasoline tax is 4½ cents. In Virginia it is five cents. They felt that within the next day or two a satisfactory arrangement would be reached whereby the matter can be taken care of. It was pointed out that the companies are now taking care of two cents of the tax and to take core of the entire amount would prove a great hardship, but if there appeared only a difference of one cent ni the price that the Virginia motorist would still buy his gasoline and oil at home.

Eliza Moore, colored, is in theEmergency Hospital, Washington, as the result of serious burns about the body received when an oil stove in an outbuilding used for washing at her home at Fort Berry, Arlington County, exploded destroying the building yesterday.

The injure dwoman was rushed to the hospital by members of the Ballston fire department. Other companies responding were Arlington and the East Arlington colored department. The damage was said to be about $300.

At a meeting last night at the home of Henry T. Batch, Clarendon, delegates were chosen to attend the annual State convention of the Holy Name Society of the Richmond diocese from the local society of St. Charles Catholic Church at Clarendon. They are: The Rev. J. A. Curran, the Rev. Thomas J. Healy, Henry T. Batch, Joseph L. Dugan, Thomas J. Crack, B. F. Toulotte, and J. F. Cavanaugh, jr. The convention will open in the Cathedral at Richmond tomorrow morning with Mass at 8:30 o'clock. The group from Clarendon will be accompanied by their families and a large number from the church. They will leave in automobiles at an early hour tomorrow morning for Richmond.

Services at St. George's Episcopal Church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock will be conducted by the rector, the Rev. Henry J. Miller. His subject will be, "Extended Horizons." There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion tomorrow morning at 7:30 o'clock.

On Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, the Parish will be represented at the Piedmont convention, to be held at St. Pauls Episcopal Church at Alexandria by the Senior Warden, Maj. D. H. Rhodes.

Morning and evening services at the Ballston Baptist Church tomorrow will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. T. O. Jones. The morning service will celebrate the first anniversary of the organization of the church. The sermon will be preached by the Rev. Wirt Trainham, of Marshall, Va.

In the evening the members of the Ballston Klan, No. 6, of the Ku Klux Klan will attend the services in a body.

The ereorganization of the Murphy & Ames Lumber Co., located at Rosslyn, was perfected at a meeting held yesterday with the election of N. P. Ames president. Other officers are: H. P. Ames, vice president; William P. Ames, secretary-treasurer and general manager, and R. V. Hannah, manager of the Falls Church branch.

The election resulted from the resignations of G. A. Rucker, vice president, and W. W. Rucker, manager of the Falls Church branch, effective October 10, when they take over the plant of the George Tador Lumber Co. at Rosslyn, which they recently purchased.

Parley Is Halted In Danville Row

Mill Head's Absence From City Is Stumbling Block to Conciliations.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., Sept. 26.—The reported absence from the city of H. R. Fitzgerald, president of the Riverside and Dan River cotton mills, today partly explained why conciliation procedure in the textile strike situation is virtually at a standstill. A report from Charlottesville was to the effect that Mr. Fitzgerald was in that city at the bedside of his wife, who was reported ill. This development removed prospects of immediate negotiations between the mill head and the Federal and State conciliators seeking to avert a threatened strike.

Plans were being made today for a mass meeting of union mill workers tomorrow night at which, it is reported, a proposal calling for a walk-out next Monday will be presented for action. Conciliators admitted they were faced with a new problem in seeking to avert or delay such a step. The plan is for conciliators to appear at the mass meeting and urge the members to defer such action to give more time to reconcile both sides.

The conciliators will plead, if such a proposal is offered, that they had not had an opportunity to approach the mill head, since he is out of the city.

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 26.—Mrs. Hilda Bruchey, 18 years old, was accidentally shot by her husband at their home on Bentz street last night. Bruchey took the weapon, a .32-calibre pistol, from a bureau drawer, and while attempting to remove the cylinder a cartridge exploded, the bullet taking effect in his wife's hip.

A physician was summoned and the woman was removed to the City Hospital, where surgeons failed to locate the ball. In a statement both Mr. and Mrs. Bruchey declared that the shooting was accidental. Physicians said that she will recover.

She is survived by her husband, C. H. Gill, and her niece, Mrs. Williams of this city.

FIGHT OVER MATCHES SENDS TWO TO JAIL

Prince Georges County Pair Sentenced in Assault on Merchant.

ARE GIVEN HEAVY TERMS

Two colored men, convicted on charges of assaulting a white man in a fight over a penny box of matches, were given heavy jail sentences by Judge J. Chew Sheriff yesterday in Marlboro Police Court. One of the men was sentenced to two years and the other to serve eighteen months.

The prisoners, Ray Dent, colored, and Mason Hawkins, colored, both of T. B., Md., were convicted of attacking Richard Earnshaw, a storekeeper of T. B. Evidence showed that the pair cursed Earnshaw when he refused to give them the matches, and attacked him when he started to go into his store after ordering them from the premises. It was alleged that Dent held the man's arms, while Hawkins struck him in the face several times with his fist.

Earnshaw exhibited a badly battered face, with cuts which had taken nearly a dozen stitches to close. Dent was locked up by Sheriff Charles Early shortly after the fight, while Hawkins was captured by a ruse engineered by Lieut. A. W. Hepburn.

A petition for absolute divorce was filed yesterday in the Circuit Court at Upper Marlboro by Mrs. Helen A. Halloran, of Hyattsville. In her statement the woman says that she was married to Matthew V. Halloran in 1921, but that he deserted her three years ago. She asks the custody of the one child of the marriage, a son, Matthew V. Halloran, jr. The address of the husband is also given as Hyattsville.

After their marriage, the couple lived in Washington at 2514 Q street northwest for several years.

James H. Allen and his wife, Mrs. Edna Allen, yesterday petitioned the circuit court at Upper Marlboro to be allowed to adopt an infant boy which has been in their custody since April 15, 1930. The mother of the child filed an additional petition, assuring the court of her agreement to the adoption. The motion also requested that the name of Allen be bestowed on the child if the foster parents were allowed legal custody of it. The Allens have had the child since two days after its birth.

The successor of Walter J. Quick, jr., in the post of district forester for the Western Shore of Maryland, was announced yesterday. Mr. Quick has been promoted to assistant forester in charge of fire prevention in the State.

The new district forester is C. F. Winslow, who occupies a similar post in Tennessee. Mr. Winslow is a native of Baltimore, and was educated in St. John's College, Annapolis, and Yale University. He has engaged in forestry work in New England as well as Tennessee.

Candidates to be supported by the newly-formed Taxpayers League of Prince Georges County probably will be chosen at a meeting of the group to be held October 1. It is likely that any candidates not chosen at this gathering will be selected at the meeting on October 8, when the association will meet with the Municipal Officers Association, and answers to the questionnaires sent out by the latter unit will have been returned.

Winners of awards which were given in connection with a drawing held by the Marlboro Volunteer Fire Department at its annual carnival were announced last night. Anthony Nimmerichter, Marlboro butcher and Brandywine resident, won the first prize of $10.

Justice of the Peace Harry I. Anderson, of Centerville, was awarded the second prize of $5.

Prompt action by the Marlboro Volunteer Fire Department yesterday probably saved the warehouse of the Marlboro Implement Co. A truck belonging to the company caught fire in the shed, but the fire was extinguished before any appreciable damage was caused.

Commission Approves State Almshouse Plan

Special to The Washington Post.

Frederick, Md., Sept. 26.—At a meeting here of the Maryland State Almshouse Commission it was decided to ask the next legislature, which meets in January, to establish two State institutions, one on the Eastern and the other on the Western shore. The commission was appointed by Gov. Ritchie for the purpose of providing means to better care for the poor and insane.

Dr. Frank O. Miller, of Ellicott City, chairman, presided and Miss Livinia Engle, Chevy Chase, Md., made the principal address. She approved of the State institutions in place of county almshouses. The State Nurses' Association requested that if State institutions be built, they include infirmaries for the care of the sick. Eight or ten counties of Maryland were represented at the conference.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

LUELLA, back from the Union Station, where she had seen a friend depart, grew sentimental.

"Just think," she said, "we are here today and gone tomorrow."

"Your friend went today, didn't she?"

"Here today and gone tomorrow," repeated Luella, the gleam of inspiration in her eyes.

"Did you make that up, or had you heard it somewhere?" I asked.

"It just came to me," she confessed, "while I was at the station. I got to thinking. Here we are together one minute, and the next we are separated. Life is like that. In other words, we are here today and gone tomorrow."

* * * *

HOW true. So Luella, in her naive way, has coined a new expression.

"How does it feel," I asked her, "to be able to wrench such terse phrases from the old brain-pan——"

"The brain-pan? Whatta you mean, the brain-pan?"

"Haven't you ever heard of the brain-pan?"

She laughed. "I've heard of frying pans, and—and—"

"——and you never heard of the brain-pan?"

She chuckled. "You're kidding me. What would the brain need a pan for?"

She had me there. Lots of things cannot be explained, especially the brain-pan.

"It is marvellous, isn't it?" breathed Luella, "to be able to think——"

"Is it?"

* * * *

"AND, then, the joy we get thinking of people who are away—like my friend who just left. I can see her now, plain as day——"

"Good thing you did it, tell her that."

"What?"

"That's she's plain as day——"

"I didn't say she was plain as day, I said I can see her as plain as day."

"If you can see her, then she really hasn't gone away!"

"No, not exactly——"

"Then she's here——"

"No, she's gone——"

"Which——?"

Luella was rattled. "All I know," she said, "is that I saw her get on the train—and I wish I had gone with her."

Poor Luella.

MINISTERS ENTER SUNDAY FILM WAR

Commend Mayor of Martinsburg for Opposing Proposed Sabbath Theater.

RED MEN BACK FIGHT

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 26.—An appeal to the citizenry of Martinsburg to back the stand of Mayor C. H. Dailey in his warning that he will enforce the law against the projected Sunday moving picture program inauguration, set for this Sunday, was issued today in a statement from the Ministerial Association here through a committee which had been named by the association of the ministers.

Mayor Dailey yesterday publicly announced he considered the Sunday movie plan a violation of the city ordinance banning laboring on the Sabbath day at gainful occupations, except where such labor was necessary, and would enforce the statute that provides a fine and imprisonment.

The theater management, in reply, said it was prepared for any contingency. It was indicated the theater would appeal the matter to circuit court after the first arrest, in order to test the law.

The ministerial association's resolution, made public today, said:

"Notice has been brought to our attention that Manager H. A. Doman, of the Apollo Theater, proposes to carry out his plans, previously announced, for the holding of motion pictures on Sunday in our city in obvious violation of the law of the city.

"We earnestly commend Mayor Dailey on the stand he has taken to enforce the ordinance of the city to the full extent. We believe that the churches of the city are solidly back of him in his determination to enforce the law and will cooperate with him and his officials in their efforts to uphold the dignity of the law against all who, for commercial reasons, would openly and flagrantly flaunt it. Furthermore, we call upon all our people who have at heart the moral welfare of our community to loyally support the mayor in his efforts to maintain the best traditions of the American Sabbath, which has always been one of the pillars of our citizenship."

S. R. Diehl, A. M. Gluck and R. N. Young, committee for Lodge No. 50, Order of Red Men, at a meeting here last night, also recorded itself formally against Sunday movies. Its position was announced publicly later.

Store Holdup Reported.

Allen Oliver, colored, store owner at 1100 Fourth street northwest, told police he was held up and his cash register robbed about 10 o'clock yesterday morning when two colored men entered the store and told him to "hand everything over." Police from the Second Precinct are investigating.

HAMMER, DEMOCRAT IN HOUSE, EXPIRES

North Carolina Member of District Committee Is Victim of Stroke.

ATTENDED STEDMAN RITE

Representative William C. Hammer (Democrat), of North Carolina, died at his home in Asheboro yesterday, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Long a member of the House committee on the District of Columbia, Representative Hammer had helped shape much important legislation.

He is the second member of the District committee to die during the recess, the other being Representative Florian Lampert (Republican), of Wisconsin, who was killed in an automobile crash.

Attended Stedman Rites

Representative Hammer likewise is the second North Carolina member of Congress to die during the recess, his death following that of the venerable Representative Charles Manly Stedman by three days. Twenty four hours before, he had attended the funeral of Representative Stedman.

Representative Hammer, who had served five terms, had been renominated for a sixth, and was virtually assured of reelection.

Physicians said that Representative Hammer died after a heart attack. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Asheboro Methodist Protestant Church.

Born in Randolph County.

Representative Hammer was born in Randolph County, N. C., March 24, 1865, and was educated at Western Maryland College and the University of North Carolina. He was admitted to the bar in 1891. Before coming to the House in 1920, he held several local offices, including those of solicitor and United States attorney.

In 1893 Mr. Hammer married Minnie Lee Hancock, who, together with a daughter, Mrs. Harriet Hammer Walker, and two grandchildren, survives him.

Mrs. Walker was associated with her father in editing the Asheboro Courier, which Mr. Hammer owned.

In the pistol duel that followed he was shot through the stomach, death resulting before he could be brought to a hospital.

J. Allen Hall, colored, was arrested and held for a preliminary hearing tomorrow. The other person involved, a white man known only as "Mule," escaped. He is said to be from Virginia.

TINY GOLF COURSES WILL CLOSE AT 11:30

District Commissioners Say Game Comes Within the Amusement Law.

CHANGE ONCE DECIDED

The District Commissioners changed their minds again yesterday about the matter of closing miniature golf courses.

Tom Thumb golf courses, Madame Putting greens, or whatever they may be called, are just plain public amusements, and if they can't make money and close at 11:30 o'clock at night then that is just too bad for the owners, the Commissioners decided.

The association of owners of miniature golf courses in the District recently sought to have the Commissioners change police regulations requiring closing of public amusements at 11:30 o'clock. They made such a good argument that the Commissioners decided that they would amend the closing hour regulations for miniature golf courses. Then Daniel E. Garges, secretary of the board, discovered that the wording of the amendment did not provide for an earlier closing hour on Sunday and the order was withdrawn.

Yesterday Mr. Garges announced that the Commissioners had decided not to extend the closing limit for the putting greens and the owners thereof probably will be saddened because they testified at a hearing before the Commissioners that they made most of their money late at night.

Virginia Farmer Dies Of Self-Inflicted Wound

Special to The Washington Post.

Fredericksburg, Va., Sept. 26.—J. D. Bowen, 66, a Westmoreland County farmer, who shot himself in the head with a pistol in his home near Peeds, Wednesday, died in the local hospital here as a result of the wound. Despondency over crop failures and the loss by fire of a barn containing farming implements, hay and livestock more than a year ago, were believed responsible for the suicide.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Ernestine Bowen, three daughters and two sons. Funeral services will be conducted from Effess Church, Westmoreland County, Saturday at 2 p. m., with interment in the church yard.

The exercises will be in charge of the Right Rev. Andrew J. Brennon, Bishop of Richmond, and Father Leo Gill, also of Richmond, will be master of ceremonies.

Martinsburg Road Bids All Rejected

Citizens Had Protested Against New Work on Good Stretch.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 26.—All bids for the stone-basing, widening and retreading of the 15-mile stretch of State road between this city and Charles Town were rejected in Charlestqn Wednesday when the bids were opened, as advertised.

The State Road Commission sat in special session here ten days ago to hear protests from taxpayers and organizations in the two counties affected who contended the road was satisfactory now and that any construction funds should be spent on roads through territory not now traversed by State-built and maintained roads. The commission made no announcement when the bids were rejected.

A communication from the commission to local leaders in the protest said the commission was contemplating approximately 20 miles of additional road for improvement shortly, the road to connect the Northwestern Grade, running from Winchester, Va., to Romney, W. Va., and passing through Gerardstown, Inwood, Middleway and Charles Town, most of it in territory untraversed by a State road. Decision on this project, the information said, hinged upon whether Virginia could be induced to improve a short stretch which would tie into the West Virginia road.

Infantry on March Visits Winchester

Troops Inspect Battlefields of Civil War During Their Stay.

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., Sept. 26.—Several companies of the Thirty-fourth United States Infantry, which has been on a motorized march from Fort Eustis, Va., since September 17, arrived here today from Gettysburg, Pa., Carlisle, Pa., and Martinsburg, W. Va., and spent the day studying the battlefields in and around Winchester for which Federal and Confederate armies contended in the Civil War.

Other objects of interest to the modern soldier were stone fences dividing estates and fields, which were used as fortifications by Northern and Southern armies. The outfit was welcomed officially by Mayor F. A. Shryock, Charles P. McVicar and Andrew Bell, president and secretary, respectively, of the Chamber of Commerce, and Mr. Dettra, city manager.

The soldiers are making their "march" in 75 motor vehicles, including trucks and touring cars, and officers said the motorized equipment was being used for experimental purposes in the movement of infantry troops, and that a report on the observations will be made to the War Department.

Pair Saws Bars And Escapes Jail

Officers in Martinsburg Believe That Instruments Were Smuggled.

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 26.—Clifford Coombs, Mineral County, W. Va., a Federal prisoner, and Joseph Cannon, local youth held on robbery charges, sawed their way to liberty from the local jail some time last night. They had not been recaptured. The men escaped through a half window, barred front and back with three bars on either wall. They sawed their way through these bars with hack saws apparently smuggled to them and squeezed through the small opening.

The cell from which they fled was next to that in which Taylor Hott, this city, self-confessed slayer of three of his children, and Dorsey Lamb, of the county, held for the murder of Lorenz Marino, near here, two weeks ago, were confined. They denied hearing any suspicious noises from the adjoining cell, although jail officials insist the sawing must have been in progress some days. Hott and Lamb were moved after the escape to a steel cell in the center of the jail.

Coombs was being held here pending removal to Elkins for trial on robbery charges and Cannon was one of several youths arrested for a series of robberies.

Petersburg Fair Opens October 6

Children Will Be Admitted Free During First Day of Annual Event.

Special to The Washington Post.

Petersburg, Va., Sept. 26.—The Petersburg Fair will open Monday, October 6, and will continue for one week.

While, on account of the recent drought, the farm exhibits will not be as large and varied as those of the fairs of previous years there will be a good exhibit of them each night during the exposition. There will be a big display of fireworks each day.

The first day of the fair has been set aside as children's day, when all children will be admitted to the grounds free of charge after 5 p. m.

The fair of Nottoway County will be held at Crewe and will open on October 1 and will continue through October 4. While the farm products to be exhibited will be diminished on account of the drought, the home demonstrations department and the 4-4 Clubs' exhibits will be larger than ever before. Probably the greatest single entry this year will be found in the poultry department, in which over 300 entries have already been made.

ALEXANDRIA COUNCIL SETTLES GAS SALE

Problem of Unpaid Bill Is to Be Taken Up at Date of Transfer.

PETITION FAILS TO PASS

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

City council yesterday afternoon held a lengthy session, considering two matters that had been deferred from a regular meeting to a special called meeting Thursday. The city attorney was not present and the meeting adjourned until yesterday, as both questions were matters that required the presence of the city attorney.

The first, authorizing sale of the city gas plant to the Seaboard Investment Trust, carrying with it the contract of sale, was passed after discussion on many points and explanations to clarify given by the representatives of the Seaboard Co., C. C. Carlin and Mr. Judd. The date of sale is to be effective October 1, and the city attorney, city manager and representatives of the purchasing company will arrive at a solution of the problem of unpaid bills on that date.

Councilman T. J. Fannon presented a letter and resolution to council, which was lost for want of a second. The letter follows:

"The Honorable City Council.

"Gentlemen:

"Before signing the contract for the sale of the gas plant I feel that we are not privileged either legally or morally to use one-eighth of the money we get from the sale of the plant, and hope it will be the pleasure of the council to use every dollar received from the sale to pay off the bonded indebtedness of the city, which will eventually help reduce taxes. The new form of government has done many splendid improvements to streets and public buildings and can continue doing so with the revenues that accrue in the regular course. In view of the above, be it therefore resolved, that every dollar received from the sale of the gas plant be used in the payment of the bonded indebtedness of this city, which plan will eventually help reduce taxes and put the city in a better financial status.

"T. J. FANNON,
"Councilman."

The plan adopted by council at a recent meeting was that in the event of the passage of the ordinance permitting the sale of the gas plant for $750,000, seven-eighths would be used in reducing the city's indebtedness and the one-eighth used to establish a reserve fund to use from time to time when awaiting tax collections, and repay as the money from city taxes comes in. At present the city borrows the money from the banks to meet the deficit between collections.

Attorney Gardner L. Boothe presented a petition that the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey be permitted the use of the full lot at the southwest corner of Washington and Wilkes streets for a gas station, as council some months ago had given the owner, Mrs. Agnes Cael, permission to establish a gas filling station at that place, but further papers filed with the petition had specified 58 feet on Washington street, and the full depth, 123 feet on Wilkes street. The oil company had purchased the property not understanding this restriction, and wanted the use of the full 124 feet on Washington street. Mrs. Cael had lifted the trust on the property, and now realizing that the full use of the Washington street frontage was not allowed in the petition granted previously, the sale was held up, causing a complication to all concerned, and council was asked to pass a new resolution, superseding the old, and allowing the full use of the Washington street frontage, on a part of which now stands a substantial frame residence.

After lengthy discussion council voted to refer the matter to the zoning commission, as this commission was appointed by Judge W. P. Woolls to consider just such cases, where the street is partly residential and partly business. Mr. Boothe stated that if further delay was caused, he had as well withdraw the petition asking the use of the entire lot, and Mayor Pierce stated that as the zoning commission had been established, council could not ignore it, and the resolution of Mr. Boothe would not be given consideration until a report was procured from that commission.

The first meeting of the recently appointed northern Virginia advisory committee of the American Automobile Association, of which State Senator Frank L. Ball is chairman, will be held in the George Mason Hotel at 12:30 p. m., October 3. Tentative plans for the work of the committee will, it is understood, be mapped out at this meeting, at which time luncheon will be served.

The committee is formed of members from Alexandria, Arlington and Fairfax Counties, the Alexandria members being Michael T. Dwyer, Dr. H. A. Latane, L. H. Dudley and Charles M. Shepperson.

Visiting ministers will be heard at both morning and evening services in the Washington Street Methodist Episcopal Church South tomorrow, when the Baltimore annual conference will be held, the Rev. Dr. D. L. Snyder, pastor, presiding at both services.

In the morning the Rev. Dr. Samuel C. Hatcher secretary and treasurer of Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va., will preach, and in the evening the Rev. Dr Charles D. Bulla, pastor here from 1906 to 1910, will preach.

Wesley B. Harding, 18 years old, one of three young men arrested in Washington Thursday in connection with the investigation by police of the robbery of the Rexall drug store in Potomac, has been brought here from Washington and was arraigned in police court yesterday, his case being set for a hearing Tuesday morning. Harding gave bond of $1,000 for his appearance.

Two other suspects arrested with Harding are still being held by the Washington police for investigation.

Approximately 40 poles, the property of the Virginia Public Service Co., which were stored at Henry and Montgomery streets, caught fire from a grass blaze and were practically destroyed yesterday. The poles were valued at $13 each.

The fire, which was extinguished by Companies Nos. 1 and 5, attracted a large crowd.

Dr. W. Lewis Schaeffer, city health officer, reports that of 28 persons examined at the chest clinic held in the city health office Wednesday and Thursday, thirteen were found to be tubercular. The examinations were conducted by Dr. H. A. Latane and Dr. Llewellyn Powell. Of those appearing for examination, eighteen were white and ten colored.
